FACTOR support for 33 music video projects

FACTOR has released news of the funding for 33 music video projects in the first half of this fiscal year. As well, FACTOR supplied funding toward the production of the sound recordings for sixteen of these artists.

CIRPA and ARIA set to meet in Edmonton

The Alberta Recording Industry Association (ARIA) and the Canadian Independent Record Production Association (CIRPA) will meet for the first time for two one-day management workshops in Alberta.

Using the theme, The ABC's of Artist Management for the Manager and the Musician, the first workshops will be held in Edmonton (Nov. 4) and the following day in Calgary.

Key topics to be covered will include touring, recording, promotion and marketing, image development, contracts and more. The workshop will be divided into smaller break-out sessions to allow for closer contact with the guest speakers.

The Edmonton workshop will feature Larry Wanagas (K.D. Lang's manager), Gary Pring and Joe Bamford (co-managers of Glass Tiger), Michael Godin (manager of Paul Janz), Richard Flohil (CAPAC) and Brian Chater (Executive Director of CIRPA). Stony Plain's Holger Petersen will moderate.

Featured at the Calgary workshop will be John Caton (Blue Rodeo's manager), Pring and Bamford, Flohil, Chater and Godin. Godin will moderate.

For more information contact Karen Cameron at ARIA 403-428-3372 or CIRPA's Mary Vrantisdidis 416-593-1665.

Record Peddler to have day in court - Oct. 30/89

The obscenity case against Fringe Product Inc. a music recording company, and its distributor Record Peddler, will take place October 30th, at 9 am in Ottawa's Provincial Court building. The two Toronto-based firms have been charged with "distribution and possession for the purpose of distribution of obscene material" under Section 161 of the Criminal Code.

Fringe is the producer of Here Today, Guano Tomorrow, an album by Dayglo Abortions, a group from Victoria, B.C. This music recording is apparently the focus of charges brought against the two firms by the Nepean Police Force in July of 1988. Record Peddler, which operates a retail outlet in downtown Toronto, is the affiliated distribution arm of Fringe Product.

Toronto attorney Marlys Edwardh of the firm Ruby & Edwardh, will represent Fringe at this trial which is expected to raise what is described as "significant challenges," to the validity of obscenity sections of the Criminal Code that could be in conflict with the 1982 Charter of Rights.

A defense fund has been established to help in the legal expenses of Fringe Product. Contributions may be sent to Fringe Product Legal Defense Fund, Box 670, Station A, Toronto, Ontario. M5W 1G2, or contact Ben Hoffman or Angus Mackay at 416-365-7878.

Funding for both the video and record production was supplied for Nova Scotia's Sara McLachlan, Tony Papa & Theory and Trooper, both from B.C., Sonia Papp and Ajo & The Hungry Boys from Quebec, Newfoundland's Figgy Duff plus Eugene Ripper, Savage Steel, White Heat, Blue Rodeo, for Kim Mitchell (2), Mad About Plaid, Steve Fox, Ray Lyell & The Storm and Lee Aaron, all from Ontario.

Those receiving funding for video projects only were: Roch Voisine, Toyo and G.T. Express from Quebec, B.C.'s Unit E, Pretty Boy Floyd and Mark Hasselbach, Connie Kaldor from Manitoba and from Ontario, The Razorbacks, Mary Lou Zahalan, Monuments Galore, Syre, NEO A4, Ellen McIlwaine, Bob Wiseman, Exchange and Paul London.

Funding for the Video Program is provided by the Department of Communications. Record production companies or record labels, Canadian-owned or controlled with national distribution for the single which the video supports may apply for funding for up to fifty percent of the projected budget costs to a maximum of

Best replaces Kaeding at WEA publicity post

Nigel Best moves up to the post of Manager, National Publicity Manager for WEA Music Canada, replacing JoAnn Kaeding who has left for a position with Elektra Entertainment in New York.

Best's move into WEA management has all been accomplished in just one year. He joined the company last year as a retail representative and, shortly after, replaced Randy Sharrard as Ontario promotion representative, the position he held prior to this new appointment.

Before joining WEA, Best gained much knowledge of the club, radio programming and retail end of the business. He worked record retail in the Vancouver area, and was also a club and college radio DJ (CITR Vancouver) and a journalist for Reuters/UPI based in Bermuda.

$7,500.00. The next deadline for applications to the program is Oct. 31/89. For more information and application forms, contact the FACTOR office in Vancouver at 604-737-2430 or Toronto at 416-368-8678.

CARAS posts names for Entertainer of year award

The third annual People's Choice Juno Award, sponsored by Molson Breweries, will be presented at this year's Juno Awards to be telecast live on the CBC-TV network next March 18 from Toronto's O'Keefe Centre.

The nominating process apparently began with the creation of 150 nominees selected by CARAS members. Members of Canada's entertainment media were then asked to pick a short list of five nominees, and they came up with Blue Rodeo, Tom Cochrane, Jeff Healey, K.D. Lang and Kim Mitchell.

Ballots will be distributed through record outlets, newspaper and magazine advertisements as well as all major Molson

Canadian Rocks concert events, representing 700 record stores, 100 live music dates coast to coast and radio station promotions as well as national television advertising campaigns sponsored by Molson Breweries.

Exchange signed to Mesa label

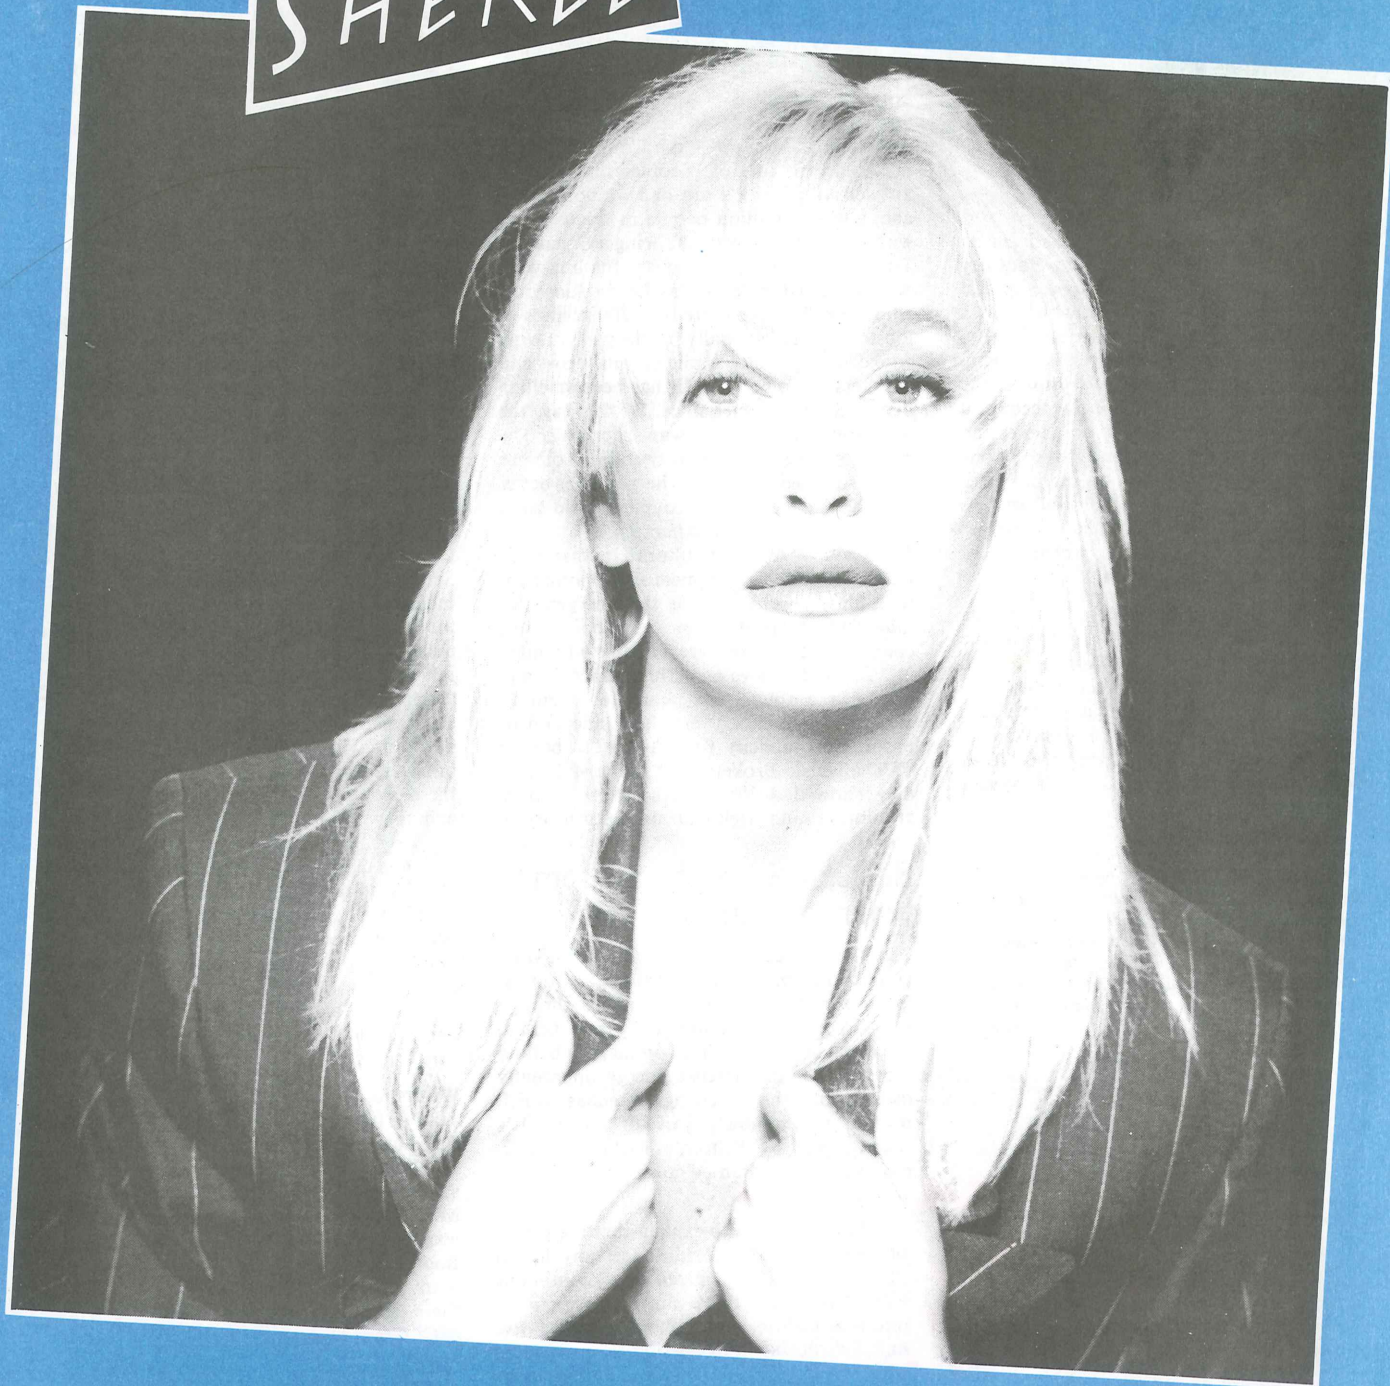

Toronto instrumental duo, Exchange, has been signed to Mesa Records, a California-based label distributed by Capitol in the U.S. Initial album release will be the duo's Canadian debut, Into The Night, which attracted much attention in the industry. This album was initially released on the now defunct Passport/Audio label. Exchange's current recordings are available in Canada on the Penta label, distributed by WEA.

The pair, Steve Sexton and Gerald O'Brien, who are both songwriters, are currently working on their second album, which is being scheduled for release early in the new year.

Jason - the next leader . . . ! Jason Sniderman looked every inch an industry leader when he made a short speech at last week's Variety Club Luncheon which was a tribute to his dad and the Sniderman family. It has been interesting to watch this young man develop from a youngster working in the Yonge Street store and then in his teens and early twenties as the leader of Blue Peter and now on the threshold of taking charge of one of the largest record retail chains in North America. He obviously enjoys what he's doing and it's a credit to him that he manages to maintain a certain amount of independence! (EC: Right on . . . !)

Everybody's gone to lunch . . . ? I hate those telephone answering machines at the best of times, but when the Toronto branch office of a major, major label resorts to a recorded message saying the gang is "out to lunch . . . leave a message". It doesn't sound very good, wouldn't you agree? (EC: They should use that old record . . . Everyone's Gone To The Moon . . . !)

"...the prophets of doom, the messengers of mediocrity, will be overwhelmed by the new generation of competent, creative, confident artisans, and by all those preceding generations who have already demonstrated their freshness of mind, their talent, and their capacity for inspired leadership"

Lobsters and Stompin' Tom . . . ! What a night that was when Capitol brought Stompin' Tom out of his retirement for an old fashioned "down home" party at Anne Dunn's Matador Club. It's been almost fifteen years since I talked to Tom and it brought back a lot of pleasant memories. I don't think anyone in the business is as Canadian as Stompin' Tom Connors. In the beginning a lot of people tagged him a "weirdo", but it's too bad we don't have about twenty-million people in this country with that "weird" pride of being a Canadian. Tom wears it like a vest and it fits him well. Also seen at the party was Lorna Richards, who cooked up the more than 200 pounds of lobster flown in specially for the party. Lorna cooked this monstrous pile of tails, claws and whiskers at home, and JP has been smelling like a Maritimer ever since. By the way, the age group at the party was surprising. The majority were in their mid-twenties. Tom has never sounded better and he got even better after he knocked back a couple of cold ones. (EC: That's a real Canadian, eh!)

Take a bow Music Brokers! It wasn't too long ago when the dommers and gloomers of the industry were spearing the emergence of independent promotion people in this country. Well, there were a couple who hung in . . . Linda Dawe and Chris Allicock, and it's been a tough few years for them to establish their hot, very hot independent promotion/publicity firm flying the banner of The Music Brokers. But they did it, and they showed a lot of panache with their promotion and well-laid on Sutton Place

Seltech Satellite Systems warn of Sun Transit

Sun Transit occurs a couple of times a year, around the time of the Vernal and Autumnal Equinoxes (the end of September through mid-October), when the sun passes behind satellites. As the sun lines up directly behind the satellite, this intense energy apparently overwhelms the receiving antennas which results in temporary loss of signal. It's pointed out by Seltech's Richard Mark, however, that Sun Transit effects only downlink sites.

Mark goes on to explain that the period of interference, "shouldn't last any longer than one hour on any given day," continuing with, "Each downlink site may experience interference for approximately one to five minutes during this period," concluding with, "If effected, you will hear a clean signal gradually deteriorate to noise then return to a good level."

For further information on Sun Transit disruptions call Mark at 416-597-2299.

Chris Kennedy has left his position as Music Director of CKXL (AM106) Calgary to join WEA.

Kennedy will work out of WEA's Vancouver office as promotion representative. His appointment is effective immediately.

reception for Roch Voisine. What was most impressive were the heavies who turned out . . . heavies from the broadcast and retail fields . . . and a better than average smattering of VIPs from the print world. (EC: It takes more than a pretty face to become a star . . . !)

Donald K. WHO . . . ? It must have been the best kept secret in the industry . . . the Montreal tribute to your friend and my old buddy . . . Donald K. Donald, who began in the business as just plain Donald Tarlton. He was one of RPM's biggest supporters back in the days when it was very important . . . and he still is. I'm just sorry that the organizers didn't see fit to let Donald's many friends in the industry know there was going to be a tribute to this man who has done more than most of those Canada Medal wearers in promoting things Canadian. Anyway, Donald, I would have had a few nice things to say about you . . . but maybe next time! (EC: Donald has some nice things to say about you too . . . !)

Great Variety boosters . . . ! The tribute to Sam Sniderman and family was another indication of how generous the recording industry is to Variety's Kids. . There was quite a response from recording artists to take part and the two acts that entertained, Debbie Johnston and The Razorbacks, put on a great show. Staging this talent should be a priority with Variety. I would like to see an improvement in sound and lighting. After all, these people were showcasing to the industry and they should have been seen and heard properly. Fortunately they did come through loud and clear . . . but they had to really work at it. Head table guests gave a "star" quality to the event . . . from presidents to industry organizers and recording artists. The crowd numbered just over 400, which ain't bad, considering the industry paid tribute to Sam just a few months ago. (EC: Yes . . . but this one only cost $25 a plate . . . and the food was just as great!)

Where are you radio . . . ? I went to this year's luncheon for the Miss Canada Pageant, which was promoted by Joyce Barslow, and had the opportunity to sit at the same table with Tanya Turner, who was Miss Red Deer. It was just by accident I learned that one of her sponsors was CKGY Radio in Red Deer . . . and I wonder how many other stations gave a helping hand to these ladies competing to represent Canada. (EC: Great swimsuits . . . !)

Blue Rodeo's Bob Wiseman initiates solo career

Bob Wiseman first entered the public spotlight as keyboardist for Blue Rodeo. Now he makes his mark as the first member of that band to release a solo effort with In Her Dream on Risque Disque distributed by WEA.

Although the album was completed over a year ago, record company fears of a libel suit resulted in a lengthy standoff. "It's funny," Wiseman comments, "because Mary Margaret O'Hara, she sings on some of the songs, and I remember last year, I thought it would be out in October last year and she kept wondering when her record was going to be released and it ended up coming out on Hallowe'en."

"I was pretty sure mine would be out before hers and now it's a year later that it's coming out," he relates. "It was postponed because they had some problems with the lyrics to one of the songs and I had to remove one of the songs and put some other ones on...I'd like to find out if I can get someone else to put that song out, like maybe Jello Biafra," Wiseman adds, "because he's pretty fearless with songs."

Somewhat surprisingly, In Her Dreams is not a keyboard dominated effort, concentrating more on guitar driven music. "There's a little bit of piano," says Wiseman, "but I play a lot of other stuff. I think most people figured it's a piano record, but I'll do that too...I thought it would be cooler to put this out now."

Due to commitments with Blue Rodeo, Wiseman does not foresee a promotional tour in support of his release. "Unless Blue Rodeo takes a long break I can't imagine how I could tour, but I would love to," he admits. "I would love to go across the country playing with my friends Andy Stochansky and Hugh Phillips, who play bass and drums on a lot of the album, and then go back doing piano concerts. I want to release a piano record too," he stresses, "I'd love to have both out there...I've got about three records ready to go right now of piano music and more songs."

Currently, Wiseman is waiting to see whether there is interest from WEA affiliates for foreign distribution. "I don't know if they would look at it as a commercially viable record and I wouldn't be surprised if they don't," Wiseman confesses. "So if none of them are interested then I would go to smaller labels and see if anyone wants to put it out, and if none of them want to then I'll just keep doing what I'm doing."

Wiseman is unbothered by the lack of interest he anticipates from commercial outlets. "The radio stations that turn me on are the ones that don't care...like the college stations have an attitude of not caring about commercial music really, being more interested in playing stuff that's unusual," he asserts.

"I know there's a way that people go about trying to make stuff for the radio," he continues, "and I intentionally tried to not make stuff for the radio. You could play some of the things on it too, but I don't really care if they do or not. I make the stuff because I'm having a real good time. I make it having in mind that it could be listened to without having anything to do with me. If I was dead, you know somebody could dig it."

With so little concern for external praise, Wiseman has set attainable personal goals for the album. "I'm already happy," he declares. "I don't care if people say it stinks or if they say it's great. I really don't. What really makes me happy is that I've made a solo record and used all sorts of people that I really like on it."

"Blue Rodeo's not going to break up as far as I can see, but if it ever did, you never know how that could happen, I've already made a record," he elaborates. "It's not like I'd be the keyboard player from Blue Rodeo who's out of work. That makes me happy, that I've gotten a record out that's being distributed by WEA...In the music industry, having your own record, it's like a driver's license to go make more records."

Wiseman's carefree attitude towards commercial acceptance is consistent with his opinions on sound recording. "The recording technique consisted of putting a mike in a stand and plugging it into a board and then getting a recording level that didn't distort and then pressing play and record," he informs. "It took me years of practice to figure that out and I've gone around the world and talked to most of the state of the art producers and that's the technique I used."

"The whole experience I've had in the studio...was that it was just being too scientific," he concludes. "I just knew that all I need, all most musicians need, is the ability to record without hiss. Just give me a tape recorder."

With the majority of consumers brought up with the belief that clean recordings of perfect performances make the best music, Wiseman is rightfully skeptical that In Her Dream will achieve mainstream commercial recognition. Yet, if he succeeds in deprogramming even one member of the cult of studio technology, Wiseman will have accomplished more good than a legion of MIDI engineers.

Train and Martin launch Starcrazy board game

Sylvia Train and Donald Martin, have parlayed their knowledge of the entertainment business into a new board game flying the banner Starcrazy.

The game was launched at the Royal York's Imperial Room (Oct. 10). The hotel's Director of Marketing, Gary Peterson, apparently enjoyed the game so much "and laughed so hard," says Train, "he offered to co-host the launch."

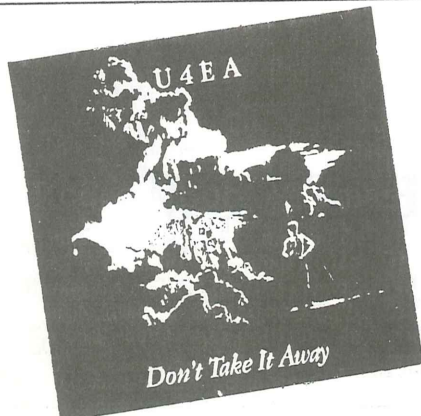

Operating on the premise that everyone has fantasies of being a movie star, the game tests "the ham" in everyone's quotient, allowing these fantasies to take flight.

One of the first major retailers to jump in was Bruce McConnell, National Buyer for The Bay and Simpsons, who likened the game to an Academy Award Winner. "and we always like to back a winner," says McConnell.

Boyd's Christmas LP includes Whittaker duet

Liona Boyd's new A&M Christmas album on cassette is somewhat a departure from her usual releases. This time out she shows her talent as a vocalist, performing on two tracks, one a duet with Roger Whittaker on the title track, Christmas Dreams for which she wrote the lyrics. Also guesting on the album is pan-pipe master Georges Zamfir.

As J.J. Linden of Gino Empry Public Relations and Personal Management Services points out, "Most of the cuts are fully produced, featuring Liona's guitar, of course, but also with other instrumentation, pop, not classical." A couple of the pieces are more traditional arrangements, and ten of the fourteen tracks are traditional Christmas favourites.

Tempers flare at PSA Open Forum

The Pacific Songwriters Association (PSA) held an Independent Open Forum (Oct. 3) in Vancouver (RPM - Oct. 14/89) that turned into a shouting match. The forum was to deal with the merger of CAPAC and PROCAN. The panel comprised Lynn Partridge, Jim Vallance, Craig Horton, Valley Hennell and Jan Matejcek.

Out of a total of 4,500 invitations sent out to members of both CAPAC and PROCAN, less than 200, mostly PROCAN members, showed up.

Partridge told the audience that in the beginning she was against the merger, but after learning of the full ramifications, she is now in favour. Vallance, a PROCAN director and one of the top Canadian royalty earners, indicated that he was willing to give the merger a chance. Horton was in favour of the merger, but Hennell and Henderson, both PSA executives and PROCAN affiliates, voiced their opposition, suggesting that the merger would remove their freedom of choice. They were also concerned with the possibility of a reduction in service.

Matejcek, President of PROCAN, pointed up the fact that in the past, decisions had been made for competitive reasons which might not have taken into account the long term interests of all Canadian songwriters and publishers.

CAPAC is on record as having been in favour of one national society, owned and operated by Canadian composers and publishers on behalf of the world's composers and publishers, a position it maintained ever since PROCAN (formerly BMI Canada) was first launched in Canada almost fifty years ago. This position is reportedly made known to members who join CAPAC. It was also revealed that since the announcement that PROCAN and CAPAC were proceeding with a merger proposition, CAPAC's management and Board of Directors, the latter having been recently re-elected by its membership, have not received any indication of dissent from its members.

It was a difficult time for the moderator, who wasn't able to proceed very far in view of the give and take between the panel and the audience, where it was obvious tempers were getting out of hand.

The major complaint and one that was shared by many in the room was that while members of both performing rights organizations had been advised about the merger, and that they were aware the new society would be owned by the members and operated by their elected representatives, the specific details hadn't been laid out for them.

Michael Rock, General Manager of CAPAC suggests, "The PSA panelists and audience implied an 'us against them' mentality in which they saw themselves as not having a say in the administration of their performing rights." He went on to point out, "Their remarks suggested frustrations that Vancouverites may have generally in their role within our country."

Rock stresses that it appeared the dissenters expected they "should be able to approve or disapprove the merger only when all details are known . . . and that they would be able to pass judgement on specific details," continuing with, "This expectation is obviously unreasonable . . . nothing would be accomplished anywhere if the populace were required to approve the details. That is quite properly the duty of directors, politicians, etc."

Rock was disturbed over the actions of PSA panelists Hennell and Henderson, who "continually advocated the audience to block the merger," he reveals, continuing with, "They implied that PROCAN could evolve to become an affiliated owned and operated enterprise. However, since PROCAN is owned by a private foundation and administered by an appointed Board of Directors, their implication is without any foundation," says Rock, stressing that "It is not on the table."

Rock further suggests that "In order to give its affiliates a voice in the future administration of their performing rights, PROCAN is working toward the merger by which the new society would be run by all Canadian songwriters and publishers, including those of PROCAN who at present have no voice."

It was pointed out to both the panel and audience that all CAPAC members, all SPACQ (Quebec composers) members, SAC (Songwriters Association of Canada) members and their publishers, as well as the owners of the international repertoires were in favour of the merger. It was also revealed that SPACQ and SAC includes almost all of the who's who of PROCAN.

"I could guess those who oppose the merger" (among the 100 to 200 members attending the forum), to have been less than 100," says Rock, continuing with, "I could further bet that their royalties earnings would be less than one tenth of one percent of last year's distributions of about fifty million dollars."

He suggests that "In intermixing remarks to block the merger with the common slogans and truisms about democracy, the PSA panelists gave the impression that they had little understanding of the workings of the industry," concluding with, "The owners of the valuable copyrights have expressed their democratic right to assign their repertoires to the new society."

Paul Hyde's cross-Canada tour began in Vancouver this past week followed by dates in Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto and Ottawa, plus other dates to be announced. When Hyde was in Toronto recently, promoting his new Capitol album, Turtle Island, he met several media and industry people at a Capitol reception and (above) is seen with Allison Broddle of Campus Canada.

Five weeks after release Eurythmics hits platinum

After only five weeks from the release date, the Eurythmics' recent album, We Too Are One, has reached platinum status in Canada, which reflects sales in excess of 100,000 units. The album has already sold over a million units worldwide.

Upcoming dates for the popular RCA band are Toronto's Skydome (Nov. 3/89) and the Montreal Forum (5).

Toronto's Skydiggers signed to Enigma

Derrick Ross, General Manager of Enigma Canada, has announced the signing of The Skydiggers, the first Canadian band signed to the Culver City, California label. Now a quintet with a large following through their Friday night performances at The Horseshoe, the band evolved from an acoustic duo playing Toronto's Cabana Room on Monday nights.

Skydiggers comprises Andy Maize (lead singer), Josh Finlayson (lead guitarist), Peter Cash (rhythm guitar and lead vocals), Ron Macey (bass) and Wayne Stokes (drums).

Initial album release is being scheduled for the spring of next year. The band is managed by Doug Flavelle of Music Matters Management.

Elton John and Bernie Taupin were given the red carpet treatment by MCA during their Toronto date when they were presented with platinum for the latest album Sleeping With The Past. Above (l to r) Randy Lennox (Vice President Sales MCA Canada), Ross Reynolds (President MCA Canada) Elton John and Taupin. Below the MCA staff got together after Elton John's SkyDome concert to meet and present Elton John and Taupin with platinum.

When Anne Murray was in Nashville to co-host the Country Music Awards, she took time out to join Tom Tompkins and Colleen Troy from CFGM at the Live From Nashville remote. The Toronto country giant joined nine American stations broadcasting live from Nashville from Oct. 9 through 13. Paparazzi Maurice Cardinal was on hand to catch the trio.

Murray and Fox to tour Western Canada

Capitol recording star Anne Murray will play a series of concerts in Western Canada, her first tour of the west since the spring of 1987. Murray will be accompanied by George Fox, who has been front and centre this year in the winning of awards. He won Big Country's Top Male Vocalist, Composer and Canadian Country Artist of The Year awards and his Angelina single won as Best Country Single. He also won the Rising Star award at the recent CCMA Awards.

Capitol recently released Murray's Greatest Hits Volume II album, which coincided with the telecast of her CBC-TV special as well as her co-hosting duties with Kenny Rogers on the Country Music Awards Show, which was telecast from Nashville. Murray is currently climbing the charts with If I Ever Fall In Love Again, a duet with Rogers.

The tour also coincides with the release of Fox's new WEA album, With All My Might. No Trespassing, the first single from the album, has already been shipped to radio.

The tour will begin in Saskatoon (27) at the Saskatchewan Place (Concert Bowl), followed by Brandon's Keystone Centre (28), Winnipeg's Centennial Auditorium (29), Regina's Centre of the Arts (30), the arena in Medicine Hat (Dec. 1), the Sportsplex in Lethbridge (2), Calgary's Jubilee Auditorium (3), and the Queen Elizabeth Theatre in Vancouver (5), where Murray will appear alone.

George Fox, WEA recording artist, met up with the "other" Travis (Travis Tritt), currently on release with his WEA single Country Club. Both were in Nashville during country music week celebrations. Fox's new album, With All My Might, has shipped this month along with the single and video, No Trespassing.

DC 103 gives away $1,000 diamond ring
DC 103 Orangeville, Ontario, recently gave away a $1,000 diamond ring as an in-office promotion to Leanne Bryant of Guelph, one of the many qualifiers from the station's South Central Ontario listening area. The promotion was somewhat unique in that a FAX machine was the vehicle for submitting entries. A spokesperson for the station says the contest was so popular, "it was difficult to keep the FAX machine filled with enough paper."

The Q Morning Zoo give unusual assist
Friday, October 13th was a "Stop The Show" day for Q107's (Toronto) Q Morning Zoo keepers John Gallagher and Jake Edwards. They received a phone call from listener Trish Price "who was in a bit of a panic," reports Heather Dietrich, Assistant Promotion Director for the station, "as she had just gone into labour and her husband Kevin had already left for work." Jake and John put out the call for Kevin to get home and take Trish to the hospital "and in no time flat," continues Dietrich, "Trish heard a horn sound in the driveway. Kevin had heard the news and rushed to be by his wife's side." Trish and Kevin made it to the hospital on time and are now the proud parents of Samantha, a new sister for Shannon. "So ends the story of Q107's Labour Of Love," concludes Dietrich.

The centre of Clean-Air activities was the K-97 giant Boom Box and inflatable Baby Boomer.

Healey Guitar Lick contest at K-97

In advance of the recent Jeff Healey Band's recent concert appearance at Edmonton's Jubilee Auditorium, K-97 launched the Jeff Healey Guitar Lick contest. Listeners were invited to call the station when they heard a special Jeff Healey guitar lick. The first caller won a cassette copy of Healey's See The Light album from BMG. Winners were then advanced to the grand prize draw which featured a dinner for two at a local restaurant with the host of K-97's All Request Nooner, Terry Evans, Labatt's Blue tour jackets, show tickets and a backstage meeting with the Jeff Healey Band.

CJBK grocery list tops $1,290.00

London's 1290 CJBK Radio gave listeners an opportunity to win free groceries at this year's Western Fair. Steve Garrison, Director of Marketing and Promotion for the station, reports "Over 80,000 fairgoers stopped by the CJBK exhibit" to fill out a ballot and guess correctly the exact dollar amount of groceries located inside the CJBK Tracker. The grand prize winner won $1,290.00 in groceries.
