CRIA's Brian Robertson unhappy with CRTC

Brian Robertson, president of the Canadian Recording Industry Association (CRIA), recently spoke at the CRTC hearings in Ottawa regarding the Cogeco and Shaw applications for digital broadcasting licenses.

Robertson, representing the music and recording industries which is on the whole opposed to the applications, spoke urgently about these issues, and how the approval of such an application would prove deadly to the industry in the long term.

Robertson began by stating the industry's stand on the cable applications.

"The Shaw and Cogeco applications have been opposed by the Canadian music and recording industries since the first filing dates," he noted, adding that "this issue is too important to our industry."

Robertson went on to outline the economic grounding of the Cogeco and Shaw companies. "The economic base of both applications is the importation of US services. The so-called Canadian content levels are an artificial element that have been transparently grafted on to satisfy the demands of the Commission. If there were no Canadian content regulations in this country, the Cancon levels in these applications would be negligible."

One of his primary concerns with the applications is the lack of viable, real-world Cancon on these channels, which he feels will instead offer standard Canadian programming.

"The majority of the so-called Canadian channels have been tacked on to the applications with virtually no apparent thought for their programming appeal. (Shaw) seems to naively believe that by dumping in a mish-mash of incompatible music styles by new artists that it will find an effective audience. The 'narrowcasting' appeal of the US services, that is to say focused music styles aimed at specific audiences, seems to have been entirely overlooked by the Shaw 'programmers'."

While not opposing the importation of American product, Robertson noted that "the Canadian content levels, in our opinion, should ideally be blended with the programming of the original US services in order to maximise the potential audiences for our artists." In this, he implies that a compatible mix of American and Canadian programming can bring on-line an effective channel.

Another crucial issue he dealt with was licensing privileges and what will effect a decrease in the sales of prerecorded music.

"Why, for goodness sake, when you have a choice of dedicated channels of jazz and classical and country and instrumental and virtually every other musical taste, all delivered in digital stereo sound with no commercials 24 hours a day, would you ever want to but another recording?"

"Shaw has not offered any meaningful remuneration for rights' owners," he added. "While Cogeco acknowledges the existence of reproduction rights for sound recordings, neither of the applicants appears to have absorbed the fact that they will have to obtain the permission of the rights' owners of sound recordings before they can reproduce them."

His concluding comments reiterated these views. "Our view on these applications is that the artificial addition of Canadian content channels to a primarily US service is nothing more than an attempt to circumvent the Canadian broadcasting policy."

"I cannot stress enough the significance to us of the introduction of digital cable radio in an environment that does not include copyright protection and appropriate payment mechanisms for our industry."

OWA SAYS

with Elvira Caprese

A clean slate . . . ? Wow! Hot news at radio. Was it the clash of titans or personalities? The stories are beginning, and, depending on who you believe, it wasn't a very pretty sight. From the beginning, it was obvious this wasn't a marriage that was going anywhere. We could hear a lot more from the turfed titan, but don't hold your breath. This kind of thing is happening with more regularity in radio, but we only hear about it when a high-profile station is involved. (EC: Old rock n' roll jocks just fade away . . . !)

Turf war on hold . . . ? Those other two titans, or pariahs, have called time out, or at least one has. Here's another case of a personality clash and the boss winning out. In the meantime, the borders were left unguarded, not to mention the client list, so watch for some fireworks. It could get very dirty. (EC: They like it that way . . . !)

A great country weekend . . . ! At the end of May, RPM will again present the Big Country events that have been so successful over the past 17 years. On May 27, we work with Variety to salute the awards at a luncheon, and on May 29, the Big Country Awards banquet takes place at the Harbour Castle Convention Centre. Again this year, CBC television will tape the awards for airing on the entire network at 8 pm on Monday, May 30. The Sunday night event continues to be the country music industry night of the year. It starts at 7 pm with a cocktail party sponsored by RPM Weekly (host bar) and goes on from there. Voting ballots will be mailed out Monday May 9 to all RPM subscribers and the winners will be tabulated and announced at the awards show on Sunday May 29. Be sure to vote, and book now for the awards. Last year was a sellout. (EC: And what a night it was. Absolute casual elegance . . . !) Casual chic!

Hey! 80% Cancon . . . ? What would you think if someone told you that a major market station could be programming 80% Cancon . . . and win? I remember Sam Sniderman boasting a few years ago that he could make a comfortable living out of stocking only Cancon records. He never has, but nevertheless, he said he could, and that's good enough for me. Now about this 80% Cancon. Are you listening CRTC? Ron Robinson, a broadcast consultant and one with a few years in the trenches, says it can be done. We'll publish his "how-to" next week. (EC: This I gotta read . . . !)

Barry Manilow survives . . . ! I think someone forgot to tell Barry Manilow's two sold-out Pantages Theatre audiences that he was all washed up. Now, at 47, the star of the late '70s with the big hits like Mandy, I Write The Songs and Can't Smile Without You, displayed an amazing amount of energy. He danced and bounced from his piano to centre stage and back with that same showbiz precision and respect for his audience that got him into the business in the first place. Nice to see a legend who knows what he's doing and does it so professionally. (EC: There aren't many left . . . !)

A great year for the Mirvi . . . ! A special performance of Miss Saigon will be mounted at the Princess Of Wales Theatre on May 10 to mark the first anniversary of this history-making musical. The Canadian production opened with the largest advance ticket sales in Canadian history and recouped its $12 million production cost in just 23 weeks, a record. That's the good news, but here's something better for the chest-thumping nationalists to thump about. Kevin McIntyre, a Winnipegger who understudied Chris the American GI, has now taken on that role. (EC: Ain't this a great business . . . ?)

Keep them in the cages . . . ! When you take some of these comedians out of their cages to the big stage, you better know what you're doing. I saw one recently who opened for an act that attracted a fairly young crowd. The guy was pretty funny, until he got into his club routine. It was a good thing there was a 20-minute intermission. It gave some of the parents and their kids a bit of a cooling-off period. (EC: You can't tell a comedian by the colour of his shorts . . . !)

Steve Thomson on a roll . . . ! Steve Thomson, an incredible promoter of Canadian talent, has locked into an unbelievable multicultural musical extravaganza that dwarfs anything he, or any other concert promoter has ever done in this country. He's bringing the entire Musikanten Stadl to Toronto this month, along with 5,000 fans. Air Canada and Toronto hotel managers should be happy. Ronnie Hawkins will co-host the show with Karl Moik. The show will feature an impressive line-up of Canadian talent, including two-time Grammy-winner Walter Ostanek, Canada's own "polka king", The Goods, Stampedeers, Canadian Kids, and The Leahy Family. The icing on the cake is that the show is expected to bring more than $18 million in tourist bucks to Toronto. (EC: I'm dusting off my leather shorts . . . !)

PART ONE: Are singles making a comeback? - by Ron Rogers

Retailers plan to support CD Singles initiative

Singles are nothing new. In the '50s and '60s, singles took priority over albums. Folks in those days were more likely to spend two or three dollars on a bunch of the latest hit 45's than they would on the latest album.

But that was then, and this is now. The 45 was quietly eased out of existence over five years ago. And contemporary hit radio hasn't truly existed in this country for almost as long. So why come up with an initiative to promote the rebirth of the single?

By pushing singles, the industry is hoping that young radio listeners will fork out the $3.99 to buy hit songs. And from that, these

by Tim Evans

Ah Reba! Ah Reba! Reba McEntire is off to the best start of her career. Read My Mind has the highest entry on the Albums chart as it debuts at #19. That's the highest position ever for one of her albums.

Letterman's fave. Love her or hate her, there is no debating the success of Madonna. I'll Remember is now the #3 song in Canada and could become her 13th #1 hit. She is by far the most successful female artist of the past 30 years. Name the others who make up the five most successful female artists in RPM history.

Back with a bang. The first release from the new Jon Secada album has the top add. If You Go enters the Hit Tracks chart at #70. Secada's first album yielded four songs which hit the top five: Just Another Day, Do You Believe In Us, Angel and I'm Free.

The Boz man. The song with the biggest jump is Some Change by Boz Scaggs. It has been quite a while since Scaggs was last on the chart. In 1988, he reached #25 with Heart Of Mine. You have to go a long way back for Scaggs first charted song. We Were Always Sweethearts peaked at #40 in May of 1971.

A comeback tour? What the heck? Everyone else is doing it! OK, maybe that's stretching things just a bit, but Jimi Hendrix is back on the Albums chart. Hendrix' Blues enters the chart at #30.

Floyd stays atop. Pink Floyd maintains its spot atop the Albums chart for the fourth week. Even vinyl LPs of The Division Bell are selling. David Boyle, of Sam's Bayer's Road store in Halifax, reports that he ordered 10 vinyl imports of the album and nine of them sold in the first week. After Pink Floyd, here are the remainder of the 10 best-selling albums in that store. 2. Reba McEntire 3. Rhythm, Country & Blues 4. Rawlins Cross 5. Ace Of Base 6. John McDermott 7. Randy Travis 8. Zhané 9. Counting Crows 10. Hole.

The leading ladies. Madonna tops the list as the most successful female artist of the past 30 years. The rest of the top five are in this order: Olivia Newton-John, Mariah Carey, Anne Murray and Whitney Houston.

young consumers will graduate into serious music buyers.

Jason Sniderman of Roblans is all for it, but is still dubious of whether or not it will fly.

"It can't hurt. I hope it flies without encroaching on the album sales. They're aiming at kids clearly because the price is low and the packaging is pretty generic, so it's just for the music."

Sniderman feels the obvious merit of the project is to aid the promotion of new artists, something that has been lacking somewhat in this '70s revival era of pop radio.

"They're trying to recreate marketing schemes from the early '60s, which is admirable because the only vehicle they're looking at for a lot of new bands is either in-store play or some kind of underground exposure. New bands aren't getting exposure on radio and the video channels have tightened up their playlists dramatically.

"The fact that they've shortened up the price is great, but whether or not the customer will respond is anyone's guess."

HMV's Paul Alofs concurs with Sniderman regarding the singles' ability to promote new artists, but also believes it could help catalogue artists.

"They have a number of old catalogue artists that there is still a very strong market for and people want to buy - it could be a younger buyer who hasn't heard the older catalogue artists, or an older buyer who wants to add these songs to their collection.

"By bringing the price down to where we'll be able to sell this thing, I think it makes it a more mainstream vehicle for a lot more consumers, not just DJ's."

One of the recurring thoughts echoed by record companies is that singles sales could take away from albums sales, especially if consumers are able to get one or two hits on one disc. But Alofs disagrees with that argument.

"A lot of record companies believe that singles will cannibalize sales from the album release later, but I don't think there's been any research done that proves that. Frankly, I think a couple of singles at a good price will only help establish new artists."

But what is the main purpose of the single? Is it to sell hits, or is it to promote artists? And how can there be a substantial singles market when only one or two companies are on-board the initiative?

"It's strictly a promotional tool," says Saturn Distributing's Leonard Kennedy. "I think it's priced right, and the important thing is that they get more from the rest of the companies. That's the only way to make it successful - a wider spread of CD singles."

Kennedy, however, won't be jumping the gun on singles just yet, noting "I would only get into it provided there was a full range of singles from all the other companies."

One of the contentions from those denouncing the initiatives is that the kids being targeted are simply going to borrow their friends' albums and tape the songs they like.

"If kids are going to home tape then so be it, they've been doing it since 45's have been around."

Tim Baker of Sunrise Records agrees with Kennedy in regards to home taping. He's not ready to swallow CRIA's line regarding the devastating effects of home taping.

"I have never subscribed to that theory. It's just my opinion, but I don't think it's happening out there the way they say it is. I don't buy the CRIA line, but of course, I don't buy anything CRIA says."

And what of the retail singles chart? The logical question that demands to be answered is how can you have a retail singles chart when 80-90 per cent of hit songs are never released as singles?

"I think the retail singles chart should be dropped, especially in this part of the country. We've only got one top 40 station, and none of the singles are available at retail. I certainly don't pay any attention to that chart."

Baker, who could never be accused of being at a loss for words regarding singles or CRIA, was less than enamoured with the generic advertising slogan the association came up with for the singles initiative.

"They came up with this wonderful slogan and campaign and were not going to use it, because it stinks.

"There's someone in this office, Andrew Trace, who came up with the slogan Music - Bring It On Home. I think that's great, and I bounced it off several record company people and they thought it was great, so we submitted it to CRIA, and they went with Music - For All It's Worth. It has a negative connotation, it sounds like they're saying Music - For What It's Worth. These people just have no idea what's going on, but that's just my opinion."

Like the others, however, Baker does agree with the general consensus regarding the initiative - no harm, no foul. But one wonders whether a lone record company (PolyGram) issuing four dollar singles will buck a trend that has persisted for years.

Cassette singles were supposed to revive singles sales, but they have not adequately replaced the vinyl market. If CD singles are to thrive, there must be industry wide support for them, not just from PolyGram and CRIA. Otherwise, the CD single will be just another half-hearted marketing initiative, and the consumer won't buy it if they know the industry's heart isn't in it.

Toronto talk giant CFRB has announced the departure of station manager Roy Hennessey, with no immediate announcement of a successor. Hennessey could not be reached for comment.

Telemedia has put in a purchase offer for Country 59, with the broad range plans being to move the all-sports network The Fan (currently at 1430 on the dial) to the 590 frequency. However according to Country 59's Al Campagnola, everything being discussed is still in the rumour stage. "The deal with Rogers buying Maclean Hunter hasn't been approved yet. Obviously, Rogers can't own 680 News, Country 59, CFNY and CHFI, so they have found potential buyers for the two stations. Shaw has agreed in principal to buy CFNY, and Telemedia has a purchase offer for us that Rogers has agreed to. But it's going to be close to the end of the year before the CRTC has a chance to look at everything."

Speaking of The Fan, rumour has it that the Toronto Maple Leafs brass are seriously shopping around for a new flagship station. The Leaf organization isn't too happy about constantly being bumped in favour of the Blue Jays. Apparently it's written into the Jays contract with Telemedia that baseball games

Lethbridge's CKRX 1090 Rocks had a large hand in saving the local university hockey team, and sent along information on this rags-to-riches story. Seems the University Of Lethbridge made plans to cut back on funding to all athletic programs at the school, with the men's hockey team, the Pronghorns, being the first targeted. CKRX went into action, organizing various fundraising events to save the team, including celebrity waiter night at a local club, a 'fill 'er up' promotion at Gas King, and finally, an 18-hour radio telethon on January 19th, with players manning the phones and ticket packages to the team's home games being offered to listeners. A number of high profile athletes and coaches called in from across North America to pledge support, including Calgary Flames coach Dave King, CBC hockey analyst Harry Neale and Team Canada coaches George Kingston and Tom Renney. The beauty of it is that not only was the team saved, but the Pronghorns went on to win the Canadian University championship this past April.

Vancouver's CFOX has finally determined the winners of the station's unique Show Us Your Larry And Willy contest. Station listeners Stephanie Bosanko and Tara Sansom displayed some serious hard work and creativity in putting together some imaginative ways of displaying the words Larry & Willy On 99.3 The Fox. These ideas included: sewing the words onto a huge banner, which was flanked by two life-sized Larry & Willy dolls, and displaying the banner at almost every hockey game, concert and public event in Vancouver over a five week span; dressing up like bunnies and handing out Easter eggs, each attached to a Larry & Willy sign; creating dozens of small picket signs which were distributed throughout the Lower Mainland and on their travels in Japan, Hong Kong and Thailand. The independent judging panel awarded Bosanko and Sansom the $10,000 grand prize, over a number of other great entries. The station also awarded 11 runner-up prizes of $100, and daily $99.30 spotters fees, to listeners who called in and reported where they had seen contest displays.

Canto Gregoriano hits gold in just five weeks

After only five weeks of release, the EMI Music album Canto Gregoriano: The Best Of Gregorian Chant has reached gold status in Canada. The album has already bulletted to #7 on the RPM Albums chart.

The two CD recording has achieved worldwide sales of more than 2.5 million. The chants, recorded by the monks of Santo Domingo de Silos in Spain, have attracted fans of all ages. Consumers purchasing the album range from 15-75, with the heaviest slant in the 16-25 demographic, indicating the immense popularity of this unique product.

Profits from the project will be divided, with 90% going to charities and 10% to the church.

Denon release smash 'symbol' single in Canada

Denon Canada will release domestically the surprising smash single The Most Beautiful Girl In The World and The Beautiful Experience EP from the artist with a symbol for a name (once known as Prince).

The single has rocketed up North American charts, but, because of a loophole in his contract with Warner, is released on the independent NPG/Bellmark label. It currently sits at #22 with a bullet on RPM's Hit Tracks chart.

Re-Bop Records off and running with new releases

Re-Bop Records, a label headed by Stephen McArthur out of Marshfield, Vermont, recently released five specialty titles.

Rik Barron, a children's performer based in Newfoundland, bows with his release A Sock Full Of Songs from the Odd Sock Kid Show. 10 traditional folksongs and four originals are included. In 1993, he was named one of Newfoundland's top two traditional musicians by The Newfoundland Herald and its readers.

Three of the cassettes comprise the oldies for kids series, released on A&M. Oldies For Kool Kiddies, The Re-Bops: Raised On Rock N' Roll, and Funny 50's and Silly 60's all feature songs from the early years of rock n'roll that children can sing along to.

The fifth release is Daddy's Lullabies, and includes lyrical and instrumental versions of both traditional and original lullabies suitable for dads around the world.

McArthur is also in the midst of completing a 30 videocassette collection of world traditional music and dance for the Smithsonian Institution and the Victor Company of Japan. Barron and Dave Panting will be included in this collection performing a traditional Canadian maritime song.

IN THE CLUBS

by Craig Thompson

Ontario Place just announced its concert lineup for the summer series at the Forum. Once again, CFNY's Edgefest will take place on July 1, and while most of the focus will be on the mainstage, the acts for the Island Club Stage is intriguing, to say the least, and definitely worth the time of A&R reps. The list of bands includes grunge-pop act Bender, UIC, warped Sabbathified rockers Grasshopper, even more warped party masters Project 9, incomparable two-piece band Inbreds, post-punk angels Venus Cures All, Wooden Stars, and London, Ontario Batman wannabe's Adam West.

I've received a number of calls this week regarding the group Crawl. The Toronto-based foursome is making a strong bid locally with club dates around the city. The group has already received some strong press support from Now, M.E.A.T. (which, by coincidence only, has killer guitarist Stuart Green on staff) and Eye Weekly. Crawl's music lies in that blurry area between punk, metal and the loose term alternative. Its first full-length release, 300 Yards OffFace, combines the raging entries from the Norton EP with five newer tunes.

A spy at The Hanson Brothers show (April 30) at Lee's Palace reports a roaring good punk rock time, with highlights including bassist Rob Wright wailing a huge gob of spit into the face of his fellow Hanson on guitar. If that ain't punk, I don't know what is. The Hanson's have just released the definitive hockey rock collection Puck Rock Vol. 1 compilation on Wrong Records, a true feast for all Canadian couch potato hockey critics.

Denon keeps its strong repertoire of 'alternative' music going with the latest release from American act Codeine, The White Birch. Seeing the group open for Pavement a while back was an enlightening experience, and made me realize that forceful, in your face music can be made at mesmerizingly slow speeds. It is called slowcore, and for adventurous programmers and listeners, Codeine offers a healthy respite from the majority of music out of the alternative trash can that has recently been released. Codeine is perhaps the most original rock group currently recording, and it continues to go out on a limb with its refreshing look at electronic sound textures.

Attic Records has signed a new act called Hokus Pick. The group hails from Vancouver and stations such as CFNY and the late Coast 1040 Vancouver gave the band some airplay, accelerating some major underground networking. The new album is called Brothers From Different Mothers (now there's truth in advertising) and the lead single, shipped to radio and video May 2, is Bye Bye Bye. A tour begins in Windsor May 12 and wraps in Nanaimo, B.C. June 6. I called Kevin Shea for a soundbyte, and he gave me a soundparagraph that included the mention of the 26-day, 26-date tour in venues the size of Danforth Music Hall, and described the music as "pop/modern rock, hook-filled, and edgy, with campus potential." Look for the foursome on your computer bulletin boards and endorsing Bugle Boys Jeans.

Six-year veterans of Edmonton's underground scene, The Imagineers, have just released a new disc recorded with Cecil English. The group has outlasted most other bands in the city, and Cargo Records has corralled the new release for distribution. It includes mostly older recordings from precious demo tapes, etc., but played the way they would now in 1994. Want a soundbyte for The Imagineers? How about this, from Derrick Denholm in the Raw Alternatives section of Edmonton's See Magazine: 'Their new numbers will avail themselves to you with a foundation-shifting staccato and entangling guitar impossibilities, ribalding bass sweat, and vocals which are pure and stripped to hopefulness...' Awesome.

From the same source comes news of two compilations to be available in the near future. An Edmonton CD, Edmonton Produce, will be released on Green Pepper Records and will feature 24 tracks from 17 bands including Egg, The Greyhound Tragedy, The All Woman Brothers' Band, and Drool. From Calgary on Sloth/Porn Star Records is the follow-up Calgary compilation to the Bloodbath CD. No bands yet, but rest assured Calgary locals will be lining up to get on this, as hometown comps are becoming more and more prestigious.

Moist has cancelled a number of tour dates as singer David Usher's good health has not returned to him as fast as was anticipated. Dates dropped include a show at Music West (May 14) and shows from the COCA conference in Halifax (May 24) up to Moist's June 1 gig at the Zaphod Beeblebrox in Ottawa.

Cleveland, of all places, is holding its annual Undercurrents '94 International Music Expo (May 19-21) at The Agora Theatre. Bands showcasing from Ontario includes UIC, Coma Toast, Anyhowtown, Project 9, and Blue Dog Pict. For more information regarding contacts etc., BENTertainment is handling registration etc. Having never been to Cleveland, I can't promise you what surprises may be in store.

On Tour

by Ron Rogers

The Rolling Stones rumours are finally confirmed. The "world's greatest rock n' roll band" will be hitting Toronto August 19 and 20 at Exhibition Stadium. The group will be promoting its upcoming new album, Voodoo Lounge. Of course, the band will be without longtime bassist Bill Wyman, who departed the group last year to spend time with his family. Former Sting and Miles Davis bassist Darryl Jones will replace Wyman on this tour. The Stones will also bring along keyboard player Chuck Leavell. Opening act for the Toronto shows will be Stone Temple Pilots. Opening for the pre-Toronto shows will be Counting Crows, and post-Toronto it will be Lenny Kravitz. There are rumours that the band will arrive in Toronto later this month to rehearse what should be a massive show at a Pearson Airport hangar. Mick Jagger also confirmed yesterday that the band will not be performing at the proposed Woodstock II Festival set for August. Jagger noted that the band wasn't asked to the first one, and thus won't be going to this one.

The Joel/John show should be arriving in Toronto this summer as well, with details still to be worked out. A likely venue is Exhibition Stadium, as part of the CNE summer lineup.

The Rankin Family, fresh from a European tour, is set for Toronto's Massey Hall June 9.

Pearl Jam had been one of the hot rumours for the concert set this summer, but it may stay a rumour for a while longer. Apparently lead singer Eddie Vedder took fellow grungy Kurt Cobain's death pretty hard, and wants nothing to do with live gigs, for now anyway. The band apparently has an album load of acoustic material ready, but nothing has been confirmed in regards to a potential album release.

MCA Concerts Canada announced this summer's Ontario Place Forum Lineup at a media reception on Tuesday May 3. The schedule kicks off with a triple bill of James, Slowdive and Gigolo Aunts (May 20). That concert is followed by: the Neville Brothers featuring Aaron Neville (June 6); Rita MacNeil (9); Moody Blues with a 55-piece symphony orchestra (13); Patti LaBelle (15); CFNY's Edgefest, featuring Wild Strawberries, Lost Dakotas, Moist, The Watchmen, Lemonheads, The Proclaimers and numerous others (July 1); Reggae Sunsplash '94 (3), featuring Steel Pulse, Maxi Priest, Marcia Griffiths and others; The Gipsy Kings (5); Indigo Girls (7); Little Richard (12); Colin James & The Little Big Band (15); Roch Voisine (21); Tom Jones (22); Everly Brothers with Blue Shadows (August 2); Back To The Future (9), featuring '70s veterans Don McLean, Al Stewart, Steve Forbert, Tom Rush and Jonathan Edwards; Tanya Tucker (11); Sarah McLachlan for two shows (19-20); Blues Music Festival '94 (24) featuring B.B. King, Dr. John and Little Feat. The summer will be rounded out by two festivals. Reggae Summerfest '94 will take place August 28, featuring Freddie McGregor, Tony Rebel, Judy Mowat and Michael Rose. And the second annual Kumbaya Festival (September 4) to benefit Aids awareness.

Ontario Place to offer a potpourri of activities

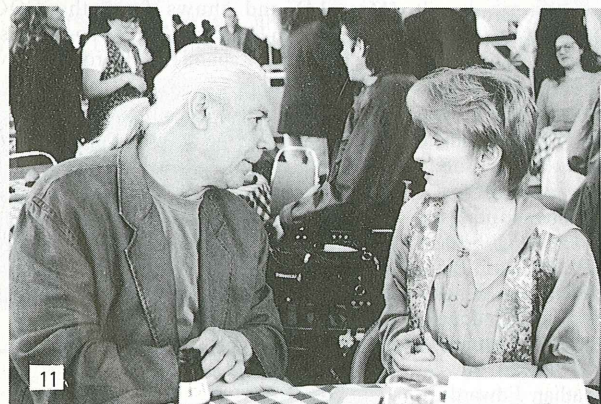

Ontario Place will rock, pop and roll this summer with a wide-range of entertainment activity. The Forum, which is still standing, despite its announced demolition last year, will once again be the primary focus during the five-month period.

MCA Concerts Canada has firmed an impressive lineup of headline acts for the Forum. Opening the season on May 20, will be James, Slowdive and Gigolo Aunts. Roch Voisine, who recently scored three sold-out concerts at Toronto's Massey Hall, is slated for a July 21 date. ALBUMS

JOHNNY CASH -Country
American Recordings
American-45520-P

Contrary to some industry opinion, Johnny Cash, the Opry-bashing country legend, the man in black whose walk tells a thousand stories, has returned with an extraordinary set. It would have been presumptuous to assume Cash would make an album akin to releases by his Warner companions Randy Travis, J.M. Montgomery, Clay Walker et al. The vision of American Recordings offers only Cash and his trusty guitar: no frills, no spills, just a whole mess of masterful storytelling. Cash is possessed with one of the most recognizable and deep voices in popular music, and he makes these stories of prisons, redemption and men who can't cry come frighteningly to life. The crisp production by Rick Rubin brings wrenching and brilliant covers like Leonard Cohen's Bird On A Wire, Danzig's(?) Thirteen and Tom Waits' Down There By The Train, in addition to Cash originals, to the level of which only Cash is capable. I can't wait to see what country radio does with this one (and don't be surprised if some adventurous modern rock programmers pick up the suddenly-hip Cash). American should be applauded for releasing this album which proves once and for all that Johnny Cash is still a daring original, and American Recordings, his heart-bleeding, soul-wrenching portrayal of the dying American songwriting tradition, is the album of the year. -CT

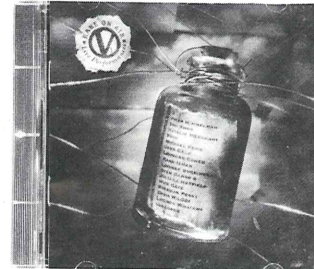

URBAN COOKIE COLLECTIVE -Dance
Hill On A Happy Vibe
Pulse 8/Quality-2053

Another strong contender for chart action from Quality is this set. This is the full-length album spawned in part from the massive success of the club mega-hit The Key, The Secret, and its title says a lot about the feel-good nature of the album. The next two singles, Feels Like Heaven and Sail Away, are key tracks here and are getting significant adds across the country in key markets. Some other favourites are Walk Right On, Dreaming In Colours and Worldwide Reunion, which is reminiscent of SSQ's Screaming In My Pillow. Track 8, Bring It On Home, could succeed, with its dub-pop-reggae feel, in the same airwaves and clubs as Ace Of Base. Hidden Land, with 808 State overtones, is dance worthy as well. A good full-length dance album. -CT

SUSAN AGLUKARK -Folk/Country
Arctic Rose
EMI-28605-F

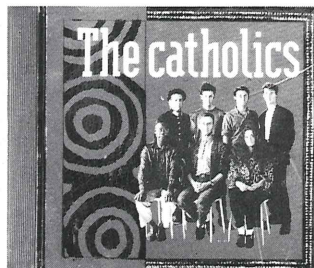

Over the last couple of years, roots music in this country has overtaken the airwaves, to the point where record companies have been stumbling over one another in their haste to sign the next Rankin Family or Kashtin. The latest find in the aboriginal vein is this 27 year-old singer/songwriter from the Northwest Territories community of Arivat. Aglukark recorded this album on her own Aglukark Entertainment label back in '92, and managed sales of 15,000. Two years later, Aglukark has picked up some heavy backing from EMI, who are doing some serious promotion for this artist. And it should pay off, as Aglukark is a vocalist of rare talent. The songwriting here is solid, with Aglukark being aided in the process by the likes of Charlie Major, Randall Prescott and Barry Brown. But it is her singing that clearly sets this album apart. Her soft falsetto takes a good song and makes it exceptional. Highlight tracks include the current hit, Song Of The Land, the title track, Wanderin' Child and a beautiful version of Amazing Grace. Produced by two country veterans, Randall Prescott and Chad Irschick. -RR

RARE ON AIR -Alternative/AC
(Live Performances Volume I)
Various Artists
Attic Records-0074-J

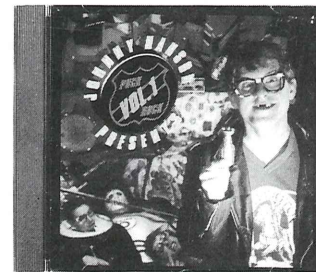

I guess you could call this a variation on an Unplugged theme. Santa Monica radio station KCRW has assembled some of the best performances from its Morning Becomes Eclectic show, all of which were taped live to air. So nothing has been dubbed and nothing, wrong notes, closing doors, sneezes etc., has been edited. The album opens with a poem from Leonard Cohen, blending right into Tori Amos doing a beautiful piano/vocal piece entitled Silent All These Years. The album features a lot of artists who will probably never have an unplugged album (John Cale, Peter Dinklage, Nick Cave and Beck), along with some whose music is ideal for this type of environment (Natalie Merchant, Lucinda Williams, David Wilcox and Michael Penn). I suppose I've given myself away here, but if you're looking for highlights, check out the oft-underrated Penn with an original entitled Coal, Merchant's How You've Grown, and a wonderfully subdued Wilcox on a beautiful little ode to a legend entitled Chet Baker's Unsung Swan Song. An intriguing package, that offers rare insight into some underpublicized artists. -RR

THE CATHOLICS -Jazz/Worldbeat
The Catholics
Terra Nova Records-9005-H

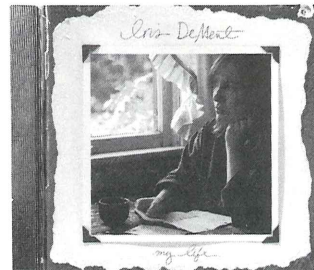

If there is one thing that defines Australian music, it's the unmistakable individualistic sound. Being so far removed from the rest of the world, the land down under really doesn't attach itself to any particular style or beat. While Canadians can often be accused of imitating our brethren to the south, or the British, Australians seem to have found a sound all their own, and they're not giving away any secrets. This peculiar seven-member ensemble from Sydney has created a sound that is truly all its own. Terra Nova Records in California classifies the record as jazz/worldbeat, which suits it just fine. Just don't ask us to expand on that much further. What the record does demonstrate is a group of talented musicians, obviously with a jazz background, combining a number of divergent influences and coming up with a unique piece of work. I don't know when you'd listen to this album, just listen to it. It'll grow on you. -RR

JOHNNY HANSON PRESENTS -Punk
Puck Rock Volume 1
Wrong Records

Puckheads of the world unite!!! Wrong Records out of Vancouver delivers this just in time for the NHL playoffs. There's a puck/punk classic here for all of your favourite Leafs (or whatever other pathetic team you fancy). For all you Joe Murphy fans there's the appropriate Joe Murphy by Wheat Chiefs; Glenn Ford & The Piers ask What's Wrong With Lumme?; Bombshells pick a shot in Through the Five Hole; Aging Youth Gang poignantly asks you to Pull Your Goalie; Smugglers laughingly claim the Canucks will take Our Stanley Cup; Muscle Bitches make a pitch for an all-woman's league with She Devils On Skates; Huevos Rancheros sadly sing Gump Worsley's Lament; Sweaters wrongly claim Hockey Sucks; Joey Shithead and Cub shout out on Pencil Neck Geek 'pencil neck geek what a freak/goal suckin' peahed with a lousy physique'; and Hanson Brothers end this x-cellent die-hard hockey slash n'roll collection with I'm Gonna Play Hockey. I could go on and on about the Canadian metaphor that is hockey, but I'd rather just leave it at this: GILMOUR RULES!!! -CT

IRIS DEMENT -Folk/Country
My Life
Warner Bros.-45493-P

DeMent is a Kansas City native, who first caught the attention of Warner Records with her debut release on Philo/Rounder Records in Nashville entitled Infamous Angel. Warner re-released the album, gave it some national promotion and DeMent eventually found some live spots opening up for the likes of John Prine and Mary Chapin-Carpenter. This new release should get the full attention of the label's marketing department, since it's one of the better records to come out of the Nashville scene in quite a while. DeMent tends to be labelled a country singer/songwriter, due to where she's from, but her music has as much foundation in folk as anything else. The songs are insightful and in some ways autobiographical, reflecting the hard times DeMent experienced growing up on a farm in Arkansas as a child. Highlight tracks include Childhood Memories, the title track, No Time To Cry and Easy's Gettin' Harder Every Day really don't need any salesmanship. One listen gives you all you need to buy this one. -RR

TOMMY EMMANUEL -Instrumental
The Journey
Epit-57865-H

Guitarist Emmanuel has learned from the masters, in particular Chet Atkins, and he conveys everything he's learned in this comprehensive instrumental package that covers everything from country to rock to jazzy blues. An Australian native, Emmanuel handles the guitar with an ease and dexterity rarely seen among new and upcoming artists. Being an instrumentalist, he may get pigeonholed into the back basements of retail, which would be a shame, because this is really a diversely entertaining album, worthy of mainstream airplay in the same way that Dave Stewart and Candy Dulfer were (remember Lily Was Here?). Atkins makes a cameo appearance, added his virtuosity to the beautiful Vill Anita. Other highlights include Trailin' The Invisible Man, the title track and the album's strongest track, the sad and sensual If Your Heart Tells You To. -RR

FIFTH COLUMN -Alternative
36C
K Records-9015-Denon

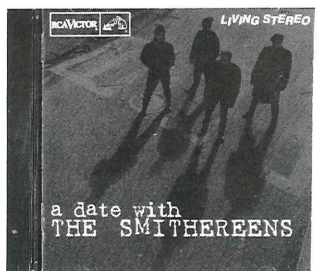

These Canadian ultra-vixens made me wary when All Woman Are Bitches: Repeat, the classic 1992 single re-released on Fifth Column's third LP

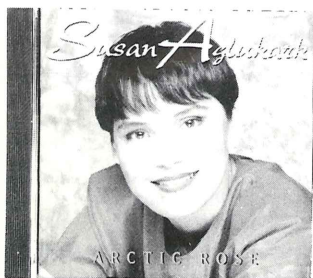

36C, opens with this: 'which are more dangerous, men or guns? Both are dangerous but only a man can kill you... or at least try.' Fifth Column, the legendary underground trio that comes with 7" and indie compilation credentials and is signed to Beat Happening's K Records, follow their own kind of feminist-meets-Ramones version of reality, with equal jabs at the evil that men do as well as at themselves. Think Shonen Knife, The Breeders, Hole, and locals Venus Cures All as loose comparisons. The production here is semi-lo-fi, the songs college-radio inspired, and the attitude drips with urban black humour spiced with a dash of camp (the elka organ on a number of tracks or the cheese of Don't are fine examples.) The lyrics rise up and grab your brain, though Caroline Azar's delivery is understated. Want proof? From Your Love Glows In The Dark: 'your love glows in the dark once your hate falls apart.' You laugh unwillingly. A fine pillar in Denon's quest to rule the real 'alternative' market. -CT

THE SMITHEREENS -Rock
A Date With The Smithereens
RCA-07863 66391-2-N

Guitar bands are not a rarity these days. Good ones, however, are like finding needles in a haystack. The Smithereens is one of these precious needles. There is something about the way they can match the tone of the lyrics to the tone of the music with unwavering consistency that is appealing to radio and fans alike. The third song, Miles From Nowhere, is indicative of this. The chord changes and jarring yet familiar wall of guitar seem to sing the 'it was miles from nowhere' lyric. Bands with such a persistent vision are rare. If you are familiar with The Smithereens sound, A Date With... offers much the same, with any number of tracks, including War For My Mind, Love Is Gone and the hilarious Gotti ('you'll never see his kind again/free John Gotti/free John Gotti now') as possible earmarks for radio. -CT

The Goods are back and they have a hit out of the gate. The trio's long-awaited album, So Many Roads, gets pre-promotion with the release of the first single, That's What Highways Are For. This is the most added single this week and enters the chart at #72. The Goods haven't had an album released since 1990. This time the Goods have left the writing up to a few of Nashville's writers. The first single was written by Brett Jones and Jimi T. Hall. The album was produced in Toronto by Mike Francis.

Clint Black slides into #1 with A Good Run Of Bad Luck, one of his fastest chart movers. The single, taken from his RCA album, No Time To Kill, has only been charting for nine weeks.

Dick Nolan is going home to Stephenville, Newfoundland. Nolan was the first Canadian country artist to break the platinum singles mark back in 1972. Aunt Martha's Sheep, which was released on the RCA label, had a long run up the RPM country chart and is still fondly remembered as one of Newfoundland's most popular songs. During his 35-year career, Nolan has released 30 albums. It was after his success with Aunt Martha's Sheep that Nolan moved to Toronto. He thought it was the place to be "where the recording and publishing was done." In a recent interview with the Stephenville Georgian, Nolan revealed that "It's no longer fun up here. When you are just doing it for a living, it's time to move on. I've had enough of this lifestyle. I'm counting the months to go home." Nolan's roots are on the west coast of the island province. His mother Marjorie, originally from Stephenville, now lives in Corner Brook. His grandmother hails from St.

George's. Nolan also pointed out the change that Toronto has gone through. "The most famous places to play, like the Horseshoe Tavern, now prefer soft rock music as opposed to the Newfoundland tradition." Newfoundland music remains Nolan's first love. "It was bred into me. I've tried other types of music, but I keep coming back to the traditional style." Nolan says his life in Stephenville will be like semi-retirement. "I'm not ready for the rocking chair yet."

Prairie Oyster has broken into AC radio with Such A Lonely One, the band's initial release from Only One Moon. The single was the most added at radio (RPM Country 100 March 28/94) and continues to bullet up the chart (#20). The BMG people had such a solid belief in the song they had it re-mixed for CHR and AC radio by Chuck Ainlay, who had gained a reputation as a board genius through his work with Mark Knopfler and Dire Straits. The first stations to add the single were Mix 99.9 in Toronto and Montreal's Mix 96. The pattern of acceptance has grown right across the country.

Neil McCoy's Wink is the big gainer this week, jumping into the #45 position from #84 in just two weeks of charting. This track is taken from his Atlantic album No Doubt About It.

One Horse Blue continues to bullet up the chart with Baby Don't Cry (#10). Taken from the band's self-titled debut for Savannah, this release has caught on dramatically over the last couple of weeks.

Gary Fjellgaard and Anita Perras are off with a duet, Trace Back To You. The Savannah single, now at radio, is a Fjellgaard original, taken from his Believe In Forever album. The CD single is unique in that it includes a segment recorded at CISS-FM Toronto for Live At 5 which features Fjellgaard discussing the album, and acoustic performances of Train Of Dreams, Islanders and Eye Of The Storm.

Lennie Gallant is having a final kick at his last album, Believing In Better, which spawned six hits and two videos, Man Of Steel and Is It Love I Find Or Courage I Lack. The latest single, the title track and perhaps the best track on the album, has been released on RDR's Countrypak 22. Gallant signed to Sony earlier this year during the East Coast Music conference. His debut album for Sony, The Open Window, is being produced by Colin Linden. The first single is expected to ship to radio on June 20.

George Fox continues to bullet up the chart with No Hasta La Vista Tonight (#16). Balmur Ltd. has announced a hefty schedule of one-nighters for Fox, which includes the Big Country Awards (May 29). Dates firmed for June include the Cultural & Recreation Centre in Bracebridge (4) and the Gloucester Fair (8), both of which are in Ontario. He moves west to the Country Music Festival in Watrous, Saskatchewan (19), followed by a speaking engagement at the Alberta Beef Congress in Red Deer (22), the Wainwright Rodeo (24), and back to Ontario and Brockville's Riverfest (26) to end the month. July dates include the Dauphin Countryfest (Canada Day), the Big Rocky Mountain Festival in High River (2), the Plato Picnic (9), the Carleton Trail Jamboree in Rabbit Lake (10), the Carman Exhibition (15), the Devil Head Ranch in his hometown of Cochrane (27), a solo acoustic performance at the 4-H Club Environmental Centre in Battle Lake (28), and east to the Spruce Woods Country Jamboree in Halifax (31). August dates firmed, all in Ontario, include the Havelock Jamboree (13), the Navan Fair (14), Stage West in Mississauga (15), and Centennial Park in Richards Landing (19). Fox has two dates scheduled for Ontario in September, Sarnia's Centre by the Bay Festival (2), and the Wayne Rostad's Oompah Stomp in the Ottawa Valley (4). Dates have already been firmed for next year, including the Markham Theatre (April 6-8), and the Heritage Theatre in Brampton (April 9).

Prescott-Brown, in only the second week of charting with There You Go, bullets up to #59 from #80. This is the trio's debut under their new name. The song was written by Barry Brown and Randall Prescott and taken from Already Restless, the new album that was produced by Paul Worley, Randall Prescott and Pat McMakim.

Tim Thorney is finally making a move with his latest Epic release, Chains. Written by Thorney, Erica Ehm and Gino Luciani, the song features the vocals of Cassandra Vasik. The release, taken from Thorney's Some Other Time album, enters the chart at #92.

CKBY's Hot New Country Tour has come to a climactic end with a total of nine all-expenses paid concert trips to nine different listeners who got to see their favourite hot new country star. The concerts, featuring Garth Brooks, Vince Gill, Trisha Yearwood, Reba McEntire, Brooks & Dunn, Wynonna, Travis Tritt, Mark
