Sony Music to launch Soundtrack For A Century

Sony Music Entertainment is preparing to launch one of the most comprehensive music collections ever assembled, coinciding with the turning of the century. Soundtrack For A Century should be ready for release for the holiday season.

The massive set will include 547 songs on 26 CDs, as well as a 308-page, four-colour coffee table book, rare photos, historic artifacts, artist memorabilia, and comprehensive essays by award-winning writers.

As of now, Sony Canada had still not announced a retail price for the entire set. However, the individual double-CDs from each genre and era will be available separately.

Pop Music: The Early Years (1890-1950) will feature some of the earliest recorded music, right up to the Sinatra/Columbia era. Sony Classical: Great Performances (four CDs), will cover the gamut of Sony's classical catalogue, from 1903-1998. Jazz: The Definitive Performances, begins with a 1917 performance by The Original Dixieland Jazz Band, and ends with a '95 recording by Wynton Marsalis.

Folk, Gospel & Blues: Will The Circle Be Unbroken features legendary performers such as Bessie Smith, Robert Johnson, Muddy Waters, Bob Dylan, Simon & Garfunkel, Leonard Cohen and Stevie Ray Vaughan. Country: The American Tradition will cover a litany of country stars, including Roy Acuff, Gene Autry, Bill Monroe, Marty Robbins, Johnny Cash, George Jones and Willie Nelson, right up to Mary Chapin Carpenter, Patty Loveless and Dixie Chicks.

Movie Music: The Definitive Performances features soundtrack hits such as Singin' In The Rain, Lullaby Of Broadway, Mrs. Robinson, The Way We Were, Footloose, Streets Of Philadelphia, Men In Black and My Heart Will Go On. Broadway: The Great Original Cast Recordings features theatrical classics like Some Enchanted Evening, The Rain In Spain, Tonight, My Favourite Things, Cabaret, and What I Did For Love.

Pop Music: The Golden Era (1951-75) begins with Sinatra's The Birth Of The Blues, and includes the likes of Tony Bennett, Louis Armstrong, Andy Williams, Barbra Streisand, Dylan, The Byrds, Donovan, Chicago, Janis Joplin, The O'Jays, and Earth, Wind & Fire. Rock: The Train Kept A Rollin' features performances by The Yardbirds, Fleetwood Mac, Santana, Bruce Springsteen, Boston, Aerosmith, Meat Loaf, The Clash, Pink Floyd, Journey, Pearl Jam and Rage Against The Machine.

R&B: From Doo-Wop To Hip-Hop covers the evolution of urban music, including Screamin' Jay Hawkins, Aretha Franklin, Sly & The Family Stone, Michael Jackson, Marvin Gaye, Luther Vandross, Babyface, Mariah Carey and The Fugees. International Music: Sony Music Around The World features artist from across the globe, including artists from latin America, the far east, Europe, Asia, and even Canada ($4.40).

Finally, Pop Music: The Modern Era (1976-99) features a litany of hits from the last 25 years, including Dream On (Aerosmith), Just The Way You Are (Billy Joel), Hungry Heart (Springsteen), Keep On Loving You (REO Speedwagon), Billie Jean (Michael Jackson), Smooth Operator (Sade), Because You Loved Me (Celine Dion) and Doo Wop (Lauryn Hill).

Each double CD will feature a 64-page booklet with extensive liner notes, rare photos, artifacts and artist memorabilia. The CDs draw on the impressive list of talent that has been part of the Sony musical family, including the affiliated labels Columbia, Epic, OKeh, Vocalion, ARC and Brunswick.

Sony plans to initiate an extensive marketing campaign to promote the set, which should be one of the company's top priorities for the Christmas selling season. The product will be backed by two waves of advertising and promotion, to support buy-in and sell-through, into the year 2000.

Stanley and Christie at Planet Hollywood

KISS guitarist/vocalist Paul Stanley, who is currently in Toronto performing the title role in The Phantom Of The Opera, recently donated a Washburn International one-of-a-kind Paul Stanley Signature PS2000 Guitar to Planet Hollywood.

MIX 99.9 morning man Rob Christie (pictured with Stanley, front cover) hosted the event, with the MIX acting as a promotional sponsor. Stanley also donated a black felt fedora from The Phantom to Planet Hollywood. Stanley continues in the role until Oct. 31, when the show closes after a 10-year run.

MCA/Universal to release new Hendrix Xmas single Experience Hendrix/MCA Records have announced the upcoming release of Jimi Hendrix: Merry Christmas & Happy New Year, a new three-track CD single containing two versions of a previously unreleased medley of holiday standards, and a formerly out-of-print song. The single is set for a November 16 release.

In December of '69, Hendrix and his Band Of Gypsies (bassist Billy Cox and drummer Buddy Miles) rehearsed and recorded a medley of three holiday favourites, which they in turn performed at a quartet of New Year's concerts at Fillmore East. The band recorded a medley of Little Drummer Boy, Silent Night and Auld Lang Syne, which appears on this CD in two versions (4:28, and an extended 7:25).

Also, during the 1968 sessions for Electric Ladyland, Hendrix and the Experience (bassist Noel Redding and drummer Mitch Mitchell) recorded a version of the Three Little Bears. Although the song wasn't released on Ladyland, it did later appear on War Heroes, a 1972 posthumous release. This is the first time the song will appear on CD.

Alofs returns to Canada to fund internet start-ups

Former HMV, BMG Music Canada and MP3 president Paul Alofs has returned to Canada with a new ambition - to provide funding for internet initiatives, and to staunch the so-called 'brain drain'.

Alofs has worked for the past two years in southern California with The Disney Store, Inc., and MP3.com. According to a story in the National Post, Alofs intends to create Canada's first internet 'incubator', providing the finances and business savvy to e-commerce entrepreneurs.

Aside from his business concerns, Alofs also noted in the Post article that he's primarily returning to Canada for quality of life reasons.

"Our decision was as much a lifestyle move as a business move," said Alofs in the Post interview. "From a lifestyle point of view, Toronto is the place we wanted to live."

Alofs went on to say that Canada is "two years behind the US" when it comes to internet development. He also feels that his time at MP3.com provided him with an instant education in the 'net, noting that he "learned more in six months than I had in six years (at HMV)."

His hope is to find older executives with business backgrounds, and merge them with the younger, internet-knowledgeable enterprisers who are usually well-versed in computer lingo, but have difficulty running a business.

Alofs intends to raise $20-30 million to fund his venture, and if successful, he will take it public next year. He will provide some of the initial funding himself, thanks to the huge stock windfall he scored from MP3's public offering last year.

EMI staffers Deane Cameron, Brad Morrissey, Rob Brooks, Carole MacDonald, Beth Waldman, Peter Diemer and Angie Bazzana presented Geri Halliwell, her manager Victoria Williamson and EMI UK's Louise Veys with platinum for her solo album Schizophonic.

WALT SAYS ...!

with Elvira Capreese

MAPL! Triumph of the millennium!!! Once the CRTC brought in the 30% Cancon regs 30 years ago, the one thing that made it easy was the MAPL logo and the MAPL system. The industry adopted the system immediately and RPM negotiated to make the logo available at no cost to the industry. We have continued to make this contribution to the industry and will do so to the end of this century. How important was it? Is there a music director or on-air personality who hasn't referred to the MAPL logo to instantly identify Cancon? Is there an artist who found the ruling easy to follow because of the genius of the system? I say NOT! So could it be the most important influence on Cancon ... of this century? Probably not, but I'm open for any other contenders! (EC: Give me a few months ... I'll think of something!!!) I'll print it!

HOSer Awards...a go!!! Looks like we've captured the imagination of the industry! There have been many nominations brought to my attention for the Hall of Shame Awards, now nicknamed the HOSer Awards. Keep those nominations coming. There are some real lowlives in this industry and they should be honoured! (EC: Too bad we can't give the award posthumously!!!) OH! YEAH!

Drink of the Century! Still getting requests for the recipe for the Negroni. So here it is: 1/3 Campari, 1/3 Sweet Vermouth, 1/3 Gin. A splash of Cointreau and an extra splash of Campari to give the drink a ruby red appearance. A slice of orange and picture yourself in the south of France in Cannes or Antibes! (EC: Or send me, Elvira Capreese, a stamp-addressed envelope at RPM and we'll enrol you in the Negroni Lovers International Organization!!!) At no cost!

TrashyTV!!! Canada finally has a network of trashy TV and we'll tell you more about it in this column in the coming weeks! Stay tuned for this fast breaking story! (EC: Like you really think they don't know who you're talking about!!!! WOMAN POWER!!!) Sit down!

Sharing the Market!!! When you start to analyze who has what ... who had what and how the configuration of the industry has changed ... WOW!!! What this industry needs is a monster! (EC: I haven't heard that for a couple of decades!!!) Shoulder to the wheel! Nose to the grindstone! (EC: I'm either on the phone or away from my desk. But if you leave a message!!!) That will make you real popular out there!

Re: Overexposure!!! Too late to kiss and makeup! The damage is done! Forget about it! End of message! (EC: Can you spell asshole???)

We've got mail!!! Starting this week, all RPM employees, including myself, have their own email address. You can punch me up at walt@rpmweekly.com. Just add the first name of the other guys to @rpmweekly.com, like Rachel, Sean, Ron and Stan. Anyone who knows anything about the internet knows there's a website in the making. Keep posted. (EC: It's about time!!!)

Paul Alofs is back!!! And his PR machine shifted into gear almost immediately. He's back, living in midtown Toronto, close to where he was before and he's heading up his own venture capital company. Besides getting feature-sized articles with a photo in the dailies, he scored a number of television interviews as well. He was named head of MP3.Com Inc.'s strategic business units almost five months ago, which followed his association with Walt Disney's retail operation as executive vice-president and general manager in San Diego, and before that, as we all know, he was president of BMG Music Canada and before that head of HMV Canada. He's still going to be a consultant with MP3.COM. We have a more definitive piece on him in this week's issue. (EC: A venture capitalist???)

Ashley MacIsaac is making news ... again!!! With a new album being readied for release on the Loggerhead label, our favourite Cape Breton fiddler is making international news. He got a real deal when he made a bid from his Cape Breton home to buy Elvis Presley's 1976 Cadillac Seville for only $75,000, which is American of course. He's left the car at the MGM Grand for the time being. And get this, the car only has 5,000 miles on it. The car will be the centrepiece in a video to promote his new album which is titled Helter's Celtic which should be at retail on Nov. 9. Hold on, there's more Ashley news. He's so pissed off at the Nova Scotia government skimming money from charities across the province that, he's apparently ready to throw his fiddle into the political ring, and "use all the money I have to do my part in unseating the government." Here's a prediction. Helter's Celtic will be Ashley's biggest accomplishment to date. He has a fan base that's second to none. Loggerhead was quick to see the potential. (EC: We'll etch that prediction in stone!!!)

Cape Breton on stage!!! Well! It seems that Cape Breton is always on stage, what with celtic, country and pop music and now the Celtic Colours of the International Festival bringing more attention to the tight little island. And what about this? Take a little American (New York) influence and mix in a bunch of fiddlers and step dancers from Cape Breton ... the step dancers are really from the Ottawa Valley ... and you have the makings of a great musical. And that's what Swingstep is all about, now playing Toronto's Ford Centre for the Performing Arts through to Nov. 28. It's a love story that flows with ease and wonderful memories from today back to the war years and back again. The powerful musical numbers and dancing creates an energy force that also energizes the audience. No favourites here. It's an all Canadian cast and they're all stars. (EC: A vote for Cape Breton???)

Businessman Rabinovitch new president of CBC

Prime Minister Jean Chretien confirmed yesterday that Montreal businessman Robert Rabinovitch has been appointed the new president of the CBC. Rabinovitch, a former deputy minister of communications under Trudeau, will take over on November 15.

The post of CBC president has been vacant since the departure of Perrin Beatty back in July. Rabinovitch, who currently heads the Bronfman-owned Claridge Inc., is reportedly a multi-millionaire from his work in the private sector.

Rabinovitch was the prime choice of Heritage Minister Sheila Copps, who praised the appointment yesterday.

"I believe Bob Rabinovitch's appointment, his stature as a public servant and in the private sector brings a mix of credentials which will help ensure the CBC remains the premier public broadcaster into the next millennium. I'm just very excited about working with him."

EMI secures Floyd rights, releasing The Wall Live

EMI Recorded Music has gained the worldwide rights to five classic Pink Floyd albums, giving them the rights to 14 Floyd albums worldwide. And in a related story, EMI has also announced plans to release Is There Anybody Out There? The Wall Live.

EMI has secured the worldwide rights to five Pink Floyd classics, including The Wall, Wish You Were Here and Animals. The rights to these albums outside of Europe were previously held by Sony, with EMI having the rights in Europe. EMI will now own the rights to 14 Pink Floyd albums.

The Wall Live, scheduled for a December 1 release, is being issued to mark the twentieth anniversary of the original album's release. The new live album will come in a two CD, limited edition casebound book, with artwork by Storm Thorgerson. The live album will also include some previously unreleased material.

When The Wall was originally released in 1979, the band performed the album live at just four sites - New York, Los Angeles, Dortmund and London. The London shows were recorded on a 48-track mobile system, and Pink Floyd producer James Guthrie has sifted through those tapes to come up with The Wall Live. A complete track listing is soon to be finalized.

Pink Floyd was formed in 1965 with original members Roger Waters, Nick Mason, Richard Wright and Syd Barrett. Their 1972 recording, Dark Side Of The Moon, has sold more than 30 million copies worldwide, making it the third highest-selling album of all time. Conceived and written by Roger Waters, and produced by Waters, Bob Ezrin and David Gilmour.

Jaymz Bee's LeisureDisc signed to Oasis

Oasis Entertainment has signed a distribution deal with LeisureDisc, a new label formed by Jaymz Bee with partners Glenn Smith and Brian Ainsworth.

Bee, who will be responsible for A&R, points out that the new label "will be home to recordings by artists who respect the music of the past but are dedicated to creating classic music for the present." and pointedly indicates that LeisureDisc won't be focusing on just one sound. "We are set up to service an under-respected -- and sizable -- market segment of maturing music buyers."

Bee first came to prominence in the '80s with The Look People, a popular band of that era. By the early '90s he was musical director on CBC's talk/variety series Friday Night (ironically, he now hosts a similar type show, The Jaymz Bee Radio Show, Saturday nights on Toronto's CFRB). He launched The Royal Jelly Orchestra in 1995, releasing three albums in Canada through BMG with the Milan label picking up two for US release. At the time, Bee was musical consultant to Paul Alofs during his presidency at BMG. With videos featured on MuchMusic and MTV, Bee and RJO toured across Canada and the US gaining a huge fan base. He also authored the book Cocktail Parties For Dummies for IDG Books which now has 100,000 copies in print.

First signing to LeisureDisc label is The Beehive Singers described as "a four member jazz influenced vocal group" who have toured Canada twice as part of Bee's touring show. The band's self-titled debut CD is expected to be released shortly with television and concert appearances planned for November. Bee will be releasing the follow-up to Cocktail - Shaken and Stirred early next year. As yet untitled, the release will feature a collection of Bee's original material and classic pop songs.

HOLIDAY SEASON

PRIORITY PRODUCT

November 8, 1999

New Releases

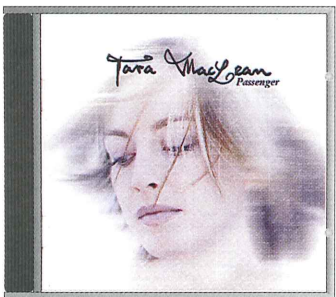

ULTIMATE DIVAS The Greatest Female Vocalists Of Our Time Arista-71020-N

Just in time for the holiday gift-giving season is the terrific package from Clive Davis et al at Arista, who have quite a track record with female recording artists. What's nice about this compilation is that it doesn't just cover the recent years, but in fact goes all the way back in time to some of the original divas. Billie Holiday, appropriately, leads off the album with her fabulous purring voice on My Man, followed by Lena Horne's cover of Stormy Weather. Along with Judy Garland's immortal Over The Rainbow (apparently, it was in some movie), there's also delicious offerings from Dinah Washington (What A Difference A Day Makes), Sarah Vaughan (Broken Hearted Melody) and Lady Ella (Someone To Watch Over Me). Gladys Knight is included, with, of course, her signature Midnight Train To Georgia. And Tina Turner is here as well, with her biggest hit, What's Love Got To Do With It. Diana Ross and Dionne Warwick provide a pair of great tunes that just aren't heard enough anymore - Ross singing Touch Me In The Morning, and Warwick providing I'll Never Love This Way Again. And to please the modern-day diva fans, there's also a smattering of today's biggest chartoppers, including Annie Lennox (Why), Mary J. Blige (Not Gon' Cry), Toni Braxton (Un-Break My Heart), and Whitney Houston (I Have Nothing). Finally, to cap off the set, a recording of Aretha Franklin's rendition of the famous Puccinni aria Nessun Dorma, which dazzled everyone at the '98 Grammys. This is one of those rare CDs that is Grade A from top to bottom, and should just sell itself.

TARA MACLEAN Passenger Nettwerk-30144-F

Given the impressive turnout at her recent Toronto showcase, it seems that there's a lot of folks pulling for MacLean to have some serious success with this sophomore release. The release of her first record, Silence (1997) brought about some strong critical praise, and also won her opening slots for the likes of Ashley MacIsaac, the Barenaked Ladies, Garbage, Lisa Loeb and labelmate Sarah McLachlan, who also brought MacLean on board for Lilith Fair. MacLean also managed to secure spots on a pair of soundtracks (Inventing The Abbotts, Teaching Mrs. Tingle), and the Lilith Fair CD. All of which would suggest that MacLean is ready to emerge as the latest in what has already become a very crowded field of Canadian divas. Passenger has a warm and subtle feel that's often similar to McLachlan's work, which shouldn't come as a surprise. And judging by her showcase performance, she certainly has the pipes to fill any song. If I Fall has been taken as the first single, a catchy pop tune that should be an automatic add for AC and possibly CHR stations. And there are plenty of second single alternatives on the record, including the lead track Jericho, as well as Reach, Jordan and Higher. The Malcolm Burn production is spotless, with the instrumentation allowed to settle quietly into the background, providing a soft cushion for MacLean's voice. The results are quite pleasant to the ear, making Passenger a nice Sunday-morning-over-coffee type of album, that should make some noise at retail.

MEAT LOAF VH1 Storytellers Beyond-78065-N

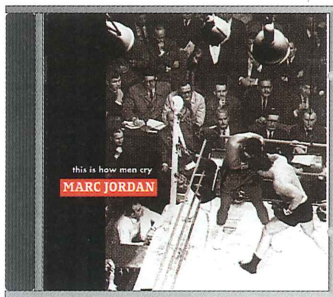

Has there ever been a more bombastic, over-the-top performer in rock 'n roll than the mighty Meat? In the Meat Loaf world, rock and roll is a rough-hewn, jagged-edged form of pop opera, with all the showmanship, pomposity and theatre that deservedly goes with it. Was anyone quite prepared for Bat Out Of Hell when it first came out, with its outrageous and super-charged style? And who would have thought that this heavyweight contender could come back, two decades later, with Bat Out Of Hell II, and get right back to the top of the charts. Now that is pomposity at its best. With his flair for the dramatic, it's only natural that Mr. Loaf was invited to perform on VH1's Storytellers series, their equivalent to MTV's Unplugged program, or MuchMusic's Intimate & Interactive. Although the music here is somewhat stripped down, without the massive orchestrations that normally fill a Meat Loaf record, there's still plenty of power left, as is evidenced right off the bat with the first track, a scorching, one-minute tear through All Revved Up With No Place To Go. As the show is named Storytellers, the CD also contains all the little asides that Meat Loaf offers between songs, which demonstrate that, all the flair aside, Mr. Meat is a pretty thoughtful and intelligent guy. Not surprisingly, all the gems from Bat Out Of Hell are here, including You Took The Words Right Out Of My Mouth, Two Out Of Three Ain't Bad, the title track, and the apocalyptic Paradise By The Dashboard Light. Also featured is the huge hit from Bat Out Of Hell II, I'd Do Anything For Love, and a bonus track, a previously-unreleased version of Is Nothing Sacred. By the way, Meat Loaf is scheduled for a December 15th appearance at Toronto's Massey Hall, which may not be standing afterwards.

MARC JORDAN This Is How Men Cry Blue Note-20419-F

It seems a shame that this guy can't seem to stick at one label, given the quality of his songwriting and recordings. At times, it seems like Jordan may be destined to be one of those guys who has a great career as a songwriter, but can't crack the big show as a recording artist. Jordan's had songs recorded by a slew of big-name artists, particularly Rod Stewart, who made Rhythm Of My Heart a #1 hit worldwide. But Jordan, who was with Warner just a few years back, then shifted over to Oak Street (Sony), is now at the Blue Note jazz label, distributed by EMI. And make no mistake, this is a very jazzy record, even more so than his wonderful Reckless Valentine album. The record begins with a spoken word intro from the artist, which leads into the first single, the clever Charlie Parker Loves Me, which has a nice, catchy hook that should make it a natural for AC radio, particularly in the evening hours. He follows that with a tasty cover of Willie Nelson's Crazy, a much quieter version than the Patsy Cline classic. Also thrown in the mix is a rehash of his own I Must Have Left My Heart, one of those songs perfectly suited for a lonely guy in a late-night bar with too many problems to care. Another pair of choice cuts are the covers of the Chet Baker classics Let's Get Lost and Almost Blue (which was actually written by Elvis Costello, don't ya know). Jordan's voice has that slightly rough, aged texture perfectly suited for singing songs of this nature. And the instrumental support is superb, including the likes of violinist Hugh Marsh, bassist Kieran Overs, drummer Archie Alleyne, pianist Phil Dwyer, harmonica legend Toots Thielemans, guitarist Kevin Breit, etc., etc. Jordan has always garnered a tremendous amount of respect amongst other artists, and the prescence of some of the best instrumentalists in the world is pure testament to that. This is an album to listen to when you've just been dumped, and you need somebody who can understand.

EURYTHMICS Peace RCA-74321695622-N

It's been a long time since we've seen the impenetrable duo of Annie Lennox and Dave Stewart together, and the folks at RCA hope the attraction is still there with the public. After a brief but successful solo sojourn, it only made sense for Lennox to get back with the man who first made her a star. Stewart has always been somewhat shy of the spotlight, and he was fairly quiet during the time of the Eurythmics' hibernation. But his guitar-based, keyboard-enhanced pop has always provided a perfect backdrop to Lennox's hearty voice. BMG is undoubtedly going to pull out all the stops for this one, making it one of the top priorities for the holiday season. Unlike some of their other work, this effort is heavily laced with keyboard sounds, with Stewart's guitar work occasionally sweeping through to give the songs some spicy mustard. And as always, Lennox's powerful tones give an austere potency to every song she tackles. The lead single is the first off the album, 17 Again, an upbeat bit of pop magic that has a charming reference to Sweet Dreams, the song that introduced Eurythmics to the world. While many older fans may find the album a trifle mellow, there's still enough strength in these numbers to make some noise at CHR radio. Power To The Meek, Anything But Strong and I Want It All are quality pop tunes with enough of an edge to make a mark at CHR. But the real gem may be the anthemic title track, with Lennox's haunting voice standing out in stark isolation from the subtle background. A great song with an equally powerful message, and a highlight of this strong comeback.

CELINE DION Au Coeur Du Stade Columbia-80438-H

She's already bigger than Ben Hur, so what better time for diva Dion to settle into her premature retirement, play some golf, take care of her husband, maybe start a family...anything but sing. And it's probably a good time to escape the spotlight, in her case. There's a fine,

ALBUM PICK

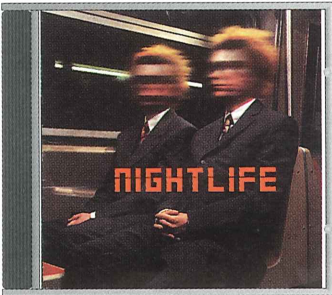

LIVE The Distance To Here Radioactive-19662-J

"Light up a cigarette she said/and calm the fuck down." Those devilish words spill into the vicious Voodoo Lady, one of several choice tracks on this new album from Mr. Kowalczyk and company, who have quickly gained a rep as one of the premier outfits in rock. The musical appeal is obvious. That churning, wall-of-sound guitar from Kowalczyk and Chad Taylor has become almost trademark, and it fills the lead single, The Dolphin's Cry, right up to the rooftops. That first track, with its terrific accompanying video, has already made a serious splash at rock radio. It's easy to see why the kids are diggin' it, but Live seem to be aiming for a slightly more mature audience, and their detailed lyrical content reflects that. Kowalczyk is obviously a well-read fellow, and that knowledge filters down into his work. This isn't just the usual teen-grunge-angst bull about kids looking to hang themselves with their hightop laces or blow away their parents. Kowalczyk can obviously see that there is some hope out there, as evidenced by the words from Sparkle: "I'm gatherin' up my friends today/ and those who recognize the face/as the vision that changed my mind/from hate to faith/was as simple as grapes to wine and sweet as I'm gatherin' up my friends today/ all these hookers and soldiers and swine/and would be saints/all alone in their rooms that sparkle in their eye/play a song that they'll come outside to see if/love will overcome." Great stuff, and finally, some positivity from the rock mainstream. Aside from the aforementioned Dolphin's Cry, there's plenty of choice material here, including The Distance, Run To The Water, Feel The Quiet River Rage, Face And Ghost (The Children's Song), and Dance With You. Produced by the band and Jerry Harrison.

razor-thin line between exposure and over-exposure, and Dion has been tip-toeing along that line for a couple of years now, ever since that Titanic song hit the roof. So, why not head for the lifeboats before the ship sinks. To give her French fans a parting thank you, Dion has offered this limited-run live CD, which is aimed directly at the francophone audience. Not surprisingly, the repertoire is entirely in français, with the exception of the lead track (Let's Talk About Love), and the ubiquitous My Heart Will Go On, which closes out the proceedings. Dion has become one of the most popular live performers out there, not only because of the string of hits she can put out there, but also because of her always impressive pipes. Dion's voice is as good as anything out there today, and when she tackles even the simplest pop songs, she's able to take them to another level. For those unilingual anglophones who aren't familiar with her French repertoire, this is still an attractive package to have, because the music rises above any language barriers. Among the notables are her signature french tune Ce N'était Qu'Un Reve (a lovely song written by her mother, and supposedly the first she ever recorded), a pair of songs featuring singer/songwriter Jean-Jacques Goldman (J'irai Ou Tu Iras and S'il Suffisait D'aimer), and the powerful Lamour Existe Encore, written by the legendary Luc Plamondon. According to the Sony people, it'll be a greatest hits package, and then voila, le jeux sans fait.

PET SHOP BOYS Nightlife Parlophone-18572-F

-POP

Do ya wanna dance and make romance? Then this is the album for you, the first from the Pet Shop Boys in a few years, and one that's already exploding at retail. The Boys have always been among the best when it comes to slapping a catchy pop hook atop a danceable beat, and this new release confirms that fact. From the opening track, For Your Own Good, with it's throbbing bassline and evocative chorus, this album just bounces along through its dozen tracks, rarely letting up for Messers Tennant and Lowe to take a breath. The arduously-titled I Don't Know What You Want But I Can't Give It Anymore has been taken as the lead single, and should be an automatic add for any dance/pop station. And the superb Village People-like, disco-esque New York City Boy, written along with producer David Morales, should be the next single out of the box. Another track which should garner plenty of attention is In Denial, a duet with Tennant and Australian pop queen Kylie Minogue, with lyrics that tell a provocative story of sexual confusion, seen through a conversation between a admittedly gay father and his daughter: "My life is absurd/I'm living it upside down/like a vampire/working at night/sleeping all day/A dad with a girl who knows he's gay." Finally, the album also contains one of our nominees for best song title of the year, You Only Tell Me You Love Me When You're Drunk. Co-produced by the Boys, along with Morales, Craig Armstrong and Rollo. The duo is set to embark on a North American tour, their first in nearly a decade, which includes dates at Toronto's Warehouse (Nov. 9) and the Metropolis in Montreal (Nov. 14).

CHARLIE MAJOR 444

- Country

Dead Reckoning-0015 (Oasis)

Welcome back Charlie Major. The wait has been well worth it. This is vintage Major. He didn't start where he left off. Rather, he's gotten better, writing-wise, projection-wise and that vocal smarts just rings true with each track. Don't be confused about the lack of the MAPL logo - this is an American label. All songs with the exception of Oh Sister, written by Bob Dylan and Levy Jacques, are Major originals, which qualify as three-parts Cancon (MAL). The CD was recorded in Nashville where it was produced by Major and Dead Reckoning's co-founder Harry Stinson. Major's vocal signature is the key as proven by the immediate impact of Right Here, Right Now, the first single. The new material, if you read between the lines, could almost be construed as a Major confidential. His song messages have their ups and downs and sort of a peek into what could have been better times if the playing field was level. However, that's Major's modus operandi and it serves him well here. By the way, that's Margo Timmins of the Cowboy Junkies, adding vocal enhancement on Oh Sister and Like Our Love, both priority tracks. But don't overlook One True Love and Side By Side. Dead Reckoning is distributed in Canada by Oasis Entertainment and it's nice to see Ed Harris, late of MCA, is doing the country thing again.

LEANN RIMES Self-titled Curb-77947-F

- Country

With all the candy-coated, kiss-assin' country coming down the pipe by unknowns who go on to be unknowns that's decimating the once-proud fan base, it's refreshing to hear country like it was supposed to be. It's not proper to draw comparisons, but the Patsy Cline influence is almost foreboding as Rimes serves up her own version of Willie Nelson's Crazy, the Hank Cochran penning of She's Got You and I Fall To Pieces, written by Cochran and Harlan Howard. Cline aside, Rimes cements her own vocal signature as well on nine other memorable traditional offerings: Hank Williams' You're Cheatin' Heart, Me And Bobby McGee, written by Kris Kristofferson and Fred Foster, Buck Owens' Cryin' Time, Leavin' On Your Mind, a penning by Webb Pierce and Wayne Walker, and Marty Robbins' Don't Worry. Big Deal, written by Al Anderson and Jeffrey Steele, has been taken as the first single and is already impacting at country radio. Produced by Wilbur C. Rimes, with LeAnn taking co-producer credit.

CLINT BLACK D'lectrified RCA-67823-N

- Real Country

We cautiously labelled this release as "Real Country", which might offend some country programmers, but Black gets back to the basics of country when the acoustic sound was in. Pretty powerful stuff here and he's already hit a nerve at country radio with When I Said I Do, a duet with his wife Lisa Hartman Black, that's already set an impressive upwardly mobile chart direction (#50*). By the way this is his first collaboration with his wife, and it's a Black original. Black has also brought in some heavy hitters in the vocal assist field with Kenny Loggins (Harmony) Steve Wariner (Been There), Bruce Hornsby (Dixie Lullaby). There's also the influences of Edgar Winter, Waylon

Jennings and The Marshal Tucker Band. Of particular interest is Black's collaboration of sorts with Monty Python's Eric Idle for the left-of-centre bit of humour on Galaxy Song, a little unusual for Black. Also key is Who I Used To Be, which he wrote with Hayden Nicholas and Where Your Love Won't Go, a song he wrote with Steve Wariner. The album was produced by Black. There is a Musicvideo Card available on the making of the album that plays in the standard CD-ROM drive of PCs and Macs and which fit into the centre circular recess. Check out BMG for the availability of this very well put together video card.

PLANET EARTH the ali shuffle Planet Earth-01 (Independent)

- R&B based Funk

Seems like a strange category, but that's the entertainment value here. Their off-the-wall talent at improvisation makes you have to listen between the lines, if you get my drift. These guys are very clever songwriters and highly professional musicians. The funk no doubt comes from a bit of fooling around and coming up with a sound that's not too funky with the right R&B frosting that's pleasurable to the ear. Planet Earth is Dylan Heming (keyboards, guitars), Ron Littlejohn (lead and background vocals), Glenn Oliver (bass, guitar, background vocals), and Ben Riley (drums, vibes). Their sound was beefed up by Steve Kennedy (tenor and alto sax, flute, background vocals), Geoff Bourne (tenor sax), Vernon Dorge (tenor and alto sax), Greg Johnston (flute, guitar), Gad Follys (guitar), Adele Armin and David McFadden (violins), Ansgar Schroer (harmonica), Tony Rappaport (viola), and Richard Armini (cello) with Linda Feijo (background vocals), not too shabby as a musical team. Check out What's Dat Funk, containing cleverly integrated samples of Stevie Wonder's They Won't Go When I Go, James Brown's Make It Funky, Isaac Hayes' By The Time I Get To Phoenix and B.B. King's Nobody Loves Me But My Mother. Don't overlook Raining On The City and Lovetown. Produced by the band and recorded at PRS in Toronto.

VEDA HILLE You Do No Live In This World Alone VMPO-1155 (Independent)

- Coffee House Folk

There is little by way of notes to advise the casual and uninitiated listener what to expect.

So, this reviewer risks being unkind by writing that what one hears is pretty much the same as one used to hear in the early Haight Ashbury days. What was new and possibly experimental then however, is now decidedly passé. Miss Hille sings with evident sincerity and possibly even passion but delivers only pretentious piffle. If that's what's intended then perhaps there is some merit to the album. Otherwise, it's simply a time warp journey back to the sixties wrapped in hubris. Take it as you find it. 100% MAPL.

HORACE SILVER Jazz Has A Sense Of humour Verve-293-J

- Jazz

The humour is in Silver's pointed lyrics which are not sung. The artistry is in his superb playing of compositions -- his own -- which even now in his eighth decade veer closely toward the funky. Not all of them mind you. There's the Latin tinged, and our personal favourite, Gloria. In the end however, humour reigns and what a delight it is to hear instead of the angst ridden music(?) of hell bent for leather rockers so prevalent today. What else can we say? Horace Silver remains one of the best jazz pianists ... suaviter in modo, fortiter in re.

-BW

THE ARROGANT WORMS Dirt! AW-999 (Festival)

- Musical Comedy

The Arrogant Worms require attention. On a casual hearing they seem to be simply another folk group. Give an attentive listen to the lyrics however, and one realizes they're send up artists offering their take on the folk scene whilst performing under a name that conjures up heavy metal. It mustn't be supposed though, that they're a mere funny hate band. With their vocalizing and musicianship they sound like The Kingston Trio or even The Weavers. This is literate parody at its best and, we suggest, a future collector's item. There are 14 tracks and we think that Gaelic Song will garner the most airplay but our especial favourite is Wong's Chinese Buffet followed closely by the less than two minutes long, I Am Cow. Hilarious. 100% MAPL. Who said Canadians don't have a sense of humour?

Dave Koz ready to Dance for new Capitol regime

One listen to Dave Koz's new Capitol release, The Dance, and you get the impression that Koz is a true perfectionist. On each and every track, there doesn't seem to be one note that's out of place, one beat that's slightly off.

The Dance is the newest (and fifth overall) release from Koz on the Capitol label, but this may be the one that pleases him the most, regardless of what it does commercially.

Since the release of his 1996 album Off The Beaten Path, Koz has endured some serious personal ups and downs. He was affected greatly by the changing of the guard at Capitol US, which saw the departure of Gary Gersh and arrival of Roy Lott. And he also felt great personal loss, with the death of his father. Somewhere in that mix, he also had his car stolen off an LA street, in broad daylight.

It was this series of traumas that led Koz to dig a little deeper into his more spiritual side, resulting in an album that he calls his most personally pleasing yet.

The Dance, which has already spun off one AC hit in the lead track, Together Again, is notable not only for Koz's usual stellar work on the horn, but also for the impressive cast of star performers that he managed to corral for this project.

Luther Vandross offers his unique vocal stylings on Can't Let You Go (The Sha La Song), while Montell Jordan sings a juicy lead vocal on Koz's take on the George Michael & Wham hit Careless Whisper. Legendary songwriter Burt Bacharach joins Koz on the funky Don't Give Up, which he also co-wrote. Also making appearances are session talents David Benoit, Jonathan Butler, Marc Antoine, BeBe Winans, and Dave's own brother Jeff Koz, who also co-wrote the lead single, Together Again.

The production credits are also a who's who of the business, including Bacharach, Jordan, Carl Sturken & Evan Rogers, and Glen Ballard. And make no mistake, the production on this album is sparkling. Which brings us back to that question about perfectionism again.

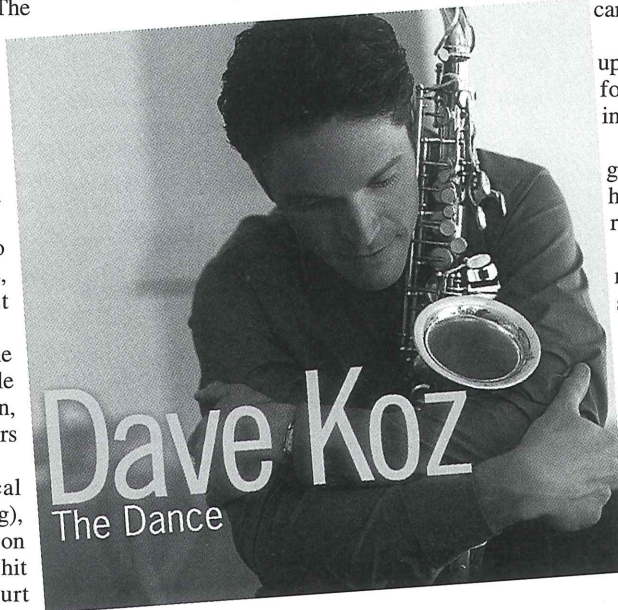

"I would say that I am (a perfectionist)," says Koz. "It's a constant challenge to not be one. But I think ultimately that I am a perfectionist, like most artists I know. I'm sure it's not the first time you've heard this, but songs are like your children. With each song, you want to release it to the world with its full potential. So when you're in the studio, you painstakingly do everything you can to make that happen. But you can end up ruining it, if you spend too much time on it. Fortunately, that didn't happen with this record."

As noted earlier, Koz's relationship with the upper regime at Capitol has taken something of a 180 degree turn in the last few years. Koz admits openly that he did not see eye to eye with Gersh and his staff, feeling that they just didn't know what to do with his records.

But all that changed with Gersh's departure, and the subsequent arrival of new boss Roy Lott. Although he is the president of the label, Lott ultimately became executive producer of The Dance, working closely with Koz to make it work.

"I had five years of being not a very happy camper at Capitol. But all of a sudden, Gary left, and Roy came in, and when I sat down with my first meeting with Roy, I knew that it was a new era for Capitol Records and a new era in my career. Because I didn't have to prove that what I did was worthy of getting attention. He understood immediately, and gave me the attention I felt I really needed. And instead of him just being an executive, in charge of the whole thing, he was actually my A&R guy.

"Every decision was with him, and his input and fingerprint is on this whole record. And it was a dream come true. I'd never worked that closely with anybody from my label, least of all the president."

Koz says that it was Lott who suggested bringing Glen Ballard in to work on the album, specifically the title track. Ballard, of course, is best known for his work with Alanis Morissette, which hardly seems to fit with working with a mainstream instrumental artist like Koz.

But the saxman says it was the Garth Brooks song that eventually brought Ballard on board to work on the project. And the song itself would prove to symbolize everything that Koz hoped to attain on the new release.

"Roy's the one who got Glen (Ballard) to take a listen to this song The Dance, and Glen loved it. I don't really know Garth Brooks' music all that well, so I wasn't aware of the song. But the minute I heard it I thought 'wow, this is such an amazing lyric'. I think, in a large way, it encapsulated the overall feeling that I wanted people to have from this album. That sense that, the world's not perfect, but while you're here, enjoy yourself and make the most out of every moment.

Surprisingly enough, the LA born and raised Koz does have a serious Canadian connection. Both his parents were native Winnipeggers, and it was probably more a fluke than anything else that Koz wasn't born in this country himself.

But the ties are definitely still here. Case in point was Koz's most recent guest appearance on the Mike Bullard Show (Oct. 19), where he met up with his cousin Grant, a local musician living in Toronto.

Ultimately, however, it was all the typical cliches about the Manitoba capital that eventually led Koz's parents to move elsewhere to raise their family.

"Both my parents were born and raised in Winnipeg, and when they got married, they left, because my Dad hated the cold weather, and moved to California. So I often say that, even though I was born and raised in LA, what would have happened if my parents never moved and stayed in Winnipeg. I don't know if I'd still be a musician. Maybe I'd be a musician, but I don't know if I'd have a recording career."

And how does a kid growing up in LA wind up playing the saxophone? For most kids in their formative years, the drums and guitar are the instruments of choice, the instruments that are cool.

But for Koz, learning the saxophone was a gateway into a whole other world. And by the time he became proficient on the horn, he came to realize how much it meant to him, and suited him.

"My brother had a band that did weddings, bar mitzvahs, that sort of thing. They didn't have a sax player, but I wanted to be in that band, because I saw that he and his buddies never had to have a real job. I was 13 years old, and my brother said 'if you pick up the sax, and you get good, maybe you can join the band'. Well that's all I needed to hear.

"But truthfully, it did feel good in my hands, it was like a real natural fit. So eventually my brother gave me a shot. And it was great because I was playing with people older and more experience than I was."

While Koz is considered one of the premier sax players in the business, with a proficiency on all three types of sax (tenor, alto and soprano), he approaches with caution anyone who labels his music 'jazz'.

A very strong dislike has grown in recent years on the traditional jazz side for more contemporary, mainstream players like Koz, Kenny G or David Sanborn. The purists say that Koz et al are simply selling out, playing brainless pop music simply to make a buck and sell records.

But Koz feels that all the anger or resentment is very much a one-sided affair. Players like himself and Kenny G have no desire to be seen as jazz artists. In fact, they'd prefer that people refer to them as the pop artists that they are. But there's definitely no dislike for traditional jazz purists on his part.

"I totally understand it, and I'm not upset by it. But I just wish that people wouldn't attach the moniker of 'jazz' to my music. And Kenny G. said the same thing, and David Sanborn has never referred to himself as a jazz musician. And neither would I.

"I have the utmost respect for people who are more traditional, straight-ahead jazz. But that's not me. And I can't do it, even if I tried I couldn't do it. But does that mean that I shouldn't play the saxophone? No. I think unfortunately that people assume that because it's the sax, that makes it jazz. And I think in a lot of ways, the jazz press are a little bit too uptight."

Ironically, however, when promotion people are selling Koz's records at radio, the moniker they usually attach to it is 'smooth jazz', which doesn't exactly help in distancing Koz's music from traditional jazz.

"To me, that's a problem, because that's a format at American radio, but I don't think it's a good title. I'd say call it instrumental pop music, because that's what it is. Because if they call it jazz, then that opens up everything. But we don't have anything to say about that.

"And when you go into a record store, you'll probably find this record in the jazz section. That's why you see that picture on the back cover, where I'm on my therapist's couch."

What's Happening

Frank Mills has decided to pull in his tour shingle after 30 years of criss-crossing Canada. The popular keyboardist/writer, who gained fame with his left-fielder release of Music Box Dancer (RPM - Sept. 2/78), has recorded 28 albums. Music Box Dancer and Pied Piper have sold more than three million copies of sheet music worldwide. His Music Box Dancer album has some over 5 million units and is scheduled for new exposure in an upcoming Disney movie. Mills, who now lives in the Bahamas, is scheduled to begin his last tour on Nov. 17 running through to Dec. 21 when he takes his final curtain call in Thunder Bay. Call Gino Empry for more information 416-928-1044, fax 416-928-1415.

Halifax's KILT, a five-piece folk-pop band, with a successful cross-Canada tour already to their credit in their two-year career, will be heading out across the country once again, this time in support of their second independent album titled Four In The Crib. The band has already pulled capacity houses for their mainstage appearances throughout Nova Scotia during October and begin their series of one-niters at McKibbons in Montreal on Nov. 8 followed by Barrymore's in Ottawa (9), Queen's University in Kingston (10), Toronto's Horseshoe (13), Sudbury's Steelworker's Hall (14), Winnipeg's West End Cultural Centre (16), the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon (17), Red Deer's Vat (18), B.J.'s in Grande Prairie (19), Billy's Outlaw Inn in Slave Lake (20), O'Byrne's in Edmonton (21), Nelson's Civic (23), Kelowna's Big White Resort (24), Vancouver's Starfish Room (25), University of Victoria (26), Whistler's Alpen House (27), Banff's Rose & Crown (29), the Sidetrack Cafe in Edmonton (30), Calgary's Maritime Club (Dec. 1), Banff's Centre for the Performing Arts (2), The Cooker in Saskatoon (3), Winnipeg's Casino (4), and back east for a Dec. 7 at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton. The band is made up of Tony Ronalds (lead vocals), Bonny Jean MacDonald (fiddle, vocals), Brennan MacDonald (acoustic guitar, vocals), Brian Buckle (drums, vocals) with Scott MacFarlane (bass, vocals). Four In The Crib was produced by the Band and J.P.Cormier with Jamie Foulds and recorded at Sound Park Studios in Irish Cove, Cape Breton and at Lakewind Sound in Point Aconi, Cape Breton. The album is distributed by Tidemark which is based in Halifax.

John Pizzarelli is back by popular demand to Toronto's Ford Centre on Oct. 29. The date will give him the opportunity to promote his new RCA release, P.S. Mr. Cole, which features a number of his favourite songs; Walkin' My Baby Back Home, Smile, Tenderly and Embraceable You. The album also features a live version of I Like Jersey Best, a song he has been performing for more than ten years. Pizzarelli on guitar and vocals is accompanied by keyboardist Ray Kennedy and bassist Martin Pizzarelli.

Halifax's Shyne Factory recently completed work on Lava, their second album, which is being distributed nationally by No Distribution. Gina DeYoung from Red Liquorice, the band's management company, sent along an advance of the new album, which she describes as "a musical evolution." She points out that the band still maintains the crunchy guitar licks and catchy melodies, "but the change comes in the maturity of the songwriting." Shyne Factory was formed in 1992 and is made up of identical twins Matt and Mike Johnson and longtime friend Shawn Scott. They will be off on a promotion tour next month.

Ma-Anne Dionisio, who starred in the two-year run of Cameron Mackintosh's Toronto production of Miss Saigon, will make her world premiere as a solo artist at Winnipeg's Centennial Concert Hall on Dec. 11. Backed by an eight-piece orchestra, Dionisio will perform a repertoire of musical numbers from the Broadway shows for which she is known plus a number of standards. Originally from the Philippines, Dionisio emigrated to Winnipeg with her parents and four sisters in 1990, where they still make their home. The concert is a presentation by Paquin Entertainment Group sponsored by Cantel AT&T and Grand Mariner. For more information call Kirsten Andrews 204-988-1125.

Mary J. Blige gets the Intimate & Interactive treatment at the MuchExclusive season premiere on Oct. 20. The show, hosted by Master T, goes live across North America beginning at 9 pm. Blige is currently charting with All That I Can Say, which features Lauryn Hill. The single, which bullets up to #48 this week on the RPM 100 A/C chart, was taken from Mary her MCA album. Deep Inside which features Elton John, has been taken as Blige's follow-up single and video.

A second show for Tea Party with special guest Edwin has been added for Nov. 23. at Toronto's Massey Hall. The band has become one of the most popular in the Toronto area, having packed The Warehouse earlier this month with more than 5,000 fans. TRYptych, the band's latest EMI recording, has been charting on the RPM 100 CDs chart for 16 weeks. Heaven Coming Down, taken as a single, is also charting on the 100 Hit Tracks chart.

V2's Stereophonics have an Oct. 23 date at Lee's Palace in Toronto. The date is timely in view of their just released CD Performance and Cocktails. The band is also being credited with "putting hard ass rock" back on the UK charts.

Hip-Hop soldiers Citizen Kane broke new ground with the launch of Deliverance, the band's debut CD on the Treehouse label which is distributed by Oasis Entertainment. The launch party was scheduled for Toronto's Comfort Zone on Oct. 20.

Garvey's Upstairs Kitchen & Bar is a new concept for Toronto featuring Afrocentric food and a mix of R&B blues, jazz and African drumming. Located in Toronto's famed Kensington Market area at 277½ Augusta Street, the month has already featured the Doug Richardson Trio featuring Kingsley Ettienne on the Hammond Organ, an African drum jam with Muhtadi, a celebration of art ad music through photographic artist Mary Liscoumb's black & white photography of New Orleans' jazz spots along with the guitar and vocals of bluesman Johnny Lovesin, The Wolf Pack, a blues band featuring five brothers from Ontario's Six Nation's Reservation, and Charles Burke & Friends. To check out dates firmed for the rest of the month and November call 416-593-9996.

We'll Meet Again is the theme for a CD release concert by Mose Scarlett, Jackie Washington and Ken Whiteley at Toronto's Music Gallery on Oct. 24. Tickets at $15 are available at the Music Gallery 416-204-1080 or Ring Music 416-924-3571 or check out the Borealis website (www.interlog.com/-brc) for more of the trio's concerts for this fall.

Moist and Matthew Good Band have scheduled a number of dates to re-visit some of the cities that were on the recent Edgefest '99 tour and some towns that were not within reach. The tour begins at Vancouver's PNE Coliseum on Nov. 29, followed by the Riverside Coliseum in Kamloops (30), the Prince George Multiplex (Dec. 2), Calgary's Max Bell Arena (4), Edmonton's Shaw Convention Centre (5), Regina's Centre of the Arts (7), the Winnipeg Convention Centre (8), the Metropolis in Montreal (11), London's Centennial Hall (14), and Sears Theatre in Toronto's Air Canada Centre (17). The Matthew Good Band is currently on release with Beautiful Midnight that made its debut at #1 on the RPM 100 CD chart the first week out (Sept. 27/99). Mercedes Five and Dime, Moist's third album, is already gold.

Geoffrey Wickham and Naffin & Wright inaugurated the Bellwoods Acoustic Concerts series at Toronto's St. Matthias Anglican Church on Oct. 23. Wickham is currently on release with his self-titled Roto Noto CD (RPM New Releases - Aug. 30/99). For the concert he will be accompanied by Glenn Love on keys and violinist Karen Graves. Alyssa Wright was the assistant principal cellist of the Kingston Symphony, Ensemble Unterwegs and the Festival Players and a member of the North York Symphony. She is featured on albums by Wickham, Linda Hiebert, Incandescent Bliss Machine. Guitarist Nick Naffin is on release with Music From The Sacred Grounds. Three concerts are planned for each year, featuring singers/songwriters, folk and jazz as well as classical ensembles plus a one-day festival in the summer. Guitarist (Nick) Naffin is on release with Music From The Sacred Grounds. Wright and Naffin released their debut CD Muskoka Dreamtime last summer. Catherine Dey of Take Note! Promotion, points out that differing from some current formats, the Bellwoods series "will not focus on a particular style or genre of acoustic music, but instead showcase musicians 'all over the map' running the gamut from roots, folk and bluegrass to contemporary classical to fusion and improvised jazz, showing the broad range of handmade music today, and maybe finding something entirely new in the process." Tickets are $10/$8 for students and seniors. Contact Dey at 416-781-4393 (takenote@interlog.com).

Guster, a Boston band who release on the Sire/Warner Music label, return to Canada for an Oct. 27 date at Toronto's Horseshoe Tavern. Guesting will be Atlantic's Jump Little Children and Sarah Slean, who is currently on release with Blue Parade (RPM New Releases - Oct. 11/99). Guster scored big this past summer in the opening slot on Blue Rodeo and Great Big Sea's national Stardust Picnic Tour. They ended the summer with a Woodstock spot. The band's new single is the title track from their Lost And Gone Forever CD, the follow-up to Barrel Of A Gun.

Veteran folkie Rick Fielding has been firmed for a Nov. 6 date at the Acoustic Harvest Folk Club, located at The Birchcliffe United Church in Toronto. A 25-year folk music veteran, Fielding hosts Acoustic Workshop on CIUT-FM (University of Toronto). He writes music, teaches acoustic techniques on guitar, banjo, mandolin and dulcimer, runs workshops on songwriting and professional development for musicians and does custom leather work. He recently completed recording for the Folk-Legacy label in Sharon, Connecticut and has also appeared on albums for Rita MacNeil, Grit Laskin and Mose Scarlett. He is also preparing for the release of This One's The Dreamer his debut CD for the Borealis Recording Company. The album features appearances by label mates Curly Boy Stubbs, Chris Whiteley, Grit Laskin, Bill Garrett and Mose Scarlett, as well as Don Reed, Tim Harrison and Don Rooke.

Meatloaf will be making a rare appearance at Toronto's Massey Hall on Dec. 15. His Bat Out Of Hell release is one of the five top selling albums in history and is now five times platinum (US). He made his film debut in The Rocky Horror Picture Show, a cult classic and is can be seen in Fight Club, alongside Brad Pitt and Ed Norton and Crazy In Alabama with Melanie Griffith. He recently released Meatloaf's VH1 Storytellers CD.

COUNTRY

KX96 New Country, covering the Durham and Toronto area, is celebrating its 5th birthday on Nov. 5. A big blowout is being planned at The Corral in Oshawa on that date. Interstate 65 will be supplying the entertainment.

Lace is the big news this week with the trio's debut single I Want A Man entering the chart at #24, the most added this week. The song was taken from their self-titled debut CD produced by David Foster and released on his 143 label which is distributed by Warner Music.

Tim McGraw squeezes into #1 with Something Like That, up from #2, after 13 weeks. The song is a penning by Rick Ferrell and Keith Follesé and is included on his Curb/EMI CD Everywhere, produced by McGraw, Byron Gallimore and James Stroud.

Clint Black has the biggest mover this week. When I Said No, a duet with wife Lisa Hartman Black, jumps up to #38 from #56. The track is included on his just released D'lectrified CD on RCA (RPM - New Releases), which he produced. The song is also a Black original. The CD artwork carries a warning "No electric instruments used in this recording."

Charlie Major has returned with Right Here, Right Now, the first single taken from 444, his debut release for the Dead Reckoning label. The single, a Major original, which gives it three-parts Cancon (MAL), made a major impact with country programmers and enters the chart at #79. Major produced the album with Dead Reckoning co-founder Harry Stinson.

John Landry looks good with his new release Long Gone & Forgotten, the follow-up to Bit By Bit, now descending the chart (#32) after 23 weeks. The new single was written by Landry and Rich Baker. No producer information is available. The single is contained on a three-song CD released on his own JL label which also includes Bit By Bit and a bonus Christmas track of Lonesome Christmas. Landry is scheduled for a Nashville North (Norval, Ontario) date on Oct. 29 and the following evening at Zuma's Rodeo in Ottawa.

Mike McDowell's tenacity is paying off for McRhea, a band from Thorold, Ontario which he founded with his brother Kevin. Their single, It's

Your Life, enters the chart at #89. The track was taken from their independently-produced album Smoking Can Kill You, which both of them produced. Kevin takes writing credit for the single. They are described as "an acoustic/vocal duo with a band filling in the holes." The brothers are currently recording their new album which they expect to release shortly and are already shopping four songs to major labels.

Kadz Michaels, music director at YL Country in Peace River, is looking for Christmas country music. Give him a call at 780-624-2535 or just send it to Bag 300, Peace River, Alberta T8S 1T5.

Cape Breton's Reatta make a move on the chart with Never Met A Rock, the first single taken from their self-titled album (RPM New Releases - Oct. 4/99) which was produced by Bill MacNeil. Reatta comprises the O'Brien family; Darcy on lead vocals and guitar, Erin, who is doing the lead vocals on the charted single, their father Pius on rhythm guitar and vocals, and uncle Blair on keys and harmony vocals. The single enters the chart at #91.

CJET AM 630 celebrated its 44th anniversary on Oct. 22 with a VIP party and reception hosted by General Manager Doug Anderson at the station's studios in Smiths Falls, Ontario. Howard Hayes & The Country Drifters provided the entertainment.

Amanda Stott, the 17-year old new country signing to Warner Music, has signed a management agreement with Winnipeg's Paquin Entertainment. Her father Cyril will be co-managing the youngster from Brandon.

Deanna Carter made such an impact on Canadian country programmers, EMI has released the Ruby Brown track as the next single from her Capitol Nashville album Everything's Gonna Be Alright. This is a Canada only release and is included on EMI CDP Volume 28.

Warner Music's Al Fletcher has put together another powerful country compilation in the New Country series. This one titled New Country 6, contains 17 tracks from country artists who have scored at retail with their individual albums and at radio with these now familiar tracks. The compilation contains Faith Hill's Let Me Let Go, The Wilkinsons' 26 Cents, Paul Brandt's Yeah, Busy Man by Billy Ray Cyrus, Jamie Warren's She'll Find Someone To Love, You Better Be Sure by Shirley Myers, Chris Cummings' Minute And A Half, Beverley Mahood's The Way A Woman Feels, Bryan White's One Small Miracle, Wish You Were Here by Mark Wills, Dwight Yoakam's Things Change, George Fox's How Do I Get There From Her, John Michael Montgomery's Hold On To Me, Chad Brock's Ordinary Life, Clay Walker's You're Beginning To Get To Me, Lila McCann's With You and Mark Chesnutt's I Don't Want To Miss A Thing. The compilation is now at retail. A major media campaign for the new release is now airing on more than 67 television and radio stations from coast to coast.

Jamie Hamilton has a new single, Workin' Man, the follow-up to It's Our Time, that enjoyed a run up the chart this past spring and summer. A video has also been forwarded to CMT. Both tracks are included on his self-titled debut album released on the Ocean label. Like his first single, the new one is a Hamilton original. Produced by Larry Thompson, the album was recorded at Ocean Records in Windsor, Ontario.

The Pointer Brothers, a band from Dawson City, have released the Klondike city's first new CD and first new sound recording in over a decade. Titled The Pink Album (Hits from the Pit), the album showcases 11 original songs by the house band for the pink Westminster Hotel's notorious Pit. Their music is described as country-crossover, blending pop, folk, rock and cajun. The band is made up of guitarist and lead vocalist Gil Benoit, bassist Gord "The Walrus" Policheck, drummer and vocalist Richard Halliday and Inuit fiddler Willie Gordon. Members of the extended family who sat in on the session are Nathan Tinkham on acoustic guitar, Bob Hamilton on mandolin, banjo and vocals, George McConkey on mouth harp, keyboardists Annie Avery and Barnacle Bob with Teresa Doyle and Kevin Barr supplying background vocals. The album is available from The Pit Productions, Bag 4070, Dawson City, Y0B 1G0 or call Ellie O'Day 604-731-3339 (ellie@oday.org). Watch for a review.

Michelle Wright's new album The Greatest Hits Collection, will be in stores on Oct. 26. Wright's manager Brian Ferriman, who heads up the Nashville-based Savannah Music, reveals the album contains eleven of the songs that shaped Wright's career since she signed with Arista Nashville in 1989. Almost all reached #1 or Top 10 in Canada. New Kind Of Love, her first US hit, and All You Really Wanna Do are included from her self-titled Arista debut (1990). Four tracks were taken from Now & Then, her second Arista release (1992): Take It Like A Man (her breakthrough American hit), He Would Be Sixteen, Guitar Talk and the title track. Her third album for Arista, The Reasons why (1994) was tapped for her chart-topping One Good Man and Safe In The Arms Of Love, that hit that became an unofficial anthem for the 1997 Special Olympics World Winter Games when she acted as the Games' Celebrity Spokesperson. Wright's 1996 release, For Me It's You, supplied her #1 single, Nobody's Girl, What Love Looks Like (her first hit as a songwriter), and The Answer Is Yes, the theme song for her 1997 Chevy Thunder Canadian tour. The album also contains five songs never available on a Wright record: including two new songs she co-wrote; When I Found You (her current single) which bullets up to #13 this week on the RPM Country 100, and I Surrender; a live version of People Get Ready recorded at the 1997 CCMA Awards Show which features a gospel choir led by Jackie Richardson; Your Love, her award-winning duet with Jim Brickman; and Walking After Midnight, a duet with the late Patsy Cline from the recent US release Patsy Cline Duets (Volume 1), produced by Michael Blakey. The song was created by weaving Wright's voice into the classic Cline recording.

Desert Reign, four singer/songwriters from Kitchener, Ontario, make a bid for radio play with the release of their CD single, Forever In Your Eyes. The band is made up of Steve Chez (guitars, background vocals), Chuck Pauly (acoustic guitars), Bruce Harder (piano, organ) and John Doyle (bass), all of whom wrote the new single. The band-produced track, recorded at Kitchener's Pinelake Studios, also features the vocals of John Miller and Gord Stevenson on drums. Call London-based StarBiz for more information 519-633-8415.

Danny Hooper who will be playing a major role in Canadian Country Music Week next year in Edmonton, has a new album now at retail. The Stockyard Collection, released on the Royalty label, contains 13 traditional country hits that have become favourites on his country classics road show. The tour is playing to houses across western Canada.

Montgomery Steele continues to gain important recognition not only at radio but with the printed media as well. Mark Nielsen, of the Daily News Staff of the Peace River Block News in Dawson Creek, filed a glowing report of Steele's energies and success in promoting his records around the world. The Penticton Herald printed the story with the heading "Country Singer Reaches Milestone." Steele maintains chart action with his release of Debbie Darling (#33) after 25 weeks.
