Adult-oriented music scoring for Polydor

Polydor Records reports a record of continuing successes with sales and airplay in the Adult-oriented field. Having discovered the potential of this product, which generally costs relatively little and turns over easily, the company has embarked on an aggressive, successful Adult-oriented marketing campaign. They feel that it appeals to a wide demographic scope, a set of buying consumers which is often largely ignored, and that with a selective release policy, the company can meet the needs of the market.

Over the last two years, Polydor has released 25 Adult-oriented albums, and reports 80 percent have generated considerable profit, led by a bouzouki recording by artist Roberto Delgado. The album, which originated in Germany, has sold 30,000 units there, 15,000 units in Britain's relatively strong Adult-oriented market, and was never released in the U.S. In Canada, sales report 97,000 units, with platinum expected within a few weeks.

Polydor reports this is not an isolated case. Another major Adult-oriented success was the release last August of a compilation album by the Fischer Choir. The album, titled The Sensational Fischer Choir, was promoted extensively with in-store displays and Adult-oriented radio station promotions. The album currently reports 45,000 unit sales, 5,000 short of gold status. A second release by the group, titled From The Fischer Choir With Love, was released recently with very encouraging results. Over its first two weeks, the album topped Polydor Canada's sales lists with 15,000 units moved, beating out such names as Bachman-Turner Overdrive and the Bee Gees over that period.

Polydor's Lori Bruner reports: "When Polydor Canada began ten years ago, one of its cornerstones was the tremendous James Last catalogue. Founded on Adult-oriented sales, this tradition was continued and strengthened over the years. Today, Adult-oriented releases from such artists as Last, Delgado, Max Greger, Bert Kaempfert, the Fischer Choir and others are eagerly anticipated by retailers and consumers, and represent one of the few stable elements in an industry known for its short memory and fluctuating turnover."

Rejection recommended on Muntz payment offer

Burlington-based sound equipment distributor Muntz Canada Ltd., which was placed in receivership last April, has made a proposal offering full payment of debts to its unsecured creditors over a four-year term. However, the trustee under the proposal, Hamilton chartered accountant W.J. Heaton has recommended to the creditors that the proposal be rejected.

Heaton stated in a letter to the creditors that Muntz "will be unable to meet the terms of the proposal or carry on as a going concern. Accordingly, I will be recommending at the meeting of creditors that the proposal lodged with me by Muntz Canada Ltd. be rejected." If the proposal is rejected at the June 15 meeting, the company is deemed to have made an assignment in bankruptcy.

According to Heaton, arrangements have already been made to sell the company's assets, trademarks and leases, but that the proceeds will likely be insufficient to pay secured creditors in full. With total debts reported to be roughly seven million dollars, unsecured claims amounting to 3.16 million dollars to 400 creditors would not be repaid at all if secured and preferred creditors are not paid in full. This would wipe out the investment of shareholders.

Muntz Canada is listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange. The last trade, made in March, was at 20 cents.

Muntz supplies home and automobile sound equipment to roughly 180 retailers, including seven company-owned retail outlets and 45 franchise stores.

Anthem's Foot makes changes

Anthem Records' A Foot In Coldwater are turning over a new leaf with their first album on the new label, Breaking Through. After years as a five-man group, Foot has become four with a heavier sound that has given the members a boost in morale. Produced by the members of the band, Paul Naumann (guitar), Alex Machin (vocals), Hughie Leggat (bass), and Danny Taylor (drums), the album promises a departure from their earlier work, and an emergence into a more guitar dominated sound.

The new Foot sound began a year ago when keyboardist Bob Horne left the band. A decision had to be made concerning their future. The boys turned down various offers to leave the unit and play with other more established musicians and instead retreated to two months of pondering, creating, and rehearsing. What they emerged with was a sound that would see guitarist Naumann playing a more dominant role musically.

Although somewhat reluctant of management agencies, the band signed with SRO Productions. Next stop was their signing with newly formed Anthem Records and a recording studio, Sounds Interchange.

The band recently played the Forum at Ontario Place for 11,000 fans, some of whom stormed the stage and caused $1,200 damage to Foot's assembly. With audience reaction such as this, Anthem's release of A Foot In Coldwater's Breaking Through album could see the band finally breaking through.

Anthem is distributed by Polydor.

Order of Canada to Louis Applebaum

Conductor, Composer, and administrator Louis Applebaum has been appointed an Officer of The Order of Canada. Applebaum's long list of achievements is too numerous to do judgement to as he has simply covered all aspects of the music entertainment world. Presently, however, he holds the post of Executive Director of the Province of Ontario Council for the Arts.

As Applebaum received the Order, he was met with a contingent of friends and business associates along with the Canadian Brass. Somewhat taken back by pleasant surprise he said, "Speechlessness isn't one of my normal states but this is one time I'm caught without a ready word. Memorable is a very apt word for the Investiture in Ottawa; this Friday morning is overwhelming."

Patsy Gallant product to be released in U.K.

Attic Records reports that product by Juno Award Winner Patsy Gallant will be distributed in the U.K. through EMI. Her single From New York To L.A. will be released in Britain shortly as will her album Are You Ready For Love as a result of negotiations between EMI and Attic Records, Gallant's label.

Future plans for the singer include appearances on various CBC summer shows as well as a Toronto concert appearance in August. A new album will be recorded during the summer after which she embarks on a cross-Canada tour for the fall. Presently, Attic are releasing a disco-oriented remix of Sugar Daddy, from Gallant's album, as a single.

New posts for RCA's Belair, Feeney, Haugen

Andy Nagy, operations manager for central and eastern regions at RCA Canada, has announced three new appointments within the company.

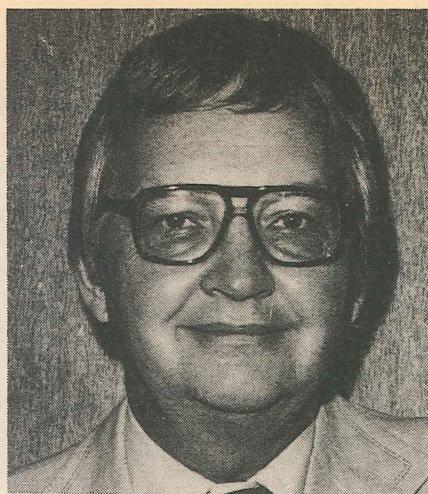

Roger Belair, a veteran of 17 years with RCA, has been appointed manager of pop and contemporary A&R. In this position, his main responsibilities will be negotiating artist and producer agreements and evaluating production projects. He will be operating regularly from Toronto and Montreal. One of his first duties will be to represent the company with the CRIA Pavilion's talent and entertainment committee.

His experience with RCA encompasses the areas of recording engineering, merchandising, production and studio management, in addition to A&R. He has been instrumental in the development of disco product out of the Quebec region, and has created a disco market which is crossing over into the pop field and expanding into international markets. He has also been directly involved with establishing names such as Roger Whittaker and Vicky Leandros in Canada.

Nagy also announced the appointment of Jack Feeney to head English language country A&R. Feeney, who also retains his position in charge of RCA's publishing wing Sunbury/Dunbar, will operate from the company's offices in Don Mills, Ontario.

Feeney has been with RCA Canada for 25 years. His experience includes the creative field, in addition to sales, promotion, publishing and classical and jazz.

Barry Haugen has been named to the newly created position of manager of country artist relations and country promotion on a national level. His responsibilities are the co-ordination of all promotional and touring activities nationally, involving all of RCA's Canadian and U.S. country artists. He will be keeping all branches informed of touring artists, displays, product releases, chart activity and all other matters of concern to the field of promotion.

Haugen has been with RCA for ten years. In that time, he has been involved in sales and promotion, A&R, and the creative end of sales and promotional aids, all within the country field. He was instrumental in the signing with RCA of such names as Carroll Baker, Ronnie Prophet and the Good Brothers.

Wizard makes giant strides into jingle market

If you were guessing who that voice belonged to on the Royal Bank radio and TV commercials - you were probably wrong. It's not a well-known recording artist, although he has all the vocal attraction to be one - it belongs to one of the partners of Wizard Productions, Roland Parliament.

President and Creative Director of Wizard, Parliament has, in the disc jargon, paid his dues. In fact, he brings more than sixteen years of music experience to the jingle business. A graduate of Ryerson, he won the Don Hudson Award for Outstanding Creativity, but shucked the good life for the group scene and toured the U.S. and Canada with his own seven piece band, Brandy. He finally decided to get in on the background scene and parlayed his new thinking into the Vice-Presidency of Janus International Communications which gave him an invaluable insight into the creative end of the business resulting in him forming his own Wizard Productions.

Producer/composer Don Tripe is another executive member of the winning Wizard team. Holder of Honours English at the University of Colorado and Honours Music at the University of Western Ontario (London), Tripe is already a recognized talent on both sides of the U.S. Canada border. Last year he was a finalist in the Professional Division of the American Song Festival and his writing talents were obvious in Wizards' tribute to the U.S. Bicentennial, America. He just recently completed the entire musical score for poet Terry Rowe's new album, To You With Love.

Anchor man at the Wizard shop is the highly respected arranger/conductor Milan Kymlicka who, among many credits, holds a Doctorate in Music from the Academy of Musical Arts in Prague.

Although highly qualified as an expert in the music field, when Kymlicka emigrated to Canada from his native Czechoslovakia he had to endure many hardships and menial jobs, outside the industry. It was several years before he was accepted as an arranger and one of the first Canadian artists he worked with was Peter Foldy which led to many other label associations.

Regarded as specialists in sound the Wizard trio have developed their unique entity into one of the most successful and lucrative commercial endeavours in Canada. Their status in the jingle business hasn't been overlooked by the Federal Government either. They were commissioned by the Secretary of State's office to come up with a suitable radio and TV commercial project to help celebrate this year's Canada Day (July 1). Their handiwork will be hitting the airwaves by mid-June and from it will come a record to be distributed through the Secretary of State's office.

Music critics are best judges of Canadian talent

In My Opinion is your opportunity to sound off on what gripes or pleases you about the industry. It is open to comments, viewpoints and opinion by our writers and interested parties from the recording and broadcasting industries. If used, we'll pay you $50 for your opinion (200 to 300 words or more). Send your copy to: In My Opinion, RPM Magazine, 6 Brentcliffe Road, Toronto M4G 3Y2. Deadline for submission - Tuesdays at noon.

During this year's ACTRA Awards, one of Canada's leading journalists stopped me to criticize the Juno Awards. He made a remark which has stuck in my brain since that day. "The Juno Awards are based on sales and commercial success. They should be judged on their artistic merit like the ACTRA Awards are."

What he didn't say was that as a judge of the ACTRA's, he was able to participate in the awards. This is very important.

More recently someone mentioned the lack of coverage recording artists receive in

"... the prophets of doom, the messengers of mediocrity, will be overwhelmed by the new generation of competent, creative, confident artisans and by all those of preceding generations who have already demonstrated their freshness of mind, their talent and their capacity for inspired leadership."

the dailies and the other establishment press. The two conversations came together in my mind, and it became obvious that the music critics of the print media in Canada should be involved in an awards system based on artistic ability and that newspapers across Canada should participate on a yearly basis in choosing the top Canadian artists and creative people for a poll that could be published from coast to coast by all the participants in the poll.

This couldn't do anything but promote the industry and bring forth a greater interest in Canadian artists and the Canadian music industry.

Whether it is done today or next year or the year after, it will have to come into being eventually. This would be a poll that is uniquely different from the Juno Awards and would be handled completely by the music critics, representing the print media.

With the success of the Junos, it is inevitable that this must happen and the time is ripe.

The interest in Cancon grows each year and with it new ideas and from this, new concepts will emerge.

Is the industry ready for all that press promotion of the Canadian music industry? Yes and every attempt should be made for this project to be organized. Press participation in the industry should be the prime goal of the industry.

Who would know better who the best artists and craftsmen in the Canadian industry are than the writers whose job it is to daily look at recorded talent and make a judgement.

The industry doesn't stand still. It moves quickly and a great deal can be benefited by all concerned if the industry works together to bring the daily media into our business and give them the respect they deserve.

How it can be done and who will do it is another matter which will probably take care of itself.

Aussie gold for GRT's Klaatu

Album 3:47 EST by GRT recording group Klaatu, still rumoured to be the Beatles, has been achieving strong sales figures in countries throughout the world. Leading the list of countries is Australia, where the album has recently achieved gold status. In addition, the album is receiving strong sales

GRT's Dan Hill begins third LP at Manta

GRT recording artist Dan Hill has begun work on his third GRT album at Toronto's Manta Sound with producers Matthew McCauley and Fred Mollin, who produced Hill's first two albums. Bernie Fiedler of management firm Finkelstein-Fiedler feels that the material is Hill's strongest to date.

Involved in the sessions are Nashville drummer Larry Londin, whose credits include Stevie Wonder and Elvis Presley, guitarist Don Potter, who has been touring with Hill and has also worked with Chuck Mangione, fiddler/mandolinist Ben Mink of Murray McLauchlan's band, the Silver Tractors, and bassist Robert Boucher, who co-produced and played on Neil Diamond's Beautiful Noise album and recently toured Canada with Bruce Cockburn.

Hill's two previous GRT albums, Dan Hill and Hold On, are both gold in Canada.

Fiedler also reports a number of outdoor dates for Hill through the summer, including the Ontario Place Forum June 29, the Cayuga Speedway Park Festival July 2, and Thunder Bay's Mid-Canada Summer Festival (9).

reports in Sweden, moving 1,600 units in its first two weeks (gold is 15,000), Germany, with over 40,000 unit sales, and Brazil. Release is slated for Japan within a month.

In North America, sales reports are also strong on the album. GRT reports it expects the album to be gold within three weeks, and is beginning to break big. In the U.S., where the rumours began, sales are also very heavy, with additional expectations for gold.

The album, which qualifies as Canadian content, is released in Canada on the GRT-distributed Daffodil label, and is distributed worldwide by Capitol Records and the EMI group.

On the home front, GRT reports the album is rated number two in Hamilton, and number seven with CHUM. Hamilton's CKOC set up a booth at the recently held Optimistic Bike-a-thon and report the Klaatu two-sided single, Calling Occupants/Sub-Rosa Subway was the most requested record there. GRT's Perry Goldberg and Frank Davies, the group's manager and president of the Daffodil label, presented CKOC programmer Nevin Grant with a plaque for his help establishing the group in Canada.

Goldberg reports the identities of the four members are still unknown, despite an increasing number of reports naming them as Toronto studio musicians, and that all reports to date have been inaccurate. He refused to comment as to whether any of the names mentioned were actual members of the group.

Ronney Abramson

Another True North happening

by J.J. Linden

True North recording artist Ronney Abramson is beginning to break nicely across Canada with her first album and a single for the label. The single, Your Love Gets Me Around, is doing particularly well in the west where it is charted on major stations. In fact, the single was released by special request from programmers and was actually given several chart numbers even before its release. The single enters the RPM 100 this week at No. 60 with a bullet.

Abramson's career spans a full decade. She has been involved in music most of her life, having been brought up in a musical environment. She was born in Paris, France where her parents were art students on the Left Bank. She recalls: "My father was a very folky person. He was well-rooted in blues and Woodie Guthrie and I had that happening around me as well as a few obscene French limericks".

The Abramson family returned to Canada when Ronney was two, and set up house in Montreal. It's interesting to note that her father left behind a bicycle given to him over 30 years ago by Pierre Trudeau. Completely bilingual, Abramson spends much of her time in Montreal although homebase is now considered Toronto.

Abramson's early musical years included nine years of classical guitar training, including two years at McGill School of Music in Montreal. She began teaching guitar at an early age and has continued to teach until just recently.

Her first taste of performing was at the age of 16: "When I was playing classical guitar at one point, I was asked to play at this intimate kind of French club in Montreal, which became a CBC taping. The acts ranged from chamber and classical music to folk music and mime. I played a combination of classical pieces and some of my own songs.

"That was my first taste of playing professionally. From then on I just started hanging around coffee houses and musicians and, of course, going to New York on a midnight bus, which every musician in Montreal knows is very important to his career".

Abramson eventually hit Toronto, the hub of the English Canadian market. After playing clubs and coffee houses she signed to Capitol and released an album in 1972. She put together a band and worked solo as well. She later joined John Mills-Cockell's synthesizer band, Heartbeat, as lead guitarist, where she became better acquainted with Bernie Finkelstein and Bernie Fiedler of True North Records. She was signed to True North last year and her single release,

Question For An Answer, became a hit in Vanderhoof, B.C. "Somehow when you put out a record, you become aware of the geography of the country. How often do you think of some of these places?"

Abramson's new album, Stowaway, was produced at Toronto's Manta Sound by Matthew McCauley and Fred Mollin, who produced Dan Hill's two gold albums. They also did the arrangements for the album, comprised of all Abramson originals.

There's a new band for Abramson as well, consisting of Pat Ringley, bass; John Sheard, keyboards; and drummer Bob DeSalle. They are currently in rehearsal and will make their debut July 14-17 at Smale's Pace in London, Ontario, followed by a special guest appearance at the Ontario Place Forum with Don McLean (19) and a Toronto City Hall concert for CFTR Radio (24).

The future is beginning to look very bright for True North's newest find. Unspoiled by recent success, she intends to continue writing songs and playing guitar: "I'm just living my life and feeling feelings the way I do and I guess I'm expressing those feelings to other people. I hope those people will be able to identify with some of the things I have to say".

38 SPECIAL
A&M SP-4638-W

Says guitarist Don Barnes: "On the stage we're a kickass rock 'n roll band", but producer Dan Hartman, who can be heard on the piano on the Fly Away cut, can boast the same thing about the group's audio only performance. You don't need a program to pick out the players - they're instrumentally and vocally welded together into a tightly knit country folk and rock unit that could reach the ears of the contemporary rock as well as country and adult-oriented programmers. Nice rockin' on Chuck Berry's Around And Around, good country pickin' on the group effort of Play A Simple Song and the album-oriented types can pick any cut.

WENZDAY

Nearly Made It
Skyline SKY 10164-M

The group that bounced into popularity with their nostalgia kick bounce back into today with a tightly regimented sound that could bring them into the realm of making it. Ride Me, penned by group member Paul Andrew Smith has the right ingredients to lead the album onto the charts and could be a single winner. As a matter of fact you can skip the foreign copyrights and stick with Smith and come up a satisfied listener.

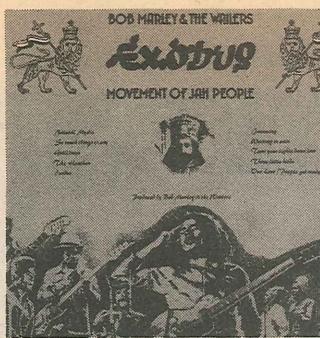

Excellent programming fare for the contemporary rocker and for the adult and album-oriented programmer as well. Smith's talent as a songwriter/vocalist are supreme on this set, particularly with Honey and I Nearly Made It. Producer John Dee Driscoll obviously recognizes Smith's talents and uses subtle acoustic guitar and the piano stylings of Bradley George Wilkinson to enhance Smith's vocals and music.

BOB MARLEY &amp; WAILERS

Exodus
Island ALPS-9498-N

Marley is looking to increase his cult following with this release although he is already known as a political rebel and has gunshot wounds to prove it. He would appear to be a trifle more articulate with this his sixth release. Exodus, in this case, has been described as the "movement of Jah people". He has a lot to say but he may have become too word involved: "open your eyes and look within - are you satisfied with the life you're living - we know where we're going - we know where we're from - we're leaving Babylon - into our father's land". There's a lot of depression around and, although, the Wailers have a bright, swaying reggae beat, the lyrics are too down to capture the appeal of the masses, particularly on the title cut.

YVON DESCHAMPS

En Anglais

Direction DLP-10001-N

One of Quebec's better-known adult-oriented superstars does his bit for unity with a unique showbiz approach that has a touch of the Olympia, the Paladium and Broadway. Deschamps has that Quebecois sincerity that somehow surfaces in English, which is what this album is all about. As Richard Flohill, Editor of the Canadian Composer, wrote: "Deschamps is more than a Quebecer - he is a North American. And with this album he is ready, for the first time, to tell his stories in English." That's really all you have to know about this entertaining package, produced by Direction's John Williams at Montreal's Son-Quebec and remixed at Toronto's Sounds Interchange. It might take a little more than this homespun album to catch fire in English Canada but it should contribute significantly to the lowering of the language barrier.

A FOOT IN COLDWATER

Breaking Through

Anthem ANR-1-1008-Q

Alex Machin, Paul Naumann, Danny Taylor, Hugh Leggat - that's all. Foot have trimmed their size and they say "Now that we've come alive, we'll reach for the other side. It's no time to hide. There's too much love inside. As you can see we're friends. We'll make it to the end. Don't count us out 'cause there's no where but up from here. You see . . . we're breaking through." That's their message and this is their initial release for the newly-bowed Anthem label. Changes, more changes and changes, perhaps, even in thinking has resulted in a maturity that can only be a plus factor for a very talented and innovative progressive-rock quartet. One of the more compelling and lyrically thoughtful selections is Naumann's penning of Why, which has the added talents of Bob Horne on keyboards, but don't overlook the Naumann/Machin writing of I Knew She Would. Produced by the group at Sounds Interchange.

JUDAS PRIEST

Sin After Sin

Columbia 34787-H

New from the rock world of Britain, this five man group could cross the pond to a very interested North American audience. They have that certain British magic that almost commands a closer listen and after a couple of cuts you become an involved listener. Crisp, tight and pure rock, produced by the group and Roger Glover. Their tour of North America will make or break them, although they could command a good buying public on their audio performance alone. Contemporary-rock programmers will relate quickly but the adult-oriented crowd could catch on, particularly with the Last Rose Of Summer.

TED JORDAN

For The First Time

Inter-Media WRC-230

From out of the east, for the first time, rides Ted Jordan via the mobile services of Inter-Media Services. Toronto and Montreal have their impressive lineups of 16 and 24 track studios and most of the major centres across Canada can boast two or three 16 or 24 track studios but down in Halifax, Nova Scotia, engineers Al Feeney and Dave Miller have discovered how to market quaintness and simplicity into a package of highly entertaining, away from the city country blues. Jordan borrows from some of the big names like Josh White, Evil Hearted Man and Billie Holiday's God Bless The Child. One of the better cuts is Jordan's version of the traditional St. James Infirmary although the short, cute instrumental Brookside Saturday with flautist Dave Moyse, should attract attention. Country programmers shouldn't overlook Jordan's country leanings, particularly Jimmie Rodgers California Blues.

Juno winner Colleen Peterson - a natural

by Ron Proulx

Colleen Peterson is fast becoming one of the most sought after young female country singer/songwriters on the continent. Not only does she possess a unique sense of charm in her writing but she just happens to be blonde, blue eyed, and beautiful. Needless to say, this Canadian born (Peterborough, Ontario) Capitol recording artist promises to have a most impressive career ahead of her. In March of this year Peterson won a coveted Juno Award for Best New Female Vocalist while also finding herself nominated for Best Country Female Vocalist, which was taken by another great singer, Carroll Baker. The Juno win is just another chapter in her long road of performing quests, however.

Food stamps began Peterson's career at the age of 13 when they allowed her to buy her first guitar. Since that day she has professionalized her musical creativity by playing some of the real entertainment spots of Yorkville and the 60's atmosphere. The Riverboat and Mariposa have both heard her gentle guitar picking accompany a voice of great warmth and sincerity. In 1974 Peterson made the trek to Nashville where all she landed was a one song contract for So Happy To Have You Here, which was recorded by the Classics 4.

One particular person would not let her sit and decay. Bernie Dobbins, her manager to this day, made Colleen work whenever possible until she finally landed that undisputedly desired sign of success; a recording contract. Capitol Records signed her to a deal which saw her return to Nashville to make Beginning To Feel Like Home with Chuck Neese producing. Peterson has fond memories of the sessions as Capitol gave her a lot of leeway which enabled her to write a personalized album which is now enjoying good sales in record stores across the country.

With the road to success getting increasingly closer for her, Peterson has found herself at The Record Plant in Los Angeles, with producer Lee Hazelwood, where they have put together six cuts (two by Colleen herself) for consideration as singles material. Al Casey acted as arranger for the takes and some of the top session musicians in the business helped out as well (not the least of which is ex-Elvis sideman James Barton).

The public can presently see the singer/songwriter on the CBC weekly summer series The Road Show (which began July 3rd); or, for the experience of Colleen Peterson live, at Windsor's Dieppe Park (July 2), Summerfest, Cayuga Raceway (July 3), Ontario Place Forum (July 5), Winnipeg Folk Festival (July 8-10), Camp Fortune, Ottawa (July 15-16), and the Peterborough Arts Festival (July 29).

Keep your ears open in the month of August when Colleen Peterson should see Capitol Records release a new single as an entree to a much awaited second album.

guess what?

We have been selected by the readers of RPM for the second year in a row as the "most aggressive Recording Studio". Aggressive can very easily mean pushy - yet we have gained a reputation as being perhaps the most accommodating studio.

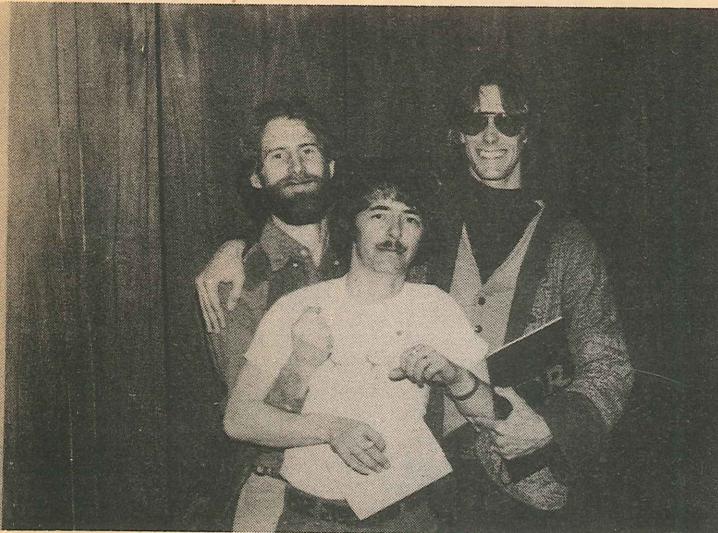

In fact, we make our recording artists and our commercial clients welcome. Despite our relaxed manner, our artists can depend on the highest degree of professionalism from every member of our staff. No wonder we count many of the foremost Canadian and International Recording artists as our clients.

So you may wonder what this aggressiveness is all about. We are proud to blow our horn once in a while, because this way you know who we are and when you come to us, you will stay and feel good about it.

New LP and tour for RCA's Goods

RCA recording artists the Good Brothers have just returned from Nashville, where they have been recording their first RCA album, Pretty Ain't Good Enough. The Goods, Bruce, Brian, and Larry, have used many of Nashville's leading session men for the occasion, including steel guitarist Pete Drake and harp player Charlie McCoy. Produced by Larry Brown, who has written such hits as Tie A Yellow Ribbon and Sweet Gypsy Rose for Tony Orlando, the project was a co-written effort between the band and himself.

When the Good Brothers return, they will continue to play their brand of "new-grass" to audiences in Pembroke, Ontario, (June 16-18), at Hamilton's Mohawk College (19), Cayuga Speedway's Summerfest (July 3), Ontario Place (5), Toronto's El Mocambo (11-13), and the Coronet in Kitchener (20-25).

Capitol's Conspiracy set for Western tour

Capitol recording group Conspiracy, having recently completed a very successful two-month club tour of the Maritimes, are now readying themselves for a major club tour of Western Canada. Dates are being slated for week-long appearances at the Red Oak in Thunder Bay, the Town & Country in Winnipeg, Old Gold in Regina, Lucifer's in Calgary and Edmonton's Lucifer's.

In mid-August, following the Canadian dates, the showband sets out for Hawaii, where they will perform for about three weeks. Conspiracy has toured Hawaii a number of times, and has attracted a substantial following there.

On their return, they head into the recording studio. Their latest Capitol single, What Ya Gonna Do When The Rain Starts Fallin', was released in April and has received substantial airplay.

Entertainment Contacts steps up bookings

Atlantic Canada's largest booking agency, the Halifax-based Entertainment Contacts, reports the east coast is still alive and well. President Bruce Hudson has announced a number of signings and tour confirmations.

Among the artists recently signed to the agency are Maritime-based groups

Tequila, Titan, Molly Olliver (formerly Everyday People) and Oakley (formerly Soma). Two Entertainment Contacts groups Molly Olliver and Snakeye, recently taped segments for CBC radio's Great Canadian Goldrush.

Among the artists currently touring the Maritimes in tours booked by Entertainment Contacts are Robert E. Lee and Capitol's Canadian Conspiracy. Confirmed tours for the future include the Good Brothers, Future Shock, the Glen Ricketts Band, Bop Shoo Bop, Bump City, Harry Hibbs, the Bells, Sylvia Tyson, Rustic and the Mighty Pope.

Entertainment Contacts has also added two new agents to its roster. They are Hazen Horseman, formerly of Radius 3000 Agency and Tim Garagan, former leader of Pepper Tree and Molly Olliver.

Song Festival deadline nears

German group firmed for Sorcerer soundtrack

German-based Virgin recording group Tangerine Dream have been signed to do the film soundtrack for Sorcerer, an MCA/Paramount co-production. The band was signed by film producer William Friedkin, whose film credits include The Exorcist and The French Connection. In signing the band, Friedkin stated, "The music of Tangerine Dream was an early and major inspiration for the film Sorcerer. I first heard Tangerine Dream while in Munich for the opening of The Exorcist. Had I heard them sooner, I would have asked them to score that film. A year later, we met in Paris. I told them the story of the film, and gave them a script."

"It took more than two years to make The Sorcerer. One day, in the middle of a primeval forest in the Dominican Republic, about six months into shooting, a tape arrived from the Dream containing 90 minutes of musical impressions. It is from this tape that the film has been scored. Though the musicians had not then nor even now seen any of the footage, somehow they were able to capture and enhance every nuance of each moment where their music is heard. The film and the score are inseparable."

The film, which is due to open June 24 throughout North America, is being distributed in Canada by Paramount and split regionally between Paramount and MCA's film branch, Universal. The soundtrack is being released by MCA, with permission of the group's label, Virgin Records, a label distributed in Canada by Polydor.

The film is reportedly one of the most expensive productions ever, with figures upwards of 20 million dollars suggested. Promotion will be done co-operatively by MCA and Paramount, and is expected to be massive.

A single from the soundtrack, titled Betrayal (Sorcerer Theme), is being released by MCA. Penned by Tangerine Dream, it is expected to achieve good AOR reaction and some crossover to top 40. MCA also expects tremendous public reaction to the film.

Quality Records threw a double surprise birthday celebration for noted pianist Liberace, whose AVI label records are distributed in Canada by Quality. Liberace was in Toronto finishing a five-week Central Canada concert tour with a two-week stand at the O'Keefe Centre (May 9-21).

On May 16, Liberace's birthday, Quality's Nick Panaseiko enlisted the assistance of publicity man Gino Empry, who handles the publicity for the Royal York's Imperial Room, where the Mills Brothers were playing. Empry, who is also Liberace's Canadian press attache, brought the Mills Brothers to the O'Keefe Centre to sing a chorus of Happy Birthday to Liberace during the intermission.

At the end of the night's performance, Panaseiko unveiled the second half of the surprise, a press reception/birthday party,

One of the highlights of the party was a presentation by Bruce Heller, Liberace's godson and son of his manager Seymour Heller, of a special platinum award reading "For your outstanding performance and sales; you are still the lobby sales champ."

Other highlights on the Liberace tour were Liberace Days held in Hamilton (May 5) and Toronto (12), at which the artist was honoured at luncheons sponsored by the cities and the Famous People Players. # CKLW strike & NHL fails to deter Haig Cloud Burst's young country artist Heather Haig arrived in Windsor for her first date at the Wellington Tavern and ran up against two obstacles that could have caused serious problems. One was the NHL Stanley Cup Playoffs and the other was the strike at CKLW. The former didn't dent her capacity week at the club but the latter caused the cancellation of her interview at the important country outlet. Croft McLellan, manager of the station was the only one on duty but he did arrange for Haig and her manager, George Petralia to talk, by telephone, to the station's music director, Ron Foster and Jerry Paris. The latter was to have conducted the interview.

The Windsor date was the first time Haig had worked with Ralph Carlson and the Country Mile. They first met each other at the Ottawa Jamboree where Carlson asked Haig to join them for the Windsor date.

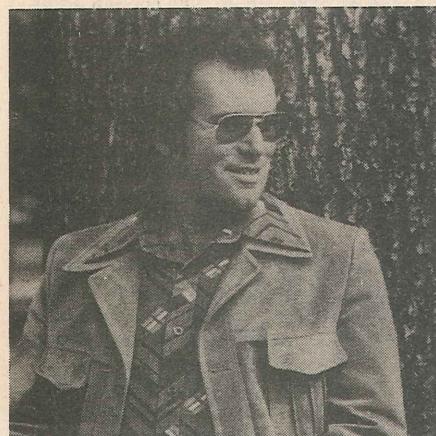

Haig is now rehearsing with her new backup group, Lovin' Country which features Bill Barnhart on drums and John Lacey on steel. Both are featured on Haig's new album which contains three songs penned by Barnhart.

Haig will debut her group at the Prospect Hotel in Niagara Falls from May 30 through June 4 followed by the Casablanca (13-18) and the El Condor (20-25).

Jazz Band launching album at Harbourfront

Tormax recording artists, The Climax Jazz Band, are preparing for the release of their latest album, Live At Harbourfront, on June 13th, by having a party on Sunday the 12th at the Harbourfront Jazz Club on Toronto's waterfront.

The album was taped in March at The Jazz Club and as is usual for the Harbourfront club, admission is free. The Climax Jazz Band will be performing at least two sets during the course of the evening.

Mushroom Records signs Doucette Band

Mushroom Records has signed a record deal with the Vancouver-based Doucette Band, a band specializing in high-energy rock & roll. The band consists of leader Jerry Doucette on guitar, guitarist Brent Shindel, bassist Donny Cummings and drummer Duris Maxwell. They also intend to add a keyboard player.

The band is already in the studio working on its debut album, at Vancouver's CanBase Studios produced by Nashville's Marty Lewis, whose production credits include Jimmy Buffett, Rita Coolidge, and a group with a similar name, the Pousette-Dart Band.

The Doucette Band join an active Mushroom roster, which includes Paul Horn and Chilliwack.

Calgary's Refinery firms Shooter date

Shooter are slated to spend a week at The Refinery in Calgary. The dates include June 27-July 2nd. The band will do two sets per evening.

Shooter is presently between labels since GRT, who released their first album, have dropped them from their roster.

Polydor release for Ian Cooney

Polydor of Canada has released a single by newly signed Montreal artist, Ian Cooney. Entitled You Don't Really Love Me the single was produced by Montrealer Hugh Dixon, who discovered the talents of 22-year old Cooney, and engineered by Billy Szwolowski at Montreal's Studio Tempo.

Ian Cooney first experienced the feel of recording at the age of fifteen when he did a home recording of two songs he had written, ordered 200 copies of the pieces, and then sold them to his classmates. Signed to a long term recording contract by producer Dixon, Cooney is now working on a complete album project.

Uriah Heep returns

by Ron Proulx

In a time when, as Mick Box puts it, "Rock and roll has reached a point of saturation", veteran acts such as Uriah Heep have to watch their step in order to keep a place in this world of LP's and ticket stubs. Box, guitarist for the seven year old British band, looked at the life of Uriah Heep when they were in Toronto on June 12th as part of a double-bill with Ted Nugent: "We reached a peak with Demons and Wizards, and then we lapsed a little bit, and now we're picking up with new ideas." Uriah Heep has returned with their first North American tour in five years, a new singer as well as a new bassist, and their 11th album, the fifth for the Warner Bros. label, Firefly.

The band is changing. David Byron has left to be replaced by ex-Lucifer's Friend vocalist, John Lawton, while Heep experiences their fifth bassist, Trevor Bolder, who's claim to fame is as a member of David Bowie's memorable Spiders From Mars. These changes, along with the increasing melody of the band, has affected the way that the band feels about music. Although they still contend their purpose is to Rock & Roll, their next album will "have a more mature sound."

Such is the fate of a band of musicians who are in their 30's but still digging the gigging life. Uriah Heep could never have added a string section to a song from such albums as Demons And Wizards or Sweet Freedom, but now the possibility is actually a reality. Firefly, written almost entirely by keyboardist Ken Hensley, has that more mature sound. Unfortunately, the two newest members were somewhat stifled by the fact that their parts were pre-written for them, thus they needed only to learn and play. The next project will be different, however. To be recorded at London's Round House studio's (as Firefly was), and to be produced by Jerry Brown (as all but one Heep album has been), it will have an R&B twist to it, if the words of John Lawton are to be believed.

Heep is British. Britain is having a battle with their international musicians due to some rather uncompromising tax laws. On this topic, Box comments: "I'm afraid that if England doesn't sort something out soon, (departure from the country) will happen to lots of people. You're literally forced out".

But the future is promising for the band, even if tax laws are not. After they finish this tour at the end of June in Atlanta, they do a TV show in Germany, where their following is enormous, and then, later in the year, Uriah Heep act as good-will representatives when they do three dates behind the Iron Curtain in Yugoslavia.

Uriah Heep tours for nine months of every year. In the other three months they release an album. They play heavy-metal, and they have no pretensions of being anything more than what they appear to be. As Mick Box puts it, "basically, it's just a rock & roll show."

CTL begins production on Bower Singers' eighth

The Canadian Talent Library is beginning production of an eighth CTL album by the Laurie Bower Singers. The tentative title for the album is Love To The People, after a song penned by fellow CTL artist Bobby Edwards and lyricist Fred Napoli.

The album is being produced at Toronto's Manta Sound Studios, with Bower handling the in-studio production chores.

CTL's Mal Thompson is acting as executive producer. The album is being arranged and conducted by Ben McPeek, who for the first time will not be appearing on keyboards. Eric Robertson, himself a noted arranger (THP Orchestra, Roger Whittaker), will be filling in on keyboards, enabling McPeek to concentrate his efforts on the arrangements and conducting.

CTL to release Edwards album on its own label

The Canadian Talent Library has decided to release a forthcoming album by guitarist Bobby Edwards directly on the CTL label. The album, to be released early in July, will probably be titled Bobby Edwards & Rainbow, with the band in turn named after one of the songs on the album, Electric Rainbow. It was self-produced and arranged by Edwards at Toronto's Manta Sound Studios, with CTL's Mal Thompson acting as executive producer.

The album is basically an orchestral/vocal effort, with Edwards himself performing only briefly on guitar. Of the 12 selections, ten are vocal. Of these, eight involve group vocals, with one solo each by Laurie Hood and Stephanie Taylor. Six of the 12 are Edwards originals.

An initial single from the album is due for release in the immediate future. The single is Summer Song, backed with Electric Rainbow.

Thunder donates time for crippled kids spots

Toronto's Thunder Sound Studios recently donated time for a special charity drive promotion for the Ontario Society For Crippled Children. The promotion revolved around a giveaway of free pizza June 6 by Toronto-based chain Pizza Nova. Customers donating a minimum of 50 cents to the charity were given a free pizza of $2.70 value.

The idea began when Lindsay Gillespie of Thunder Sound and David Marsden Creative Productions were approached by Pizza Nova president Vince Primucci. Gillespie relates, "I was most impressed with his generosity and immediately decided to donate our services and create for Vince a radio campaign at no cost to him or the Society For Crippled Children."

The campaign, produced by David Marsden, consisted of five radio spots, three 60-second and two 30-second. Talent was Whipper Billy Watson, former professional wrestler who works extensively with the society.

Spots ran heavily during the weekend preceding the giveaway, on Toronto stations CKEY, CFGM, CFTR and CKFH. Primucci bought both the spots and the pizza, roughly 15,000 pies to be given away. Watson and a number of hockey players paid visits to the various stores during the day and greeted the customers.

All in all, the giveaway proved to be successful, netting a total of $7,000 for the Society.

Who invented recorded sound?

by Alan Guettel

In this, the centennial year of sound recording who you believe invented the record player may depend on where you live.

In Europe it's all Charles Cros, who detailed plans for a functioning talking machine on paper in April 1877. He called it a paleophone.

In the U.S.A. it's all Thomas Alva Edison who, the story has it, made the first recording on his finger when he was pricked by a loose wire connected to a telephone mouthpiece he was experimenting with. In late 1877 he constructed a machine - he called it a phonograph - and was able to reproduce faint sounds on a tinfoil-covered cylinder. He then shelved the machine for more than a decade.

In 1889 Emile Berliner, who with his sons Herbert and Edgar would make the Berliner name certainly the most prominent family name in the history of the Canadian recording industry, introduced the gramophone. The gramophone introduced the disc record and the lateral-cut recording principle - producing sound with a needle moving from side-to-side in the record groove - and a basic fidelity good enough to make recorded music possible.

In the 1880's Scottish-born Canadian Alexander Graham Bell, with his cousin Chichester Bell and Charles Tainter, improved the Edison phonograph by introducing the wax-coated cylinder, developed in Bell's Volta Laboratory in Washington D.C. He called it the graphophone.

The Canadian Recording Industry's celebration of a century of recorded sound centred around the CRIA's extravaganza at the CNE's Automotive Building in August - will feature all of these inventors equally, as well as exhibit memorabilia and information on the decades of recorded sound in Canada.

The basic statement of Canada's view of the history of sound recording will be a classy, 52-page, full-color book produced by Ihor Todoruk's Studio 123 in Montreal. The book, according to Todoruk, will be heavily consumer oriented: "That's the key word."

Cros wasn't a very practical man, and Edison was not really concerned with music - what he developed was really sort of a dictaphone which he saw would aid stenographers and vocal instruction, according to Edward Moogt, Canadian record historian who wrote Roll Back The Years, the history of Canadian recording to 1930. And, he adds, this isn't the first time the CNE has seen an exhibition of recorded sound.

In 1888 Edison displayed his improved phonograph at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition (forerunner of the CNE) and recorded the exhibition's opening address by Governor General Lord Stanley. That cylinder was re-recorded in 1935 and Lord Stanley's speech is the oldest recorded sound on record.

Moogt's book which he compiled from information gathered for his former CBC radio show, Roll Back The Years, and research through the National Archives' recorded sound section (which he helped establish in 1967) and assistance from record collector and radio man Jim Kidd, is the starting point for any serious study of Canadian recording history. Published by the National Library of Canada in 1975, Roll Back is the first volume of the library's planned history. Information for the second volume, which will cover the years from 1930 until 1969, is presently being compiled by Moogt and Kidd.

Moogt's account deals heavily with the Berliner's, especially Herbert. Herbert Berliner was personally responsible for building the Victor (later RCA) corporation in Canada as well as its main competitor during the decades of the 20s, 30s, and 40s - when there was really only two major record companies in Canada - the Compo corporation.

Emile Berliner, a German immigrant in New York, sold patents for improvements on the telephone to Bell and began work on his gramophone, which he introduced in 1889 in his native Germany, where it was manufactured and sold as a toy starting that same year.

In 1893 he set up the United States Gramophone Company and later the Gramophone Company of England and Deutsche Grammophone in Germany. In 1899 he moved his operations to Montreal after selling his basic patents to Elridge Johnson, who later set up the Victor Talking Machine Company in the U.S.

Edison issued his first commercial recordings in 1899-90 and his The North American Phonograph Company issued its first catalog in 1890.

Subsequent competition with the American Graphophone Company (Bell-Tainter) led Edison to bankrupt his firms to protect his patents. At the same time Bell-Tainter's operations were reorganized as the Columbia Phonograph Company, which had been a distributor of Edison's products. Through legal battles that followed, patents held by Bell-Tainter and Edison became common property of both.

Edison and Columbia were still issuing only cylinder records when the first Canadian discs came off Berliner's presses in Montreal in January 1900. They were mostly pressings from masters recorded by Berliner affiliates in Europe and the U.S. Berliner's main line soon came from Victor in the U.S.

The firm, soon run by Berliner's son Herbert, sold millions of records in its first years of operation and quickly became established as Canada's premiere record company.

In 1904 Columbia set up operations in Canada and like Edison, who sold imported product through Toronto's R.S. Williams, sold music recorded on 2-minute cylinders - as opposed to Berliner's 4-minute discs. Columbia soon marketed a line of discs but none of their product was pressed in Canada.

1904 also marked the introduction of the two-sided disc - patented, incidentally, by Colin McKenzie of Whitehorse, Yukon. Columbia and several European firms began pressing on both sides of their discs, but Victor stuck to the traditional single-side pressing until Berliner took matters into his own hands, and began issuing Canadian releases pressed on both sides in 1908. Victor soon adopted the practice on its lower-priced line.

The years immediately preceding World War 1 saw a boom in the record and record player market in Canada; the value of imported product more than doubled between 1910 ($342,278) and 1913 ($740,417). The market was dominated by the big three - Columbia, Berliner and Edison - but new ones, like Vitaphone (which featured a wooden tone arm) and Pathé, set up manufacturing operations in Canada during those boom years.

Edison finally introduced its own line of discs in 1913, promoted by live performances by recording artists in retail outlets to prove the fidelity of the recorded sound.

Berliner retained its dominant position, though, through strict, exclusive-sales contracts and no-discount with distributors - a subject of much controversy in the Canadian Music Trades Journal, the trade magazine of its day. It published from 1900 until 1933.

Both because of and despite the Great War, the recording industry boomed in Canada. Through appeals to patriotism - and stepped up pressing and importing and recording - sales hit new highs and new phonograph manufacturing firms sprung up in a number of Canadian cities.

During those years the phenomenal success of the Berliner company set the stage for a power play between Berliner here and Victor in the U.S.

To slow the flood of royalties Berliner was paying to the U.S. company, Berliner made a concentrated move into the recording field in 1916. The series, well-promoted and pressed on Berliner's prestigious labels, featured French and English Canadian performers as well as U.S. artists recorded by Berliner in Montreal. Soon this, the HMV 216000 Series, virtually replaced the sales of Victor's popular Black Seal line in Canada.

In 1919 Berliner set up the Compo Company in Lachine, Quebec - designed to establish a manufacturing outlet for some of the new Canadian companies and to hold off the invasion of U.S. product in Canada. By this time, Canadian titles outnumbered Victor titles in the Berliner catalog.

The Compo move was well-designed by Berliner to give him the flexibility he needed to continue to dominate the industry. Record patents were expiring and many independent U.S. and Canadian firms were springing up. Through facilities at Compo's Lachine plant, Berliner was able to provide pressing for these independents - he even pressed U.S. labels to be shipped back to the U.S. - and keep an eye on their activities.

By 1920 Berliner had cut out all Victor records in Canada except the Red Seals (the prestige line) and relied on Canadian recordings and masters imported from European Berliner associates. Victor countered by buying Berliner of London, England.

In 1921, in a surprise move, Herbert Berliner and many top Berliner officials resigned and shifted their operations entirely to the Compo Company. Herbert's younger brother Edgar, took over the Berliner company and patched up relations with Victor. In 1924 Victor (U.S.) bought Berliner of Canada.

In 1921 Herbert Berliner set up the Sun and Apex record lines at Compo - and shook up record marketing in Canada by selling everything at 65 cents a record rather than the $1 and more that had previously been the standard for record pricing.

The big new entry in the music business in the early '20s was radio. Most firms in the recording industry ignored it at first, but Herbert Berliner was in at the ground floor in Canada.

As early as 1920 he arranged concerts of recorded music on XWA (CFCF) Canada's first radio station. With the advent of electrical recording in the 1920s, Herbert Berliner made another significant breakthrough by developing a method for recording directly from radio broadcasts.

Radio had superior range of sound frequencies to record players, which had hardly progressed in this respect for 25 years. With the new electrical process of recording - and Victor's introduction of the automatic record changer in 1927 - the record player could compete with radio for ease of operation and fidelity.

Edison, in Canada and the U.S., declined as a force in the record industry throughout the '20s and in 1929 stopped producing records and phonographs completely and concentrated on radio exclusively.

The late '20s marked a period of concentration of power and mergers among the recording companies.

A New York banking syndicate bought Victor in 1926, and with it, Victor's Canadian interest: Berliner. In 1929 the Radio Corporation of America bought Victor from the bankers.

RCA and Compo were the only pre-depression record firms to survive the depression. Compo was quite successful in the French market and by 1935 was pressing and selling the records from the British and U.S. Decca firms in Canada. Years later Decca bought Compo, and in 1969 MCA bought Decca.

TV, clubs for Condor's Burton & Honeyman

Condor recording artists Burton & Honeyman are being kept busy with a series of club dates. Having just finished a two-week engagement at the Nag's Head in Toronto (June 6-18), they head north to Owen Sound, Ontario for a week at the Harbour Inn (20-25). While at the Nag's Head, they also did a taping for the George Hamilton IV Show from CHCH-TV in Hamilton.

Condor has released a fourth single from the duo's Condor debut album, Two Of A Kind. The single, titled Christopher Mary, has been receiving heavy early adds, with over 40 stations picking it up in its first week of release. The single is being aired on both country and MOR stations.

Carroll Baker fan club formed

RPM has received word that the Carroll Baker Fan Club has now been formed. The president of the new club is Mark Wilson, and fans of the country singer can now write to The Carroll Baker Fan Club, 3 Gunn St., Barrie, Ontario, L4M 2H2.

Baker, who records for RCA, has had a particularly enjoyable year. Her album, Carroll Baker, has recently gone gold, she took two awards at the last Big Country Awards (Top Female Country Singer and Top Country Album), and most recently she won a Juno for Top Female Country Singer.

Tor's Van Entertainment to rep Maple Sugar group

Tor's Van Entertainment, a Toronto management firm, has announced their representation of Canadian folk act Maple Sugar, along with solo representation of the group's fiddler, Graham Townsend. Maple Sugar plays traditional folk, while Townsend has been described as a far superior player than most in his field.

Maple Sugar have two albums released on the Springwater label. Maple Sugar: Songs of Early Canada, and The Great Canadian Fiddle are both available internationally.

Condor's Lynn & Francis catching national ears

Condor Records reports strong airplay on the single release I Want To Be Loved by Condor artist Julie Lynn. Lynn is currently in the midst of a two-week stint at the Bar K in Saskatoon (June 13-25), to be followed by a week at the Kenosee Lake Hotel in Kenosee Lake, Saskatchewan. The single, out less than a month, is picking up stations throughout Canada and in the U.S.

Another Condor single, Out Of My Mind by Ray Francis, released at roughly the same time, is also receiving good airplay across Canada.

George Hamilton IV at Toronto's Ontario Place

Anchor recording artist George Hamilton IV, returned to Canada for an Ontario Place Forum show June 1. While in Toronto he made the rounds of the media with interviews and live radio appearances.

Hamilton sat in with CFGM's Dave Johnson for an interview, and also met with the station's music director Joe Lafresne. He also sat in for an hour special with Bill Anderson of CFRB for his syndicated country show Big Country.

A new signee to the British Anchor label, distributed in North America by ABC/Dot, which is in turn distributed in Canada by GRT, Hamilton also met with GRT president Ross Reynolds and members of the promotion and marketing staff.

Hamilton has a new album on the Anchor label, titled Fine Lace And Homespun Cloth.

ROGER WHITTAKER Ride A Country Road Tembo TMT-2156-N

Seems strange to put this South African in with the country fold, but he seems to be having much success in this market and his new album follows along with country programmers acceptance of his River Lady. The album was produced by Tembo, a Montreal-based firm, at Lansdowne Studios in London, England. He's not all country, but neither was Olivia Newton-John. His method of delivery adds a bit of class to what can be considered country and in particular the Whittaker/Harper penning of The Kind Of Guy Who'd Help You See It Through. Whittaker is already a big winner in Canada with the adult-oriented programmers and this set has all the ingredients for crossover action.

JAMES LEE HITCHNER
Highwood Country Home
Highwood HWS 77101
Produced by Jim Hitchner at Edmonton's J.J. Sound with engineer Joe Kozak doing the board chores, Hitchner has a country purity that flows gently with his self penning. Instrument and vocal backup (there are unfortunately no credits) add much to the session. Hitchner has a relaxed delivery which makes his material that much more listenable. No stranger to the western Canadian country charts, this album could break him across the rest of the country. Thoughtful lyrics on Proud To Be Called Hillbilly and don't overlook I Think It's Love.

ROGER QUICK

Turn On Country Thunderbird TBR 1043

One of Canada's youngest country labels, Thunderbird turns on Roger Quick with a package of pure country - some borrowed and some original. Quick's vocals, without the nasal ingredients, make his delivery that much more credible. Quick is now showing chart promise with his title cut and the album has a couple more singles including Doing The Best I Can and the Bill Knapp penning of I Believe In Loving You. Producer Quick also has an impressive lineup of musicians to back him including Al Brisco on steel, bass man Johnny Burke, Bob Munro and Mel Aucoyne on piano, fiddler Brian Barron, lead guitar George Hebert, Mike Francis and Quick and Roddy Lee on drums. The session was produced at Springfield Sound Studio in Springfield, Ont.

GEORGE HAMILTON IV Fine Lace And Homespun Cloth ABC 9310-2081-T

One of country's most underrated artists, George's gentlemanly approach to lyrics, no matter who they are written by, create an immediate acceptance factor. This is one of George's finest releases and contains his current single release, I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now, but there are other and stronger single potentials, including Alex Harvey's Cornbread, Beans & Sweet Potato Pie and Everlasting (Everlasting Love) written by Denny Flowers. George is back recording in Nashville, once again but this time through his British friend Mervyn Conn who had the session produced by Allen Reynolds.

Wilf Carter represents Canada at CMA Int'l show

RCA recording artist Wilf Carter represented Canada at the CMA International Show held in Nashville June 11. A legend in the country music scene, both in Canada and the U.S., Carter was the official representative of RCA Canada, and was joined by Barry Haugen, who handles country promotion and artist relations nationally for the company.

The show was hosted by another top name RCA artist, Charley Pride. Both Pride and Carter participated in all scheduled events in the show, and both gave extensive press interviews.

Carter's latest album on RCA is titled Songs I'd Love To Sing. It is available in both Canada and the U.S., and is packaged with special graphics for the Canadian market.

Carter is slated for a number of Canadian dates through late June and July. These include concerts in Crossroads, Alberta (25), Lomond, Alberta (29), Rock Hill Park, Ontario (31) and the Calgary Stampede, where he will ride in the Stampede Parade July 8.

IBIS Country Singing Contest nearing

The second annual Ibis Country Singing Contest will be getting underway shortly with some impressive prizes for the winners. From June to November, no less than four Toronto area hotels, The Cloverleaf, The Maritime Club, The Old Caribou and The Brampton Hotel, will host the competition Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, respectively.

To qualify, a contestant must not have had a record released publicly during the five years prior to the date they first compete.

Prizes include the preliminary winners each getting a free trip to Wheeling, West Virginia, courtesy of the hotel where they won. Then, in December, they will compete for a free flight for two anywhere in the world, $1,000 spending money, and a possible recording contract.

Judging will be handled by members of the media, specifically the country music field.

The 1976 winner, Gerald Davidson, as a result has a single available on Condor Records, called How Can I Forget, which is receiving air play on various Canadian stations.

Publisher forces Condor to stop pressing Maggie

U.S. publishing firm Brougham Hall have forbidden the pressing of any more copies of novelty single Margaret by CFGM Toronto.

U.S. country D.J.'s warming to Rondini

Condor recording artist Rondini, a B.C. native now based in Nashville, has been promoting his new Condor single Wiggle It A Little in the U.S. Condor reports success in the promotion, with additions at ten more U.S. stations in his first week of promotion, bring the total number of U.S. stations to over 15.

The single is receiving extensive airplay throughout Canada, where it was first shipped, and is currently listed on the RPM Country Playlist at 35.

to morning man Frank Proctor. The single is a take-off on international hit Lucille, which is published by Brougham Hall. It deals with Margaret Trudeau, and purports to be sung by Pierre Trudeau and Bob Stammerfield.

Currently, Lucille by U.A. recording artist Kenny Rogers is enjoying top hit status. Having already reached number one on RPM's Country Playlist for two weeks (April 16 and 23), it is currently number 4 on the Adult Oriented Playlist and has crossed over strongly into top 40, being charted on RPM's Top 100 singles chart at No. 1.

Condor reports the move by the publisher will have a substantial effect on them, as the single has already sold over 2,000 units with orders for additional product. These orders will be left unfilled.

Bluegrass opera to tour Canada

Cruel Tears, a Bluegrass opera written by Ken Mitchell with music by Humphrey and The Dumptrucks, is embarking on a cross-Canada tour in August. Originally a Saskatchewan Persophone Theatre production, the opera has enjoyed success across the prairies and will now have the opportunity to penetrate the rest of the country.

Stops for the production are Victoria (August 8-13), Vancouver (15-Sept. 3), Edmonton (5-10), Regina (12-24), Winnipeg (26-Oct. 1), Montreal (6-Nov. 6), Kingston (8-10), Waterloo (11, 12), Toronto (14-Dec. 10), and Ottawa (12-17).

Cruel Tears is loosely based on Shakespeare's Othello.

Jones dropped from Hamilton TV

In addition to over fifteen thousand country music fans attending the C.M.A./WSM, co-produced, Fan Fair '77 in Nashville last week, RCA Canada's Good Brothers also made the Music City scene. The boys were cutting a new album which will hit the

 KEEP IT COUNTRY
by johnny murphy

shelves by the early part of September. During their recording gig they were paying some of the bills with performances at two Nashville niteries. The Pickin' Parlor and The Exit Inn. The latter two nights at the Exit saw the Canadian super group open for headliner, John Prine. The Goods and Prine will team up again, this time for Summerfest, a gigantic, outdoor, folk show set for Ontario Cayuga Speedway the first weekend in July.

Bummer of the week has to be the announcement of Lynn Jones' departure from the cast of regulars on the George Hamilton IV syndicated, TV show. The good-looking blonde lady is now lining up a heavy schedule of in-person gigs in the leading southern Ontario night spots. It sure is too bad that they couldn't get the TV cameras into one of those spots while Lynn is doing her show for the paying customers. Good as she was on the tube, this gal is absolute dynamite in a club. That's the truth if ever I told it. I had occasion to see her performance at El Condor a little bit ago, and if we Canadians don't show our appreciation of the lady's talent, she's just liable to split altogether for parts of the world where her considerable talent will be appreciated.

I had a real chuckle at the disclaimer on the back of the latest Delmer Dory LP on his own Candel label: "Warning, this album will cause mild muscular reactions such as toe-tapping, hand clapping, or foot stompin'. Failure to produce one of the above, a physician, psychiatrist or a mortician should be called immediately."

New Brian Austin released on Condor

Condor artist Brian Austin has a new single release entitled, 605. Condor is hopeful that Austin will see the same kind of cross-over action that his last single experienced. Morning's Breaking Over California reached the number 12 spot on RPM's Country Playlist, while it also hit the number 12 mark on the Adult Playlist.

The Gong Show, is a big winner with Peter Nanos, proprietor of Toronto's El Condor. The way Peter hears it, Danny's singing about his Tuesday night, pack-em-in gimmick at his north Metro establishment. By the way joining yours truly on the panel of judges for the gonging recently was Diane Leigh, lovely as ever, and a willing participant with headliner Lynn Jones in the evening's entertainment. Bringing up the deejay side of the panel was CFGM's Gord Ambrose, filling in for Mike McMahon. Somehow though, El Condor co-owner, Chris Bozanis, always manages to escape being gonged. Could be because he's been able to crack the sound barrier by way of his debut album release on George Petralia's Cloudburst label. By the by, Heather Haig, a considerably better-looking Cloudburst artist, takes over the headline spot this week at El Condor. Heather now has her own band, the J&B Express, featuring two musicians from Jerry Palmer's former back-up group, Lovin' Country. Palmer is now more or less permanently situated at home in Thunder Bay, playing a limited number of engagements, and embarking on a new career in real estate sales, following the successful completion of a course in that line of endeavour recently at Toronto's Ryerson Institute. At about the same time Jerry hit the house-for-sale trail, RCA re-issued his last album originally on Don Grashey's Gaiety label. That's the package that contains all of Jerry's most recent chart singles, including Did I Forget To Tell Her.

A new member moves into Jimmy Lynn's place in the Par Three lineup. The new member of the hot vocal trio is Jimmy Stedman, a former member of Olive Bayle's group.

Brian Chater reports concentrated airplay for his Amber artist, Mike Graham, on no less than ninety stations. And, reports Brian, many of those ninety are adult contemporary formats. There is good reason to believe, particularly with the added impetus of the MAM people in England, that Graham's, Then Came You, just might follow in the cross-over footsteps of his British label mates, Tom Jones and Engelbert Humperdinck.

There's a new all night, gospel-type, radio show in central Ontario. It's produced by an outfit called the Joy Foundation of Peterborough, and is aired from midnight to five a.m. nightly on Lindsay's CKLY. Program director, Bob Eakins, tells me that the new programming venture is winning considerable support in his coverage area. The show is regularly hosted by Bill Spenceley, a former deejay, now part of the Joy Foundation. Name of the new air segment - you guessed it - Joy In The Morning.

Ray Devins, heading up the Wheel label based in Lindsay, Ontario, reports that CKFH deejay, Al Kingdon's debut single will be released by that label on or about July 15th. Wheel has a ready-made-market for Al, and numerous other product entries. The label is a spin-off, according to Devins, of a sub-distribution outfit by the name of Kawartha Lakes Music And Distributing. They have a solid customer list throughout the smaller centres of Ontario and Quebec that Devins tells me the bigger fellas just pass by. Wheel has had no less than seven albums custom produced and marketed in that area since 1974, all of which have been good sellers. Now, as they ready the Kingdon debut single, they have two other single releases that they are hard at work for. One of them is a tune by Pat Ballard, entitled, Six In Our House. Pat is the wife of Doug Ballard, together as performers they are billed as The Ballards. Pat co-wrote the new tune released on Devins' Wheel label with the third partner of The Ballard's trio, Cyril Rawson. Session was produced by Ray Devins at Oshawa's Quest Studios. The second new release from the fledgling Wheel label is a pairing by Bill Taylor and the Tradesmen. Lifted from his album, the plug side of the new single by Bill is I Know Where I've Gone Wrong. Devins reports that their radio station mailings include some two hundred in Canada and an additional fifty in the U.S.

Jerry and Jo Anne hit the club trail through the early part of May in Newfoundland. And that included a gig on the offshore Islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon. While there, the singing duo from Lennoxville, P.Q. opened a brand new club, Le Jointville Cabaret. They then hit the big island, playing in several of the leading clubs right across Newfie, with extremely positive reactions from club goers on our easternmost coast.
