WEA to eliminate 12-inch singles

WEA Music Canada has announced it is phasing out the 12" single format for dance music. Dance tracks will now be released to radio and clubs on CD compilations, similar to those used for pop singles. WEA's promotions rep, Bill Banham says, "There will still be the odd domestic 12", for the name acts," but vinyl will no longer be used to promote new or breaking acts. As motivation for the change, WEA cites the plummeting vinyl sales and the advantage of being able to import a wider variety of product from the U.S. and abroad. "With the demise of vinyl, we find it more efficient to put the 12" on a CD compilation," explains Banham. "We can also use it as a tester" - an economical way to release U.S. 12" tracks which don't have an album.

The compilations will initially appear monthly, with a minimum of two versions of each track per CD. WEA hopes to increase the frequency to a weekly compilation.

Many in the dance music community express reservations about the move. Daniel Caudeiron of the Cheer Pool, Canada's largest dance pool, says DJs are well aware that, in the end, the demise of vinyl is inevitable. "We're caught in a transitional period," he says. "and we're cooperating with WEA. We have at least 50 percent of our DJs in clubs equipped with CDs." But he thinks the move to eliminate vinyl is both insensitive and premature. "The whole notion of the DJ gets dumped on by record companies, who, by looking at the marketplace, have decided vinyl is dead. Personally, I think they're jumping the gun. They are confusing commercial necessity and promotional need." He points out that DJs in the U.S. and the U.K. - the leading-edge dance countries - still use 90 percent vinyl.

Caudeiron says many DJs are upset with the change. "Most DJs still want their hands on vinyl when they play in clubs," he explains. "They like to use two copies of a record to mix . . . just putting something in a box and pressing a button doesn't cut it with a lot of DJs." And he warns that there may be technical problems as well. "Most clubs don't have industrial-strength CD players," which can stand up to prolonged and strenuous use. "So the software will outpace the hardware in clubs."

It remains to be seen whether the rest of

HTZ-FM's McElheran joins Capitol promotion

Olie Kornelsen, Director of Promotion for Capitol Records - EMI of Canada, has announced the appointment of Liz McElheran to the position of promotion representative for the Ontario region. Her appointment is effective April 23/90.

McElheran's experience in the music industry includes that of Entertainment Coordinator and on-air personality for HTZ-FM St. Catharines, host and writer of What's Happening, the station's daily entertainment calendar and, prior to that with CKEY in Toronto.

McElheran replaces Ron Robles, who was recently appointed Product Manager of Black Urban Dance Repertoire.

Burns on a roll with new Justin Entertainment

In the few short months since Jeff Burns launched his Justin Entertainment company, besides taking hold of the charts with his debut signing, Kenny MacLean, he has bolstered his roster with The Blondes, (formerly Platinum Blonde), Manteye and Seventh Son.

Regarding The Blondes, they are obviously excited to be back with a new single, a new album, and a new label, and, they hope, a new lease on life. Platinum Blonde's last album, Contact, was released in 1987.

"Jeff (Burns) was at CBS when we started the band in 1983," remembers Blonde Sergio Galli. "Then he started a new label. Things at CBS weren't working out in our favour, or in theirs." So the band followed Burns to Justin Entertainment, a label distributed by MCA.

Burns was still enthusiastic about The Blondes after all the years. "One of the main reasons I got involved with The Blondes was the incredible success we had with them at CBS," he explains. "They sold close to a million records in Canada. I felt the potential of the band was still there. So we've basically come up with a 1990s version of The Blondes."

The 1990s Blondes features the same lineup as the '80s band, but their sound has evolved to suit the times. "I wouldn't say it's vintage Platinum Blonde," comments Galli, "but it's close. The sound is a bit heavier." Burns elaborates: "The style of the music has more of an edge to it . . . it's more in a pop/rock vein . . . and there's more variety the major labels will follow WEA's lead. "Other labels have indicated they have no intention of closing out on vinyl until the bottom drops out," comments Caudeiron, "but the situation is being monitored closely, because WEA is the big guy." He says DJs are prepared to accept the inevitable, but he hopes other record companies will take a more cautious approach. "WEA may find they have leapt out into the abyss and may have to return without a parachute," Caudeiron concludes.

Roper leaves WEA to manage children's trio

Bob Roper, National A&R Manager for WEA Music Canada, will leave the company on May 11th to handle the worldwide business management for Sharon, Lois and Bram.

Roper, who has been with WEA for eight years, is credited with signing and developing many of the acts in the company's roster that have gained not only recognition in Canada but internationally as well. These include Blue Rodeo, Honeymoon Suite, George Fox, Frozen Ghost and Brighton Rock to name a few.

In commenting on Roper's leaving, WEA Canada President Stan Kulin noted: "I would like to thank Bob for his outstanding contribution not only to WEA, but to the whole domestic music industry over the past eight years," concluding with, "He will be greatly missed and I wish him all the best in his new position."

Seen at Gregory Hoskins signing to Finkelstein Management (seated) Hoskins and Bernie Finkelstein (behind) Steven Ehrlick, Jehanne Languedoc and Paul Sanderson.

Rich retires as President of A&A

Fred Rich has retired as President of A&A Records & Tapes. A press release issued by A&A indicated that Garth Mitchell has been appointed President and Chief Executive Officer of the 280 store chain.

Mitchell joins A&A from the clothing industry, a twenty year association where he has held the position of president of both a national women's apparel chain as well as a department store chain.

on the album."

And the name change? "Everybody referred to them as The Blondes anyway," says Burns. "Platinum was a little redundant, and maybe a bit dated." Burns and the band are confident the name change won't faze the band's fans, and predict the album will draw in new listeners. "It's the same band as it was," says Burns, "but a new name, a new image and a new label. I think a good album is a good album, and the music will speak for itself. We're anticipating multi-platinum success."

The Blondes first single, Yeah Yeah Yeah, shipped April 16th with a May 1st date set for the release of the album.

HMV's Whiteman takes a look at the future of retail

Roger Whiteman, Vice President, Distribution & Sales for HMV Music Canada, has carved a highly respectable niche for himself on the executive side of the retail business. He predicts, in his comments that follow, "major changes" in both the retail and manufacturing sectors of the industry.

The music retail success stories of the '90s will be the companies that are committed to people, service, depth and selection of product and supportive of new and developing artists. Those that do not have this commitment and are not prepared to invest for the long term but merely dabble at music retailing will fall by the wayside. Customer service and excellent retail staff will be the major factors for success.

HMV has introduced several innovative concepts to music retailing including, store design and appearance, merchandising and promotion and customer service and information. Such concepts are, however, useless unless you recognize that people are the single most important resource in the music business today.

Today's actions are shaping the future and the successful businesses of the '90s are being built with people as the prime resource. People must be treated fairly and in an open and honest manner. They must have voice and a defined responsibility for contributing to the growth of the business. Likewise, customers and suppliers must be treated in similar fashion. Consumers of today expect to shop in an environment that is attractive, customer friendly and where their demands are satisfied. Suppliers too deserve the same respect and by allowing a partnership to develop the concept of two parties working towards a common goal is achieved. The link between artist, record label and retailer are vital to our long term success.

The '90s will bring about major changes in the retail and manufacturing sectors of our industry. There will be less of us but we will be more professional. New technology such as CDV and DAT will undoubtedly change the nature of music retailing.

We are in the entertainment business and music is only a small part of it. With the advent of free trade in North America we will become a part of a large market. The day of cheap looking record stores staffed by uninformed poorly paid people are over. The days of suppliers not being customer focused and refusing to participate with the retailers

Toronto is setting for EMI International meet

The Toronto headquarters of Capitol Records - EMI of Canada hosted a special visit recently by Managing Directors of six European regional territories as well as two heads of International Marketing. The meeting was designed to exchange information and ideas regarding the exploitation of international repertoire in Canada and Canadian repertoire in the European marketplace.

During the visit special product presentations were made that highlighted the European priorities and Canadian releases. Highlights of the Canadian presentation were Luba, National Velvet, Grapes Of Wrath and The Box, all of which have been committed for release in overseas territories including Germany and the U.K.

'Peg industry veterans launch Thunder label

A trio of Winnipeg industry veterans, lawyer David Wolinsky, manager Lorne Saifer (Burton Cummings) and writer/producer Fred Turner (Bachman Turner Overdrive), hope to see Winnipeg regain prominence as a recording centre it enjoyed in the sixties. The trio have founded Thunder Records, Canada's newest record label. They expect to release five records in their first year of operation. The first will be by Erroll Rainville, himself a veteran in the recording field. Also signed to the new label are Byron O'Donnell and Labyrinths. Negotiations are underway with several other acts.

Wolinsky, who heads the new firm as president, says the label will deal with a broad range of musical styles. "We'll be right across the board. Our primary concern is to develop Western Canadian artists. We think there's a tremendous amount of talent in Western Canada."

Wolinsky believes Canada has a large pool of technical talent as well. "Winnipeg is remembered for its reputation in the sixties as in growing the business are over as well.

It's obvious we must work together to develop the recipe for success. Unfortunately, it's not obvious to all that the essential ingredient of professional retail staff, trained in customer service and with excellent product knowledge will allow the music industry to advance and take a larger share of the entertainment spend.

Warner/Chappell buys Gordon V. Thompson

Gordon V. Thompson Music has been purchased by Warner/Chappell Music Canada. The announcement was made by Jerry Renewych, Warner/Chappell Canada's President. Founded in 1911 by the company's namesake, the firm represents many well-known serious Canadian composers such as works of the late Godfrey Ridout, Harry Somers, Louis Applebaum, Keith Bissell and others.

Renewych expressed delight with the purchase, pointing out that the catalogue "represents a wide variety of educational and choral works which Warner/Chappell lacked within our own catalogue."

He goes on to stress "We will continue to develop new music publications and are looking forward to introducing our domestic composers to the U.S. marketplace by active participation in workshops and music conferences with a close liaison with our Warner/Chappell marketing and sales staffs based in Secaucus, New Jersey."

The Thompson firm also administers the publications of the Canadian Brass. Elmer Isler, Jean Ashworth Bartle and Robert Cooper are just a few of the well known choral editors who have contributed to the firm's success in educational music publishing in Canada. One of the most successful in its series of school music textbooks is Canada is . . . Music.

Iqbal Virjee, Vice President, Finance was also involved in the negotiations, and he moves to Warner/Chappell Canada. No purchase price was disclosed.

After their performance at Toronto's Superstars, DJ Jazzy Jeff & The Fresh Prince, receive gold record awards representing sales in excess of 50,000 units for their album In This Corner. Vancouver will be setting for FACTOR seminar FACTOR will hold an information seminar at the Pacific Cinematheque the evening of May 17 from 7 to 11 pm. Chairing the seminar will be Heather Sym, Executive Director of FACTOR and the organization's west coast representative, Michael Godin.

Sym reveals that the "recent changes to FACTOR's funding programs will be explained and discussed in order to give the industry a greater understanding of FACTOR's philosophy and objectives."

FACTOR will also be holding application evaluations in Vancouver "to provide an opportunity for industry professionals on the west coast to participate in FACTOR's efforts to assist the industry," Sym concludes. For more information contact Sym at 416-368-8678 or Godin at 604-737-2430.

a leader in the music recording field," he says, "and with the technical talent that exists locally, our company believes it is in a good position to give Winnipeg the prominence of a world class recording centre."

The new company will receive assistance from a fund established by the Federal Government to promote diversification of the Western Canadian economy. The label will receive a $223,025 repayable contribution from the Western Diversification Fund. In announcing the allocation, Minister of Western Economic Diversification Charles Mayer pointed out, "We support the company's efforts since it meets a number of WD criteria, notably the ability to attract talent being drawn primarily to the U.S. market at present, and in being able to market locally produced records, cassettes, and, eventually compact discs, both in the U.S. and internationally."

For further information contact Wolinsky at 204-944-9777.

Who/what's behind the pink door? What Vice President of National Promotion AND Special Projects of a major label (EC: Where else would you get a title like that!) returned to work after a couple of days on the road to find his door painted PINK? Changing times, changing attitudes!

Both the broadcast and record industries are up for some changes. We've got a soup salesman on board... and now, a fashion expert. Maybe, just maybe, it may work out. Fashion has never been regarded with too much enthusiasm in this business, has it! (EC: Whadyamean... remember a few years ago when white sneakers and black ties were in... for the Junos?)

Where there's music... there's suds!

I hear that a major suds maker and a major music maker will shortly announce the launch of a major booker/promoter conglomerate and... it's a Canadian/American deal. Oh what the hell... and this will thrill David Baskin... if you hear MCA and Labatt being bantered around, pay attention. FACTOR's Sym vs Cosford! Although ideally it would be much more interesting to have a situation where one party writes a controversial piece about another, and the retort appears in the same issue, in this case Cosford vs FACTOR, it's not always possible. However, being that the industry is so well informed, through the pages of RPM, it is only fitting that we reprint Heather Sym's defense of FACTOR in this column, which follows:

Dear Mr. Cosford: I read with interest your letter about FACTOR which appeared in the April 14th issue of RPM.

While I cannot verify the historical facts, I must address the incorrect information you have included in your letter. You indicate that "FACTOR money is essentially an interest-free forgivable loan, repayable only if the record makes money. Once it is paid, that's it. However, money is getting tight."

FACTOR as an industrial strategy, has for the past four years offered interest-bearing loans. Borrowers are required to repay FACTOR on units sold. As well, interest is calculated at the rate of 1 percent per month from the date of issuance of the final payment for a period of two years from the date of issuance of the final payment for a period of two years from the date of release of the project. Yes, FACTOR loans are forgivable, however, if FACTOR is fully repaid the principal, the interest is due and payable. This results in successful projects helping to support new Canadian recordings.

While you comment that "money is getting tight and FACTOR is scrambling," FACTOR funding is ever-increasing, and for the current fiscal year starting April 1, 1990, FACTOR has a budget of almost $4,000,000. The belief in and support of FACTOR from the broadcasting sector has continued to increase over the years and is clearly reflected in our increased funding. The other significant increase in funding comes from loan repayments made to FACTOR.

While FACTOR and MUSICACTION (our francophone counterpart) recognize the music industry requires additional funding for the existing programs, funding is also needed to support domestic and international marketing and promotion for our Canadian talent. As well funding is required to offset the cost of domestic touring. This is being looked into, however, we are not scrambling. We offer some financing toward the production of sound recordings, videos and the shortfall on international tours and showcases. We discourage people from making records simply because there is FACTOR funding. The investment the borrower must put into the project, far surpasses FACTOR's contribution. FACTOR funding is looked upon as one of the sources of funding.

At FACTOR we work very hard to get the correct "facts about FACTOR" out to the industry, however, when articles such as yours are published it results in applicants having misconceptions about FACTOR, its goals and objectives. I would therefore appreciate your contacting FACTOR before you make further statements about the foundation.

COVER STORY - by Walt Grealis

Robert Riley - actor turned singer, still actor

The newest "kid" on the Canadian music industry block is Robert Riley, an aggressive Toronto actor who has put his talents as a songwriter and performer to good use in the recording field. With the release of his first single, Keeping You On My Mind, and the intensive follow-up "phone" promotion, Riley and his manager, Colleen Roberts, are well known to many, if not all MOR and A/C programmers across the country.

Riley admits that his entry into the recording field "is a new venture." We built our whole campaign around the theme Sleeper of the Year."

Riley began his career in the entertainment field when he was eleven, "doing TV commercials . . . not singing," he recalls, "but visual spots for McDonald's, Chevrolet and The Royal Bank of Canada." Although his priority was acting, "the singing bug hit me when I was fifteen. I new how difficult it was to get into the music business, so I trained, I wrote and I studied." He fronted a Toronto "cover band", The Urge, which toured Ontario and Quebec, but because it looked like a dead end street, he went back to more writing and the honing of his vocal talent. Ironically, it was ten years ago when Riley first demo'd the song that was to be his first single. Keeping You On My Mind was co-written by his manager Colleen Roberts and Anthony Micallef. "Through the years I've developed different vocal styles," says Riley, "and sang a lot of songs, but I always liked this song. I did about five different demos for it . . . and finally it just came to a point where the song was ready to go." Roberts and Riley then opened GCR, an independent label, and released the first single. "So everything we have done has been done on our own with our own finances," says a proud Riley.

The beginning was as rough as any for a first timer. The usual negatives, "You don't stand a chance," and "You're not ready yet," were cast aside and Keeping You On My Mind was shipped the latter part of last year. "We adopted a very low profile, hoping that we could get playlisted and charted and that we would start getting some press. We even did a second mailing a couple of months later and we began getting back some very positive reply cards: 'Great song . . . great talent . . . great voice . . . it's going to be a hit!' Well, not too much happened so just before Christmas we released a follow-up single, This Love's In Danger. Then, in January, I found out the first single was getting action . . . so we pulled back on the second release and started our phone campaign. Now that we had chart action, we were in a better position to do something." He continues with, "I remember one programmer I called. He said 'Robert Riley? I've got a hundred records on my desk . . . never heard of you!' This made us all the more determined to promote the record with programmers."

The team of Roberts and Riley began to

Attic makes moves in marketing and finance

Alexander Mair, President of the Attic Music Group, has announced the following promotions in the marketing and sales and finance departments.

Lindsay Gillespie moves to Senior Vice President of Marketing and Sales where he was formerly Vice President; Steve Waxman is now Vice President of Promotion and Press, moving up from a Director of that division; and Brian Allen has been promoted to Vice President/A&R Attic Productions from his former position as Director of A&R/Publishing.

On the finance side, Mair announced the promotion of Mukesh Sachdeva from Controller to Vice President/Finance. Sachdeva has been an employee of Attic for four years.

Attic has enjoyed steady growth since its founding in 1974, and has chalked up more than sixty gold, platinum and multi platinum awards from Canada, the U.S., the U.K. and Holland.

As Mair points out, "In 1989, we received six gold and five platinum awards . . . and in 1990 we have already qualified for a gold single, a gold album and two platinum albums. Not a bad first quarter!"

see light at the end of the tunnel as more and more programmers responded positively. "We took a big chance with this single," explains Riley, "We just said okay, we're going to do it. It's going to work and it's going to get airplay . . . and it's going to take me to the next level where I can attract what I need to really get a happening career."

Riley admits to knowing very little about the business. "So by releasing the single, we really started finding out about radio programmers . . . and what they like and what they want. So it helped us to really define what the album is going to be about, instead of having an album that maybe we can't sell anywhere. We didn't want to spend and borrow a lot of money to make an album and be unsure of what direction we should be going."

Riley speaks in glowing terms of his manager, pointing out that "Colleen has a great philosophy. When she phones somebody, she wants to make sure they want to take her call and that there's a reason for them to take the call. She's a really wonderful PR person and I'm ecstatic that my first single is out there and I've been charted and I'm being played. The positive response really urges me on. It makes me want to go for it, to go for the career I've always wanted."

Riley is still interested in acting and will follow through with that part of his career as well and he knows that acting will enhance his singing career and visa versa.

Now that newcomer Riley has taken the time to investigate the ins and outs of radio programming and fortunately for him, some programmers have taken the time to point him in the right direction, he is now much better prepared to meet the recording industry head on.

New look for Capitol's Western Canada regions

Al Andruchow, Capitol Canada's Vice President of Sales, has announced that the Vancouver and Calgary regional offices have been combined to form one large sales region (Victoria to Winnipeg). Brad Morrissey, former Vancouver Region Manager, will head up the new Western Region as Manager.

Andruchow also reports further moves "to strengthen the field force," with Dennis Healy (former Edmonton sales/promo rep) moving to Vancouver as Sales Supervisor; Mark Vance to Vancouver as sales rep; Ralph Schmidtke to Calgary from Vancouver as sales rep and Kelly Zamiski to Edmonton from Calgary as sales rep. Jim Maxwell continues as sales rep in Winnipeg and Saskatchewan.

Aerosmith's Steven Tyler and Joe Perry receive 3-times platinum CD awards from WEA Canada's Garry Newman, Bill Johnston and Stan Kulin during visit to the Junos.

Campbell leaves A&M for CBS sales post

Alan Fletcher, Director, Central Region, CBS Records, has announced the appointment of Kevin Campbell to the position of Account Service representative for CBS Records Ontario Branch.

Campbell has been associated with the music industry for more than four years, most recently as a customer service representative with A&M Records.

Oliver's "prep sheet" provides unique service

The Canadian Informer, founded by John Oliver in 1988, enters its third year boasting a subscription strength of more than one hundred radio stations. Oliver, a native of Vancouver, has been in radio since September of 1969 when he got his first job as an on-air personality at CHAT Medicine Hat. He later worked at CHEC Lethbridge, CJME Regina, CKOC Hamilton (three years), CHUM-FM (two years, 1977-79) after which he returned to the West Coast to work at Vancouver's CFMI-FM, CKKS-FM and CKXY. He presently does freelance announcing for Star-FM Chilliwack (which serves Vancouver and the Fraser Valley east of the city).

As Oliver explains, the "prep sheet" includes birthdays, trivia and current international information. The information is international, but includes Canadian facts, "not included in similar services from the U.S.," says Oliver. "For example, it's unlikely you'll get Jean Chretien's birthday (Jan. 11, 1934) listed in the American sheets."

Canadian Informer stems from what Oliver describes as "a desire to let Canadians hear about themselves and not always about the rest of the world." He continues, "When I first got into broadcasting, it struck me how little information there was about Canada. The wire services always had stories about a frog jumping contest in Mobile, Alabama, or a Nebraska farm wife who threw her husband into a vat of oil . . . but rarely anything about Saskatchewan, Toronto or anywhere in our country." As Oliver points out, "We got a heavy dose of Americana everyday via TV and movies, why not at least try to balance things out a little? Naturally America's larger population means there are ten times the chance of a good story being available, but still . . . Canada is not a void."

Oliver admits that he always thirsted for more Canadian information, "but it didn't really hit me hard, as to how bad things were, until I heard a Toronto station back in 1977." He goes on to explain, "At the time they had a Sunday morning foreground show with two announcers reading news 'kickers'

CFMK gears up for A Songwriter's Dream

CFMK Radio (Kingston, Ontario) is sponsoring a spring contest, A Songwriter's Dream, which Station Manager Cam Shillington describes as "designed to generate new country material from the composers in our listening community." At the end of the contest, three winners will have their song recorded in Nashville and distributed to country radio across Canada.

Songwriters have been asked to submit material on cassette and initial response "has been overwhelming," says Shillington, continuing with, "Many living room pickers are coming forward with songs they've been working on . . . and the judges are anxious to sit down and wade through the material that is being sent in."

Shillington will take the winners to Nashville to coordinate and produce the session. He has more than twenty years of experience working with some of the best pickers in Nashville.

Shillington points out that CFMK has "long supported the development of local country talent by hosting an annual talent search . . . something we've done since 1977." He continues with, "We intend to continue focusing on encouraging performers," concluding with, "A Songwriter's Dream is a logical extension designed to promote the talents of our songwriting community to the rest of Canada."

Toronto's McClear Place acquires Pathe Sound

Toronto's McClear Place Studios, known for specialized audio recording work in film scores, records and television, recently acquired Pathe Sound from Astral Bellvue Pathe Inc. Pathe Sound, also a Toronto-based company, has made its reputation in post production work for television and feature films. The new division is to be known as McClear Pathe.

Hayward Parrott, Vice President and General Manager of McClear Place, points proudly to the fact that "A producer - for television, feature films, commercials or corporate videos - can talk to this new company about all their music, soundstage and post requirements." He concludes with, "There is no other company in Toronto offering this kind of package."

Part of the purchasing deal includes a long term arrangement to continue to provide post audio services for Astral film and television projects, as well as its related or lighter-side-of-the-news stories, back to back for fifteen minutes or so. Every story I heard originated south of the border. They may have had a token one, but I can't recall hearing a single Canadian-based story. Granted, both the announcers doing the feature were originally from the U.S., and they probably didn't find anything wrong with it . . . but I sure did. I was determined to produce a service that would give Canada, if not equal time, at least a better share of the time than they were getting then."

It was in 1982 when a friend of Oliver's, Craig Henderson, a fellow broadcaster, started a sheet called The Informer. "It ran about two years," recalls Oliver, and Craig finally put it on the shelf while he travelled Europe for six months." As Oliver points out, "the sheet really didn't gain new life until the fall of 1987 when I decided to revive it. Craig, who caught the travel bug, now publishes a successful travel magazine called Great Expeditions, for which he was a finalist for Travel Magazine of the Year Awards held in San Francisco this month."

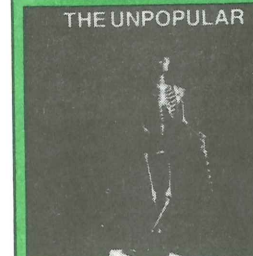

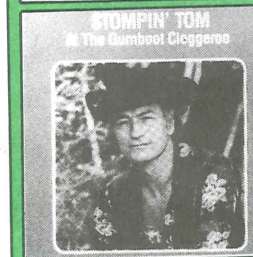

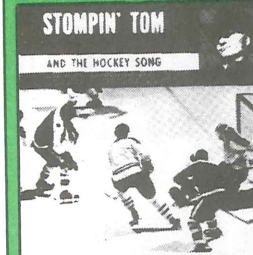

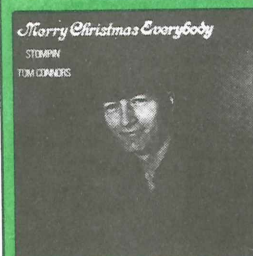

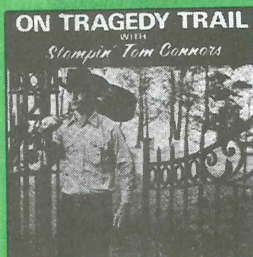

Oliver bought Henderson's reference material, including numerous books, files, and past issues, "and Canadian informer was born," says Oliver, who concludes with, "The goal is to round up more and more Canadiana for publication . . . there still isn't as much Canadian-based information in C.I. as I would like . . . but it's getting there."

ALBUMS

THE TELLING

Pop
Blue Solitaire - Music West - MW-5000

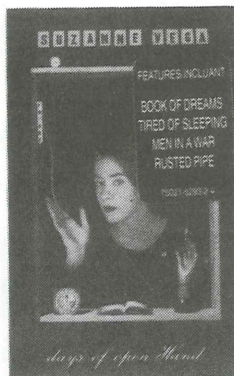

The Telling is the Los Angeles-based duo of Don and Sheri Swanson, and their music is a kind of New Age pop. Blue Solitaire is the aural equivalent of a room full of landscape paintings: gently rolling hills of musical textures mixed from a palette that includes guitars, French horn, cello and oboe mingle with sweet, slightly ethereal vocals. The soothing power of the music is undeniable, and with a bit of a push this could find a home on A/C or alternative radio. Production is by Frosty Horton, who has worked with the likes of George Winston and Professor Longhair. (CD reviewed) -JL

THE GOOD BROTHERS

Country
Live Fast, Love Hard
Savannah - SRL4-9836-P

A family unit together in the business for eighteen years is somewhat of a rarity, but, here they are, The Good Brothers, and very much a family unit. Perhaps that's why they've had so much success over the years. They haven't released any barnburners, but they've always remained at the top of the popularity poll. This release is as close to a barnburner as they've come. Some real hot stuff, including their current charter, Live Fast, Love Hard, Die Young. Some programmers were so anxious to get this album moving, they've jumped on She Told Me So, which was actually the next single anyway, and which may have been released too soon. Also key are Bat Outta Hell and Why Baby Why. There's still that touch of rebel with the Goods and lots of great bluegrass and plain, down-to-earth fun country. (cassette reviewed) -WG

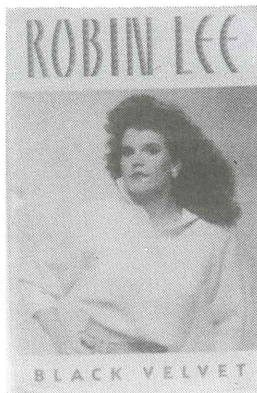

SUZANNE VEGA

Pop
Days Of Open Hand
A&M - CS-75021-5293-4-W

Days Of Open Hand is Suzanne Vega's follow-up album to 1987's Solitude Standing, a surprising smash hit which sold more than three million copies worldwide and spawned the Top Ten single Luka. It's anybody's guess whether Vega will have the same success this time around. On the album she is teamed up with Anton Sanko, who co-wrote, co-produced and plays on many of the tracks. The sound is acoustic-based - although filled out with electric guitar, synthesizers, strings, a range of percussion instruments and snatches of Hammond organ - the lyrics are personal and elliptical and the vocals are winsome. Book Of Dreams, the first single, is the most accessible track with Room Off The Street a potential follow-up. The converted will love the album, while the unconverted will still wonder what all the fuss is about. (cassette reviewed) -JL

ROBIN LEE

Country
Black Velvet
Atlantic - 78-20854-P

Although she was voted Best New Female Vocalist by the CMA in 1986, not too much has been heard of Lee, until her country version of the Alannah Myles hit, Black Velvet, swept across the U.S. and invaded Canada. The album also includes her treatment to Bonnie Raitt's Love Letter. Nice to see the reversal of the usual, two Canadian songwriters (Christopher Ward and David Tyson) breaking into that sacred and well-guarded Nashville clique of writers. As for the rest of the album, nothing too distinctive or exciting. (cassette reviewed) -WG

LOCK UP

Rock
Something Bitchin' This Way Comes
Geffen - M5-24279-P

Album title of the year, without a doubt. As for the contents, this California quartet plays a now-familiar brand of L.A. hard rock/funk. The songs are built around some fairly heavy bass and guitars, the lyrics have a bit of substance and Brian Grillo's vocals can be loud and pugnacious - check out the song 24 Hour Man - or, on tracks like Everywhere I Go It Looks Like Rain and Kiss 17 Goodbye, surprisingly flexible and emotive. An accomplished record which should go over well with fans of the genre. (cassette reviewed) -JL

HARRY CONNICK, JR.

Jazz
Harry Connick Jr.
Columbia - VCK-40702-H

Connick is one of the keyboard geniuses who will stay and stay and stay around for years and years. He won't top the pop charts, because he's not going to get the play he deserves, but on the strength of his recent

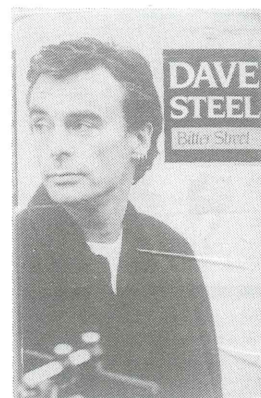

Grammy win, this 1987 debut album for Columbia, at the right price, by the way, should get a better break. There is a great blending of contemporary jazz with New Orleans traditional funk, but performed with a lot of passion and a rare youthfulness, not usually associated with this genre. Key are On Green Dolphin Street, Little Clown and Zealously. (CD reviewed) -WG

LENE LOVICH

Pop
March
Justin Time Records - JTR-8417-2

The Montreal-based Justin Time Records is handling the Canadian release of U.K.-based singer/songwriter Lene Lovich's latest album, which originally appeared on Pathfinder Records in the U.S. Lovich is best remembered for her alternative hit Lucky Number about a dozen years ago. Listening to March is like being transported in a time machine back to 1978: the moody, atmospheric music and Lovich's distinctive, chirrupy vocals just about scream New Wave. The experience is almost otherworldly; it's as if nothing had happened in music since the end of the seventies. Some people, including Lovich's legions of fans, might suggest that this is not a bad thing. One track, Wonderland, was a reasonable dance club success when it was released in the U.S. (CD reviewed) -JL

DAVE STEEL

Folk/Rock
Bitter Street
WEA - 25-66284-P

Dave Steel, lead guitarist for Australian folk/rock ravers Weddings, Parties, Anything, left the band to go solo in 1988. The result is this impressive offering. Bitter Street is a collection of incisive personal/political songs with an attitude similar to an Elvis Costello or a Nick Lowe, but with a strong roots influence: musical styles on the album range from pop and rock through country, blues and folk. Strong violin playing and Steel's affecting vocals serve as unifying threads; with harmonica, mandolin and saxophone adding to the mosaic. The happy result is a musical potpourri which treats formats with a healthy disregard. Highlights include Truckin', Bossa Nova, Never Let Me Go, The News, the countryish Let Her Ride and the searing title track. (cassette reviewed) -JL

Perras tours with Williams

Anita Perras and her band will open for three dates on the upcoming tour by Don Williams. North Bay's Memorial Gardens is up first (April 20), followed by the Memorial Gardens in Sault Ste Marie (22), and the Community Auditorium in Thunder Bay (23). The dates are in support of her current Savannah solo album debut, Touch My Heart. A third single, Here Comes My Baby,

BX-93 Song becomes Sunshine fund raiser

The BX-93 Song, written and performed by the station's morning personality Michael Dee, was initially written as a thirty second television commercial. However, as the station's Program Director, Ian McCallum points out, the commercial has turned into "a full length song that we hope will prove to be a major fund raiser for the Sunshine Foundation of Canada."

The song garnered "tremendous success", says McCallum, during its two month television campaign. "So much so," he continues, "that the entire tune was pressed and is now on sale to raise funds for the Sunshine Foundation." The original intent had been to run a series of television commercials based on Dee's song.

The Sunshine Foundation of Canada is a wholly independent organization dedicated to fulfilling the dreams of terminally and seriously ill and physically disabled children. More than one thousand children across Canada have had their dreams fulfilled by the organization.

The BX-93 Song is now on sale at the station and at station hosted events. Fifty cents from each record sale will go to the Sunshine Foundation. McCallum concludes with, "This is our way of ensuring a chance for special children to capture memories to last a lifetime."

is now being charted nationally.
